Former U.S. Vessel Sinks In Dardanelles

Captain Is Among Four Crewmen Who Survive Collision

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 4 (AP)—The Turkish submarine Dumlupinar, formerly the U. S. S. Bumper, was rammed and sunk in the narrows of the Dardanelles today and all but four of her 96 officers and crewmen were presumed lost. It was one of the worst submarine disasters of peacetime history.

After six hours of rescue operations, contact was lost with 22 men trapped in the stern who had been calling urgely for help over the emergency telephone line they floated to the surface on a buoy.

The press bureau of the Turkish armed forces said at 7 p.m. it was assumed all had been lost except four men, including the captain, who were thrown off the conning tower when the submarine collided in the darkness and mist with the 4,000-ton Swedish freighter Naboland.

A fifth man thrown into the water was picked up, but he died of his injuries.

The loss of the British submarine Thetis in 1939, with 99 crewmen, alone exceeded the disaster to the Dumlupinar.

The U. S. destroyer Hawkins, rushed to the scene under forced draft with doctors and divers aboard, and other rescue craft continued their arduous job tonight in darkness and rain even though contact had been lost. Among these on the Hawkins was Rear Adm. Francis M. Hughes, chief of the Navy group attached to the U. S. military mission in Turkey.

The Dumlupinar, a 1,526 - ton craft built by the United States in 1944 and turned over to the Turks in 1950 under the mutual aid program, was a modern ship with a snorkel underwater breathing device.

All her crew had been trained in the United States before they brought her to Turkey.

The submarine was lying under 38 fathoms (228 feet) of swift current tonight three miles north of

Other Submarine Disasters Recalled

(By The United Press)

The toll of lives in submarine disasters of the past has been heavy. Here is a chronology and death toll of some major undersea craft disasters:

British submarine Affray sunk in the English Channel April 16, 1951 with the loss of 75 lives.

British submarine Truculent went down after a collision Jan. 12, 1950 with the loss of 65 lives.

U. S. submarine O-9 failed to come up from a test dive off Maine June 16, 1941 with the loss of 33 lives.

Parliament Is Dissolved; Italy Calls Election

Government Moves For Clear Victory Over Communists

ROME, April 4 (AP)—President Luigi Finaudi dissolved the new Italian republic's first Parliament today and called for a national election June 7.

Senators still had a year to serve, but the Cabinet ended their terms of office along with those of the representatives (deputies) in a move intended to give the government a clear-cut election victory and clip the wings of Communists.

A turbulent election campaign is a foregone conclusion. At its end, newly elected Parliament members will meet June 25 to face their first major task: action of the European army plan.

Premier Alcide de Gasprei had pledged the unified army project would be ratified before the election, but his government ran into fierce opposition from Communists and fellow traveling Socialists and couldn't swing it.

The outgoing Parliament was elected in April, 1948—the Chamber of Deputies for five years and the Senate for six years. Italy became a republic in June, 1946, after a referendum of the people ended the reign of the House of Savoy.

The action cutting short the terms of the senators came a week after Communists and pro-Red Socialists, swinging fists and smashing desks, vainly sought to block passage of a government-sponsored election reform law.

This law gives any party or coalition of parties receiving more than 50 per cent of the vote in the national elections 65 per cent of the seats in the Chamber of Deputies. The Communists charged the law was designed to rig the election against them and insure a sweeping victory for government parties.

The government has declared the law is necessary to assure a firm and stable government. De Gasperi said today it will "afford safety for the liberty of the country and its democratic regime."

After the action dissolving both houses of Parliament had been announced, De Gasperi referred to opponents of his Christian Democratic party and said:

"Perhaps they thought we lacked courage. I hope they know better now."

Rites For Exiled Romanian King Slated Tuesday

LISBON, Portugal, April 4 —UP—Funeral services will be held Tuesday for Romania's ex-King Carol, who died of a heart attack early Saturday at his villa while talking to the woman for whom he gave up his throne, it was announced.

The rites will be held at 11 a.m. in Lisbon's royal pantheon and Church of St. Vincent's, where many Portuguese kings lie buried and where Carol's remains eventually may be interred.

The ex-king's 31-year-old son Michael, who twice replaced him on the Romanian throne only to lose it to the Communists in 1947, was on his way here from Lausanne, Switzerland, to attend the funeral.

New Red Power Struggle Is Seen

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Fresh evidence of a developing power struggle in the Kremlin was seen by U. S. officials today in the sensational "depurging" of a group of top flight Russian doctors who, prior to Joseph Stalin's death, had been accused of fantastic crimes of murder and treason.

Whether this struggle involves, at this stage, Premier Georgi Malenkov and Internal Affairs Minister Lavrenti P. Beria no one here knows. But the relationship between those two men is regarded as the key one in the present Soviet regime and speculation about the contest for control tends to focus upon it.

State Department experts were intrigued and puzzled by the release of the doctors. They said the one thing which seems to make sense about it is that somehow it is a public outcropping of a secret contest for power among the men who took over and reorganized the government after Stalin died. They believe these men are ruling now through a kind of committee system which probably includes as dominant figures not only Malenkov but also Beria and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. Nikolai Bulganin may also be an important member of this central group.

There was little tendency among authorities to regard the release of the doctors as an action designed primarily to win approval and good will in the United States and other non-Communist countries. The matter is so clearly an internal one and seems to involve the integrity of certain elements of the police system to such a degree that it could hardly be handled primarily for foreign propaganda purposes.

From the point of view of American official experts on Russia the affair has been a puzzler from the beginning to end. The original announcement last January of the arrest of nine doctors said they were accused of murdering Soviet leaders who had died, respectively, four and seven years earlier.

Experts here immediately began looking for motives beyond those stated for the arrest. They did not think then about the arrest—anymore than they think now about the release—that the Soviet authorities were motivated by a passionate devotion to justice. Originally they believed that the purging of the doctors, with attended criticism of the police for not having caught them sooner, would lead to

Ex-N. Y. Solon Is Endorsed As New GOP Head

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) today endorsed former Rep. Leonard W. Hall of New York as signs mounted that Hall's candidacy for Republican national chairman has President Eisenhower's clearance.

Hall indicated after a White House conference this morning he would take the chairmanship vacated by the resignation of Wesley Roberts if it is offered to him at a meeting of the national committee here next Friday.

Commenting on this, Ferguson said in an interview that Hall, former head of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, is especially well equipped to take over the national party leadership.

"I think he could do a great job, particularly in working with members of Congress, in getting the party ready for the congressional elections in 1954," Ferguson said.

East Tex. Boat Mishap Is Fatal To Four Persons

TYLER, Tex., April 4 (AP) — A pleasure boat ride for a group of small children ended in tragedy today when four persons drowned after being spilled from a speeding motorboat.

Four other children in the boat were rescued after it capsized on Loves Lake, about 50 miles west of here.

Drowned were John Ryan Allen, 34, of Dallas, who was operating the boat; his daughter, Pamela, 4½; a niece, Alice Graham, 6, of Colfax, and Louis Hallman, 4, of Colfax.

A 16-year-old boy in the boat, Ronald Audrey, saved two small girls by grabbing them and holding on to the overturned boat until help arrived. They were his sister Arnita Audrey, 11, and Martha Myrtle Graham, 7.

Red Amnesty Acts Spread To Romania

Many Prisoners Freed, Pledge To Ease Prosecutions

LONDON, April 4 (AP)—The Soviet satellite regime in Romania announced tonight it is opening prison gates for many convicts like the Malenkov government in Moscow did a week ago. It said prosecutions also would be eased in Romania.

The announcement broadcast by Bucharest radio said prisoners serving sentences of not more than two years would be freed.

Sentences of all other prisoners were reduced and prosecution will be dropped in Romania for many persons now awaiting trial, it said.

The Bucharest announcement was followed with immediate and keen interest in London and other diplomatic capitals.

Many diplomats here took the view that Eastern Communist chiefs want to ease internal tensions and at the same time throw sops to the West in order to give the Reds time to consolidate their powers.

Most available observers said they were certain that Romania's action was dictated by the Kremlin.

Romania is the first Soviet satellite to declare an amnesty since the Malenkov regime made its surprise announcement freeing many short-term prisoners on March 28. The other European Iron Curtain satellites are Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Bulgaria, Albania and occupied East Germany.

Observers here immediately speculated how the new Romania edict might affect the fortunes of Ana Pauker, a former Kremlin favorite who was Romanian foreign minister.

There has been a welter of rumors as to the whereabouts of the woman Communist leader since she was fired last spring from all her posts in the Romanian government and Communist party for alleged deviation.

One report said she was about to be brought to trial. Another said she was recovering from a nervous breakdown in Russia.

The Russian amnesty a week ago ordered the freeing of Soviet prisoners serving five year terms or less providing their crimes represented "no great danger to the state." At least one foreigner, a Briton, also has been freed under the Soviet amnesty.

FBI Arrests 4 More Persons In Art Thefts

CHICAGO, April 4 (AP)—The FBI today seized four more men in swift moves to solve the jigsaw puzzle theft of nine religious paintings from a Kentucky church. Thus far, seven men are in custody.

Three of the men were taken into custody in the span of 40 minutes in Chicago raids today and one man was seized in Farrell, Pa.

The FBI said investigation is continuing "and there is a good possibility other arrests will be made tonight," but indicated they would not be in Chicago.

The paintings—three of them attributed to old masters — were stolen from their frames Nov. 12 in St. Joseph's Cathedral at Bardstown, Ky., former seat of the Roman Catholic see. They had been presented to the church by King Louis Phillipe of France.

All nine paintings were recovered yesterday with the first arrests in the case. Agents seized two men in the early evening and later a third man was arrested.

Kline Weatherford, special agent in charge of the FBI's Chicago office, said the men nabbed today are:

William Joseph Russo, 30, unemployed and currently on bond pending outcome of appeal of a federal conviction for counterfeiting, seized at his home in Chicago.

William Leonard Skally, 42, ex-convict, also unemployed and free on bond for counterfeiting, also taken in his Chicago home.

New Terrorism By Mau Mau In Kenya Forecast

NAIROBI, Kenya, April 4 —UP—Kenya Police Commissioner Michael O'Rore issued urgent warnings Saturday that Mau Mau terrorists may strike anew in the next 10 days.

There had been reports the Mau Mau planned a raid on Nairobi itself during the Easter weekend, but a roundup of 700 natives in the notorious Racecourse Road District near the city was believed to have eased the threat.

O'Rorke said the police had tried to clean up Nairobi but that there were still many idle gangs among its African population and he warned loyal Kikuyu tribesmen and Europeans to be on their toes.

It was generally believed here the crisis may be reached Tuesday when the result of the trial of Mau Mau leaders at Kapenguria is scheduled to be announced.

There was feverish gaiety in the bars and nightclubs in Nairobi—an attitude of eat, drink and be merry that contrasts sharply with the fear haunting the fortress-like homes of the up country settlers.

Champagne buckets glitter in the softly-lit "Equator Club" and a shapely blonde at the bar sweeps back her hair with jewelled fingers.

Yet only a few miles away, where the Kikuyu reserve begins, women walk with revolvers strapped to their waists. For weeks the outlying settlers have practiced using guns, and shoe shops here display pistol holsters alongside suede shoes and beach sandals.

Peace Hopes Top Prayers On Easter

By The Associated Press

Christians around the world celebrated the anniversary of Christ's resurrection today in an Easter full of hope that fast-moving events in the East and West may bring world peace.

Allied negotiators in Korea prepared to meet with the Communists to work out an exchange of sick and wounded prisoners as the first step in treating with the latest Red overtures for an armistice.

The Western world moved warily on surprise conciliation moves in the Kremlin. Christians interspersed their hallelujahs to Christ with prayers for fulfillment of his mission for peace on earth.

On Korean battlefronts and around the world, sunrise services Eighth Army soldiers celebrated in bunkers, valleys, and on hilltops.

In an Easter message to his troops in Korea, Gen. Mark Clark said:

"Our hearts hold new hope that we may be near an honorable end of this grim but imperative task."

In the United States, this year more than ever before, sunrise services were popular. From East to West Coasts, millions of Americans arranged to go to the hilltops and plateaus for song, prayer and pageant in the open.

Climaxing the Roman Catholic celebration of Christ's victory over death, Pope Pius XII was to appear on the central loggia of St. Peter's Basilica in Rome for an address that will be broadcast throughout the world in 25 languages. He will give his blessing "Urbi et Orbi"—to the city and the world.

Easter Gets Top Priority Here Today

Twin Citizens numbering in the thousands were scheduled to make an early morning pilgrimage to Memorial Park cemetery at 5:45 a.m. today for the sixth annual Easter Sunrise service sponsored by the Christian Youth Association.

The Easter Story will ring through the pine trees of the cemetery with the clear voice of a young girl reading its statue from the New Testament. Mary Virginia Par..er was slated to give the sacred word contained in the Bible concerning the arising of Jesus Christ from his tomb.

In the early morning dawn a large procession of young people marks the beginning of the service with the rendition of "Fairest Lord Jesus" followed by an invocation prayer delivered by Jim Cullipher.

Rev. Hugh Bradshaw was to deliver the Easter message at the early hour as part of the occasion to worship and offer thanksgiving to the Son of God who arose from the grave to "save all who believe on Him."

Musical selections were offered by Louisiana Training Institute choir. Songs included "Christ The Lord Is Risen Today," and Carroll High School Choir, "The Second Word" and "The Fifth Word" from "The Seven Last Words."

In order to protect persons traveling on public highways during Easter, Captain Roy Byrd of the Louisiana state police announced before the holiday that in addition to the regular state police patrol cars, plain automobiles will be on the highways and airplanes with two-way radios will be used.

All off-days for state troopers have been cancelled for the holiday period while Byrd warned motorists that his organization would enforce traffic laws to the full force.

No major accidents have been reported so far in this area during the three-day holiday.

Strike By CIO Electrical Union May Be Staged

CINCINNATI, April 4 (AP)—A high-ranking CIO official said today that a strike of 65,000 CIO electrical workers in 23 General Electric plants throughout the nation may come at "any minute."

Al Hartnett of Washington, secretary-treasurer of the CIO International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, first commented briefly on the report that 10,000 members of his union struck yesterday at the G. E. electronics plant at Syracuse, N. Y.

He said he read of the walkout while en route to Cincinnati, then declared:

"I can't say I was awfully disappointed. I know very little about it, but I guess the workers in Syracuse were getting an early start.

"I know this: The rest of them can be struck at any minute."

Ben-Gurion Hails Doctors' Release

TIBERIAS, Israel, April 4 (AP)—Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, vacationing at this holiday resort, expressed satisfaction today over the news from Moscow that the Russian doctors had been released. He also voiced hope that the Soviet Union now would allow immigration of Russian Jews to Israel.

Eisenhowers To Revive White House Event

Huge Easter Party Set

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The White House is bracing itself for the world's biggest Easter party for children Monday.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower, despite anguished groans from White House gardeners, are reviving the traditional frolic known as "egg-rolling" on the south lawn for children up to 12 years of age.

The last dyed-egg "battle"—for that is what it sometimes becomes—was held 12 years ago on April 14, 1941, when the Franklin D. Roosevelts were in the executive mansion. Then World War II halted the festivity, about which there are many legends.

Attendance at the Roosevelt's last egg-rolling set a record of 53,268 children and accompanying grownups—and at least that many are expected this year.

Monday's party will last nine hours. The high iron gates will open at 9 a.m., but before then throngs of children in their Easter finery, carrying baskets of gaily colored eggs and hugging bunnies, will be waiting.

And when they get in, judging from past performance, they'll do just about everything but roll eggs!

They'll play games, eat lunch, fall down and get patched up by doctors and nurses in a big first-aid tent. To discourage flower-pickers and tree-climbing, snow fences have been placed around the shrubbery.

Although frowned upon, some modern-age "egg picking" can be expected.

One version of that Easter pastime—which some authorities say dates back to pre-Civil War days—follows in general the pattern of a small boy with a snowball who has sighted a tall silk hat.

And some of the enterprising youngsters will make money.

Adults can only get into the grounds if they have kiddies with them—and in the past, White House guards didn't ask questions unless the same child went in and out with too many different "mothers."

A girl newspaper reporter back in 1929 wrote of seeing large groups of children industriously "selling themselves." With a quarter, she said, she "became a mother much as one puts a coin in a gas meter."

GIs Ask Discharge Under Musty Rule

Old Law Is Dud

FORT SILL, Okla., April 4 —UP—Two Fort Sill soldiers admitted with grins Saturday that they barely missed buying their way out of the Army under terms of a musty old 1890 law.

Cpl. George C. Noonan Jr., Santa Barbara, Calif., and Pfc. Hugh Lucas, Dallas, Tex., said they sought discharges under the antiquated law which permitted a man to leave the Army if he could pay the price of his uniform.

The law was suspended by President Roosevelt in 1940 until April 1, 1953. When Noonan and Lucas could find nothing in the newspapers about the suspension being continued, they put in applications for discharge.

Noonan said his commanding officer, somewhat baffled, forwarded the request. Word came back that Congress acted on March 31 to extend suspension of the law.

Lucas said "it was just an outside chance and we figured it was worth a try." Noonan, 26, a Marine Corps. veteran of World War II, said he believes the effort was worthwhile just to clear up matters.

He said it would probably have cost about $100 to buy out of the Army if the law were in effect.

Noonan was a senior at the University of California when he was called back by the Reserves and said he believed he would have been more valuable to the Army if it had allowed him to finish his education.

FBI Arrests 4 More Persons In Art Thefts

CHICAGO, April 4 (AP)—The FBI today seized four more men in swift moves to solve the jigsaw puzzle theft of nine religious paintings from a Kentucky church. Thus far, seven men are in custody.

Three of the men were taken into custody in the span of 40 minutes in Chicago raids today and one man was seized in Farrell, Pa.

The FBI said investigation is continuing "and there is a good possibility other arrests will be made tonight," but indicated they would not be in Chicago.

The paintings—three of them attributed to old masters — were stolen from their frames Nov. 12 in St. Joseph's Cathedral at Bardstown, Ky., former seat of the Roman Catholic see. They had been presented to the church by King Louis Phillipe of France.

All nine paintings were recovered yesterday with the first arrests in the case. Agents seized two men in the early evening and later a third man was arrested.

Kline Weatherford, special agent in charge of the FBI's Chicago office, said the men nabbed today are:

William Joseph Russo, 30, unemployed and currently on bond pending outcome of appeal of a federal conviction for counterfeiting, seized at his home in Chicago.

William Leonard Skally, 42, ex-convict, also unemployed and free on bond for counterfeiting, also taken in his Chicago home.

New Terrorism By Mau Mau In Kenya Forecast

NAIROBI, Kenya, April 4 —UP—Kenya Police Commissioner Michael O'Rore issued urgent warnings Saturday that Mau Mau terrorists may strike anew in the next 10 days.

There had been reports the Mau Mau planned a raid on Nairobi itself during the Easter weekend, but a roundup of 700 natives in the notorious Racecourse Road District near the city was believed to have eased the threat.

O'Rorke said the police had tried to clean up Nairobi but that there were still many idle gangs among its African population and he warned loyal Kikuyu tribesmen and Europeans to be on their toes.

It was generally believed here the crisis may be reached Tuesday when the result of the trial of Mau Mau leaders at Kapenguria is scheduled to be announced.

There was feverish gaiety in the bars and nightclubs in Nairobi—an attitude of eat, drink and be merry that contrasts sharply with the fear haunting the fortress-like homes of the up country settlers.

Champagne buckets glitter in the softly-lit "Equator Club" and a shapely blonde at the bar sweeps back her hair with jewelled fingers.

Yet only a few miles away, where the Kikuyu reserve begins, women walk with revolvers strapped to their waists. For weeks the outlying settlers have practiced using guns, and shoe shops here display pistol holsters alongside suede shoes and beach sandals.

Asks Air Parleys Start On Tuesday

BERLIN, April 4 (AP)—Soviet authorities proposed starting four-power talks on air safety over Germany next Tuesday at Soviet headquarters in Karlshorst, American sources disclosed tonight.

The proposal was contained in a note forwarded by the Soviet Control Commission to American authorities late today.

Peace Hopes Top Prayers On Easter

By The Associated Press

Christians around the world celebrated the anniversary of Christ's resurrection today in an Easter full of hope that fast-moving events in the East and West may bring world peace.

Allied negotiators in Korea prepared to meet with the Communists to work out an exchange of sick and wounded prisoners as the first step in treating with the latest Red overtures for an armistice.

The Western world moved warily on surprise conciliation moves in the Kremlin. Christians interspersed their hallelujahs to Christ with prayers for fulfillment of his mission for peace on earth.

On Korean battlefronts and around the world, sunrise services Eighth Army soldiers celebrated in bunkers, valleys, and on hilltops.

In an Easter message to his troops in Korea, Gen. Mark Clark said:

"Our hearts hold new hope that we may be near an honorable end of this grim but imperative task."

In the United States, this year more than ever before, sunrise services were popular. From East to West Coasts, millions of Americans arranged to go to the hilltops and plateaus for song, prayer and pageant in the open.

Climaxing the Roman Catholic celebration of Christ's victory over death, Pope Pius XII was to appear on the central loggia of St. Peter's Basilica in Rome for an address that will be broadcast throughout the world in 25 languages. He will give his blessing "Urbi et Orbi"—to the city and the world.

Strike By CIO Electrical Union May Be Staged

CINCINNATI, April 4 (AP)—A high-ranking CIO official said today that a strike of 65,000 CIO electrical workers in 23 General Electric plants throughout the nation may come at "any minute."

Al Hartnett of Washington, secretary-treasurer of the CIO International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, first commented briefly on the report that 10,000 members of his union struck yesterday at the G. E. electronics plant at Syracuse, N. Y.

He said he read of the walkout while en route to Cincinnati, then declared:

"I can't say I was awfully disappointed. I know very little about it, but I guess the workers in Syracuse were getting an early start.

Easter Gets Top Priority Here Today

Twin Citizens numbering in the thousands were scheduled to make an early morning pilgrimage to Memorial Park cemetery at 5:45 a.m. today for the sixth annual Easter Sunrise service sponsored by the Christian Youth Association.

The Easter Story will ring through the pine trees of the cemetery with the clear voice of a young girl reading its statue from the New Testament. Mary Virginia Parker was slated to give the sacred word contained in the Bible concerning the arising of Jesus Christ from his tomb.

In the early morning dawn a large procession of young people marks the beginning of the service with the rendition of "Fairest Lord Jesus" followed by an invocation prayer delivered by Jim Cullipher.

Rev. Hugh Bradshaw was to deliver the Easter message at the early hour as part of the occasion to worship and offer thanksgiving to the Son of God who arose from the grave to "save all who believe on Him."

Musical selections were offered by Louisiana Training Institute choir. Songs included "Christ The Lord Is Risen Today," and Carroll High School Choir, "The Second Word" and "The Fifth Word" from "The Seven Last Words."

In order to protect persons traveling on public highways during Easter, Captain Roy Byrd of the Louisiana state police announced before the holiday that in addition to the regular state police patrol cars, plain automobiles will be on the highways and airplanes with two-way radios will be used.

All off-days for state troopers have been cancelled for the holiday period while Byrd warned motorists that his organization would enforce traffic laws to the full force.

No major accidents have been reported so far in this area during the three-day holiday.

Ben-Gurion Hails Doctors' Release

TIBERIAS, Israel, April 4 (AP)—Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, vacationing at this holiday resort, expressed satisfaction today over the news from Moscow that the Russian doctors had been released. He also voiced hope that the Soviet Union now would allow immigration of Russian Jews to Israel.

Former U.S. Vessel Sinks In Dardanelles

Captain Is Among Four Crewmen Who Survive Collision

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 4 (AP)—The Turkish submarine Dumlupinar, formerly the U. S. S. Bumper, was rammed and sunk in the narrows of the Dardanelles today and all but four of her 96 officers and crewmen were presumed lost. It was one of the worst submarine disasters of peacetime history.

After six hours of rescue operations, contact was lost with 22 men trapped in the stern who had been calling urgely for help over the emergency telephone line they floated to the surface on a buoy.

The press bureau of the Turkish armed forces said at 7 p.m. it was assumed all had been lost except four men, including the captain, who were thrown off the conning tower when the submarine collided in the darkness and mist with the 4,000-ton Swedish freighter Naboland.

A fifth man thrown into the water was picked up, but he died of his injuries.

The loss of the British submarine Thetis in 1939, with 99 crewmen, alone exceeded the disaster to the Dumlupinar.

The U. S. destroyer Hawkins, rushed to the scene under forced draft with doctors and divers aboard, and other rescue craft continued their arduous job tonight in darkness and rain even though contact had been lost. Among these on the Hawkins was Rear Adm. Francis M. Hughes, chief of the Navy group attached to the U. S. military mission in Turkey.

The Dumlupinar, a 1,526-ton craft built by the United States in 1944 and turned over to the Turks in 1950 under the mutual aid program, was a modern ship with a snorkel underwater breathing device.

All her crew had been trained in the United States before they brought her to Turkey.

The submarine was lying under 38 fathoms (228 feet) of swift current tonight three miles north of

Other Submarine Disasters Recalled

(By The United Press)

The toll of lives in submarine disasters of the past has been heavy. Here is a chronology and death toll of some major undersea craft disasters:

British submarine Affray sunk in the English Channel April 16, 1951 with the loss of 75 lives.

British submarine Truculent went down after a collision Jan. 12, 1950 with the loss of 65 lives.

U. S. submarine O-9 failed to come up from a test dive off Maine June 16, 1941 with the loss of 33 lives.

Eisenhowers To Revive White House Event

Huge Easter Party Set

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The White House is bracing itself for the world's biggest Easter party for children Monday.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower, despite anguished groans from White House gardeners, are reviving the traditional frolic known as "egg-rolling" on the south lawn for children up to 12 years of age.

The last dyed-egg "battle"—for that is what it sometimes becomes—was held 12 years ago on April 14, 1941, when the Franklin D. Roosevelts were in the executive mansion. Then World War II halted the festivity, about which there are many legends.

Attendance at the Roosevelt's last egg-rolling set a record of 53,258 children and accompanying grownups—and at least that many are expected this year.

Monday's party will last nine hours. The high iron gates will open at 9 a.m., but before then throngs of children in their Easter finery, carrying baskets of gaily colored eggs and hugging bunnies, will be waiting.

And when they get in, judging from past performance, they'll do just about everything but roll eggs!

They'll play games, eat lunch, fall down and get patched up by doctors and nurses in a big first-aid tent. To discourage flower-pickers and tree-climbing, snow fences have been placed around the shrubbery.

Although frowned upon, some modern-age "egg picking" can be expected.

One version of that Easter pastime—which some authorities say dates back to pre-Civil War days—follows in general the pattern of a small boy with a snowball who has sighted a tall silk hat.

And some of the enterprising youngsters will make money.

Adults can only get into the grounds if they have kiddies with them—and in the past, White House guards didn't ask questions unless the same child went in and out with too many different "mothers."

A girl newspaper reporter back in 1929 wrote of seeing large groups of children industriously "selling themselves." With a quarter, she said, she "became a mother much as one puts a coin in a gas meter."

GIs Ask Discharge Under Musty Rule

Old Law Is Dud

FORT SILL, Okla., April 4 —UP—Two Fort Sill soldiers admitted with grins Saturday that they barely missed buying their way out of the Army under terms of a musty old 1890 law.

Cpl. George C. Noonan Jr., Santa Barbara, Calif., and Pfc. Hugh Lucas, Dallas, Tex., said they sought discharges under the antiquated law which permitted a man to leave the Army if he could pay the price of his uniform.

The law was suspended by President Roosevelt in 1940 until April 1, 1953. When Noonan and Lucas could find nothing in the newspapers about the suspension being continued, they put in applications for discharge.

Noonan said his commanding officer, somewhat baffled, forwarded the request. Word came back that Congress acted on March 31 to extend suspension of the law.

Lucas said "it was just an outside chance and we figured it was worth a try." Noonan, 26, a Marine Corps. veteran of World War II, said he believes the effort was worthwhile just to clear up matters.

He said it would probably have cost about $100 to buy out of the Army if the law were in effect.

Noonan was a senior at the University of California when he was called back by the Reserves and said he believed he would have been more valuable to the Army if it had allowed him to finish his education.

Only Dog Left To Greet Vet, Family Killed

WAUKEGAN, Ill., April 4 (AP)—A sailor just home from Korean War service was reunited today with his wife and baby but also separated, by death.

It wasn't a reunion of the kind the couple had envisioned in their dreams.

They had planned to meet in California when he returned from overseas.

The wife, Bette Jane Steitz, 27, and her daughter, Lorene, 4-months, had headed for the West mobile in which they were riding collided with another car near Eureka, Mo.

Bette Jane and Lorene were killed.

The husband and father, Byron Steitz, 29, Navy hospital corpsman, was informed of the tragedy by Navy communications before his ship reached San Diego, Calif., Friday.

He boarded a plane and reached Waukegan before sunrise today. In the half light of a chill, gloomy day he went to the Narsh Funeral Home for a brief reunion with his wife and a child he never had seen in life.

Sailor Steitz spent the long hours before the funeral this afternoon at the home of relatives. They gave him what solace they could.

Steitz brought gifts for Bette Jane and Lorene. Thier nature was unknown to relatives. The packages were unopened.

A brother-in-law told a newsman:

"He's bearing up like the man-of-war he is."

The Steitzes had lived in a trailer camp near Waukegan. There was only one member of the tiny household to greet the sailor who came home from the seas today.

That was their dog, named Betty Dog, a fox terrier.

CRACKDOWN ON 'BAKSHFESH'

CAIRO (AP)— Premier Mohamed Naguib of Egypt has cracked down hard on "baksheesh." Bakesheesh means tip or bribe and for years under past governments baksheesh has been the key to almost everything in Egypt. Through a bak sheesh you could obtain a seat in a packed movie or an important government contract.

Ex-King Farouk, it was charged, had helped make the baksheesh a sort of national institution. He himself is accused of having collected several tips running into more than six figures. The government of Mohamed Naguib has put the anti-baksheesh war near the top of the list of its immediate business.

A new law provides fines and imprisonment for accepting bribes.

The cost of motor vehicle accidents in one year in the United States is estimated by the National Safety Council as nearly $3.5 billion.

Cows producing up to 45 pounds of milk a day get enough protein without supplements when they eat alfalfa hay, corn silage and corn or oats, a University of Illinois dairy specialist says.

Only Dog Left To Greet Vet, Family Killed

WAUKEGAN, Ill., April 4 (AP)—A sailor just home from Korean War service was reunited today with his wife and baby but also separated, by death.

It wasn't a reunion of the kind the couple had envisioned in their dreams.

They had planned to meet in California when he returned from overseas.

The wife, Bette Jane Steitz, 27, and her daughter, Lorene, 4-months, had headed for the West mobile in which they were riding collided with another car near Eureka, Mo.

Bette Jane and Lorene were killed.

The husband and father, Byron Steitz, 29, Navy hospital corpsman, was informed of the tragedy by Navy communications before his ship reached San Diego, Calif., Friday.

He boarded a plane and reached Waukegan before sunrise today. In the half light of a chill, gloomy day he went to the Narsh Funeral Home for a brief reunion with his wife and a child he never had seen in life.

Sailor Steitz spent the long hours before the funeral this afternoon at the home of relatives. They gave him what solace they could.

Steitz brought gifts for Bette Jane and Lorene. Thier nature was unknown to relatives. The packages were unopened.

A brother-in-law told a newsman:

"He's bearing up like the man-of-war he is."

The Steitzes had lived in a trailer camp near Waukegan. There was only one member of the tiny household to greet the sailor who came home from the seas today.

That was their dog, named Betty Dog, a fox terrier.

CRACKDOWN ON 'BAKSHFESH'

CAIRO (AP)— Premier Mohamed Naguib of Egypt has cracked down hard on "baksheesh." Bakesheesh means tip or bribe and for years under past governments baksheesh has been the key to almost everything in Egypt. Through a bak sheesh you could obtain a seat in a packed movie or an important government contract.

Ex-King Farouk, it was charged, had helped make the baksheesh a sort of national institution. He himself is accused of having collected several tips running into more than six figures. The government of Mohamed Naguib has put the anti-baksheesh war near the top of the list of its immediate business.

A new law provides fines and imprisonment for accepting bribes.

The cost of motor vehicle accidents in one year in the United States is estimated by the National Safety Council as nearly $3.5 billion.

Cows producing up to 45 pounds of milk a day get enough protein without supplements when they eat alfalfa hay, corn silage and corn or oats, a University of Illinois dairy specialist says.

An Easter Message

It has been said that on the greatness of American faith depends the future of the world. On this Easter Sunday, the year of the Christian calendar 1953, Americans stand closer together in the faith that only God in his mercy can bring his children of the earth through to a safe arrival in a world of right and justice where security from death and destruction is prevalent. The war tired people of this nation, and of the world, today celebrate the resurrection of the gentle Jesus who gave his life on a crude cross, forgiving his enemies and wishing an end to spite and terror in the world. He died to rise to a greater life of everlasting length and his life today serves as a guide for countless millions of people the world over who have learned through this life of miracles that the meek shall inherit the earth and it is better to love one's enemies than hate them.

In this world of today over which a cloud of terror hangs, where humans are at each other's throats nearly every minute of the hours which pass, it would be wise for people to consider the life of Jesus, His work and His beliefs. Some religions hold that Jesus is another disciple of God and that in fact, there are other prophets equally as great. However, no sect will deny the greatness of the man Jesus and the power of His life. On this day, many centuries after the miracle which was the death and resurrection of Christ, people have come to understand that He died for the evils of the earth. He tried to teach humans that man himself is not evil. God puts a perfect human on the earth spiritually speaking. Only what happens to that human, what he is taught and his environment results in his nature. Christ actually used His life, He died to save the human race.

On this day of the celebration of the resurrection, peoples the world over have come to learn that this thing which is termed "the cold war" is actually a gigantic struggle for the soul of man. The adversaries hold that man has no soul, that there is no such a factor as a soul. Obviously, they are wrong. The lesson learned by the life of Christ is proof that they are wrong. What good comes of continual hate? Can problems be solved by conferences? Can just and lasting settlements be affected by treaties written on paper which can be torn at a moment's notice? Let yourself refer to history for that answer. Fortunately, there is a force which can supercede treaties and conferences and the ways of diplomats, which are only human, and that is called faith.

More and more people the world over are turning to faith in God and a respect for the life of Christ which is an example that there is good and kindness and generosity in the world. More and more people are coming to believe that meekness and kindness is a far greater force than hate and destruction. A practical example is that of the work of missionaries among native tribes. These people fought and maimed because that is what they were taught. When they were shown that it was easier and far greater to help their enemies than to hurt them, these people learned a new and powerful faith. They learned to their amazement that it was a workable faith, one which produced results.

One must take time to consider the human of today. Are all people basically sinners as some would have people believe? It is believed not. Man cannot be said to actually be depraved, he could more aptly be described as being deprived. "What is he deprived of," you might ask. One answer could be faith in one's self and one's own ability. That lack of faith has bad results. It has been said of Pilate, the Roman governor of Palestine at the time of Christ's death, "Had there been but one to shout for his release, I would have said to the gentle Nazarene, 'Go thy way in peace.' So place not too much the blame on me, ye who at Eastertime come to kneel and pray, for He more than by my intercession was crucified by those who stayed away." That, in a measure of speaking is applicable to the humans of today. Reduced to common usage, it could be termed "letting the other fellow do the job." It stems from a lack of faith in one's self. There are those who are even today crucifying Christ and many of you still are letting someone else shout for his release. Many are not standing up for the faith they know is right.

Jesus said on the Mount of Olives concerning a woman who was brought before him as a sinner, "Neither do I condemn thee; go and sin no more." Can there be a better example of Jesus' infinite mercy? It teaches the lesson that one can judge people only by one's self. Do not condemn a wrongdoer unless you have never done wrong yourself. Do not condemn your enemies because of themselves, but because of the things they have been taught. Your job is to eventually teach your enemies in the ways of right. Killing them and laying waste to their lands after they are killed will do no good. Isn't it better to have live friends than dead enemies?

Into a world of hate on this day more perhaps than others, comes the life of gentle Jesus reminding people that He died to save the children of God, reminding everyone to reaffirm their faith in God who will, it is certain, eventually deliver His children out of the paths of danger. On Easter, this year, more than other years, it is well to remember an age old prayer written by a man who devoted his life to helping others and to God.

"Lord, make me an instrument of your peace. Where there is hatred, let me sow love; where there is injury, pardon; where there is doubt, faith; where there is despair, hope; where there is darkness, light; and where there is sadness, joy. O, Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console; to be understood as to understand; to be loved as to love; for it is in giving that we receive; it is in pardoning that we are pardoned; and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life.

Amen.

Inside Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

HOLLYWOOD, April 4 — Continuing my musing over the demise of the television program, "Hollywood Opening Night" which was costing about $25,000 a week and was being broadcast opposite "I Love Lucy" and which was dropped because it could not amass an audience sufficient to justify the great cost.

I have previously stated my opinion that no show could win a big audience, especially not in six months time, opposite "Lucy," which is today's No. 1 program in television. This seemed obvious from the start, and I often asked officials of the National Broadcasting Company why they didn't switch "Hollywood Opening Night" which was a very fine dramatic show, to another evening. I am convinced, as I was from the start, that with a better time slot, "HON" (as we lovingly referred to this program; we all liked it and liked working with it) could have accumulated a very large viewing audience.

I even suggested that NBC play smart (I thought it would be smart) and toss in a "freak" show opposite "Lucy." That word "freak" doesn't have the same connotation in show business that it has in other walks of life. In show business it means "different" or even "blatantly different." It describes a show or program that would attract a certain type of viewer despite any opposition. A quiz show is a freak show; folks who like quiz programs (and move over, I am one) will tune them in consistently, movie fans will likewise listen to Hollywood news programs no matter what else is on the air. I base my own success in this field, not on any exceptional personal talent, but on the fact that I know Hollywood, have always told the truth, and cater to an audience that wants news about the stars.

But NBC officials apparently didn't think I was smart, for they continued to sacrifice fine "Hollywood Opening Night" programs, week after week, and to gnash their teeth in anguish as $25,000 a week flew out the window, and "Lucy" continued to garner the audience.

Well, "Hollywood Opening Night is dead; long live "Lucy." And the National Broadcasting Company is out of pocket $600,000, more or less, because its head guys refused to accept a licking, but kept sticking out their stubborn chins for more blows. Prize fighters go punch drunk that way!

Hollywood is buzzing over the dates of Fernando Lamas with a beautiful young brunette. No one knows her, and Lamas has carefully avoided introductions. One thing sure, she is not Arlene Dahl. Has the mysterious lady supplanted Miss Dahl in Fernando's affections? I doubt it! Knowing his propinquity for restricting his romances to stars who can boost his career, I don't think he'll lose his heart to a young lady no one can identify.

I have been receiving letters from irate readers lambasting Zsa Zsa Gabor for the interview in which she accused American men of being stupid, childish, and immature when it comes to lovemaking. I quote from one letter: "If Miss Gabor doesn't care for the people in this country, why doesn't she go back to Hungary?" I think I can answer that question. Where else but in America could a would-be actress win fame through screwball publicity? Even so, unless Miss Gabor starts building herself up, instead of tearing other people down, she could conceivably find herself slipping out of the limelight.

Red Skelton, who has been battling with his television sponsors for the right to film his show, instead of doing it "live" - in TV parlance — he finally laid down the law. Said Skelton: "Either I get a rest from the gruelling grind of weekly "live' shows, or you find yourselves a new comedian." Good for Red! I'm surprised that his sponsors would still insist on a "live" show, after Skelton almost killed himself doing them. I, for one, am delighted that Red is well again, and I'm sure this feeling is shared by his millions of loyal fans.

I am thoroughly disgusted by the snide cracks being taken at Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and his wife, because of their close friendship with the British royal family. Certain Hollywood columnists are beside themselves with insinuations that the Fairbanks are becoming snobs and social climbers. Well, why shouldn't young Doug and his wife accept the friendship of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip? The queen and her husband are the sort of down - to - earth folks with whom anyone would enjoy associating. It doesn't take a crown to make a good fellow.

The Crown Jewels

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

I have chosen my title in the belief that Easter in the soul may be something different from, and something more than, Easter in the churches.

On Easter Sunday many churches that ordinarily have a single service will have two services to accommodate the crowds with all pews filled at each service.

Yet on the following Sunday in many of these same churches congregations at the usual service will have dwindled in many cases even below the normal attendance. I am not speaking from conjecture or from hearsay, but from what I have observed in long association with churches both in Canada and in the United States.

What, it might well be asked, lies back of this discrepancy? Is that abnormally large church attendance on Easter Sunday which is ostensibly a recognition of the Resurrection of Jesus and rejoicing in that supreme event, actually a matter of faith, or a matter of custom?

The name Easter has its origin in a pagan festival of Spring. Is the joy of Easter for many, little more than a pagan quickening to the Spring revival after the grimness of winter, with its symbolism in Spring bonnets and colorful apparel?

One does not wish to appear a cynic or pessimist; nor should one underestimate the number of people for whom the Easter celebration is a matter of deep sincerity.

Yet even for the sincerely religious there is a difference between the celebration of the Resurrection of Jesus as a far-off event in history, significant as that may be, and the celebration and recognition of the fact of an ever-present and living Christ.

If Easter were truly in the souls of the many for whom church-going on Easter Sunday is a formal matter, one cannot but reflect that their lives would be different in relation to the church, the Christ, and their fellowmen throughout the year.

Everything we celebrate in connection with the life, death, and Resurrection of Jesus is not to be limited to one day or season, but should be extended to every day and every season. I remember some years ago selecting for an ordinary service, one of the hymns more commonly sung at Christmastime. My organist, a very good and thoughtful organist, objected, "But it's not Christmas."

My reply was, "It is always Christmas." And that is true. Unless the fact of Christmas, the coming of the Christ, is in our hearts the year round, our celebration on December 25 has little reality in Christian faith.

This is true of the Resurrection. Its vital message is not only that Jesus rose from death but is also in the words and promise of Jesus: "Lo, I am with you always." (Matthew 29:20).

That promise, of course, was made to those whom He was sending out to spread the Gospel. If we were more concerned about the work of Christ and about living in His name, our Easter celebration would have the glory of communion with a living Lord. It would be Easter in the church, it would also have all the reality and richness of Easter in the soul.

Timmons In Washington

By Boscom N. Timmons

The most lonesome man in procession of European diplom now passing through Washing is due soon — Chancellor Kon Adenauer of West Germany, has had more to do with the tical reconstitution of his area Europe than any other individ

Unlike his predecessors from lied nations, Adenauer hasn't timated to anyone what he is c ing for. The State Department vited him, and he accepted. T was customary diplomatic co tesy. Now the shapers of foreign policy are wondering w to say to him.

They are sure one of his poses is to get some expres from this government on the ture of the Saar basin, that coal producing region which been under French control si World War 1 and which Germ now wants back, despite the that she lost World War 11 deci ely.

The discussions will not be he line news, because the Ameri public is generally indifferent to what goes on in central rope, so long as it does not les effective resistance to the C munist threat. That does not duce the importance of a decis in which the United States m again as arbiter in straighten out Europe's difficulties.

France now runs the Saar reg and its essential coal producti does not want to make any c cessions to Germany. Saarland are not bound to France by merous ties, it seems evident, France claims credit for all restoration of industrial prospe and employment which has ta place there.

Adenauer has to offer as G many's bid for at least a piece the Saar economy strong milit support— 12 German divisions the European Defense C munity and 12 more in rese against any expansion of C munist strength along the line the Iron Curtain. Furthermore W Germany now wants to forge ties with the United States. A nauer and the leaders who port him profess to be convin that both countries were in e after World War 1 in not deve ing closer economic ties before Nazi movement spread to forec any such possibility.

With her terrific recupera power, Germany today looks the strongest of six nations joi in the European Defense C munity. Her government is i position to emphasize French we nesses and blunders. The famil German arrogance is return and under any ordinary circ stances, the U.S. government c be expected to say to a Gern spokesman, "We've been thro this before. Now you take the pl to which the nations who fou to extinguish Hitler will ass you."

Evidently it is not going to quite that way. The German R is again the most highly ind rialized center in all Europe the Bonn government lately begun to press for a satisfact agreement on the Saar land, natural economic link for the Ru despite the even stronger tie tween the Saar district and sential French economic progra

The French position has just b explained to the State Dep ment by Premier Rene Mayer former Premier Georges Bid who view those 12 active and reserve German divisions with vious apprehension. Adena while emphasizing that West G many wants complete understa ing with France, may recall in conferences the German insiste that it was deprival of her sources by the Versailles tr which brought about the finan collapse of Germany in the '20s and the rise of Hitlerism.

To give the Saar basin bac Germany seems an impossibi But the 77 year old Adenauer, during the Hitler regime, by own description "was a good g ner" has played his cards And the U. S. state departmen this time, is ready to listen to proposed compromise which prevent further friction this of the Iron Curtain.

An Easter Message

It has been said that on the greatness of American faith depends the future of the world. On this Easter Sunday, the year of the Christian calendar 1953, Americans stand closer together in the faith that only God in his mercy can bring his children of the earth through to a safe arrival in a world of right and justice where security from death and destruction is prevalent. The war tired people of this nation, and of the world, today celebrate the resurrection of the gentle Jesus who gave his life on a crude cross, forgiving his enemies and wishing an end to spite and terror in the world. What good comes of continual hate? Can problems be solved by conferences? Can just and lasting settlements be affected by treaties written on paper which can be torn at a moment's notice? Let yourself refer to history for that answer. Fortunately, there is a force which can supercede treaties and conferences and the ways of diplomats, which are only human, and that is called faith.

More and more people the world over are turning to faith in God and a respect for the life of Christ which is an example that there is good and kindness and generosity in the world. More and more people are coming to believe that meekness and kindness is a far greater force than hate and destruction. A practical example is that of the work of missionaries among native tribes. These people fought and maimed because that is what they were taught. When they were shown that it was easier and far greater to help their enemies than to hurt them, these people learned a new and powerful faith. They learned to their amazement that it was a workable faith, one which produced results.

One must take time to consider the human of today. Are all people basically sinners as some would have people believe? It is believed not. Man cannot be said to actually be depraved, he could more aptly be described as being deprived. "What is he deprived of," you might ask. One answer could be faith in one's self and one's own ability. That lack of faith has bad results. It has been said of Pilate, the Roman governor of Palestine at the time of Christ's death, "Had there been but one to shout for his release, I would have said to the gentle Nazarene, 'Go thy way in peace.' So place not too much the blame on me, ye who at Eastertime come to kneel and pray, for He more than by my intercession was crucified by those who stayed away." That, in a measure of speaking is applicable to the humans of today. Reduced to common usage, it could be termed "letting the other fellow do the job." It stems from a lack of faith in one's self. There are those who are even today crucifying Christ and many of you still are letting someone else shout for his release. Many are not standing up for the faith they know is right.

Jesus said on the Mount of Olives concerning a woman who was brought before him as a sinner, "Neither do I condemn thee; go and sin no more." Can there be a better example of Jesus' infinite mercy? It teaches the lesson that one can judge people only by one's self. Do not condemn a wrongdoer unless you have never done wrong yourself. Do not condemn your enemies because of themselves, but because of the things they have been taught. Your job is to eventually teach your enemies in the ways of right. Killing them and laying waste to their lands after they are killed will do no good. Isn't it better to have live friends than dead enemies?

Into a world of hate on this day more perhaps than others, comes the life of gentle Jesus reminding people that He died to save the children of God, reminding everyone to reaffirm their faith in God who will, it is certain, eventually deliver His children out of the paths of danger. On Easter, this year, more than other years, it is well to remember an age old prayer written by a man who devoted his life to helping others and to God.

"Lord, make me an instrument of your peace. Where there is hatred, let me sow love; where there is injury, pardon; where there is doubt, faith; where there is despair, hope; where there is darkness, light; and where there is sadness, joy. O, Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console; to be understood as to understand; to be loved as to love; for it is in giving that we receive; it is in pardoning that we are pardoned; and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life.

Amen.

Hollywood has finally censored the Bible. The Good Book depicts Salome as a Sinful Temptress. In the film starring Rita Hayworth, she is practically an Innocent Maid . . . Some chaps just can't stand the pace: Marilyn Monroe's male sec'y had to quit . . . Bol Hilliard, who has written scads of hit songs in the past few years, has another titled: "Downhearted." (What an Imagination!) . . . The N. Y. Critics' Circle embraces three millionaires: Gibbs, Hawkins and Watts . . . Gloria Vanderbilt is principal backer of a new "poet's theater" headed by Tennessee Williams. He is enlisting 3,000 creative artists (from al lfields) to help . . . Ambassador to Italy Clare Boothe Luce has commissioned a youthful composer (Carlos Chavez) to write a symphony . . . Why Some Folks Sing the Blues: Wm. Eckstine gets $1,571.42 per night for his fortnight stand at the Bandbox starting this eve'g . . . A colyum reports that Margaret Whiting is divorcing Lou Busch and is dating piano recording star Joe Carr. He's the Same Guy.

If you invested $3,000 in "Oklahoma" (the 10-year hit), you would have $100,000 . . . What Price Oscars? Katina Paxinou, Mercedes McCambridge and Kim Hunter (gifted with Academy Awards for top supporting actresses in recent years) are no longer toiling in the movie mines . . . The author of the comedy hit, "Seven Year Itch" is finishing a play titled "Phffft." We coined that word at Texas Guinan's in the mid-20s, when a waiter opened a bottle of Whiet Rock at the very moment Frances Williams gave her feller his 2-second notice. Phffft, meaning That's the End! . . . Isn't Julia (of Darvas l Julia, the Big-Time dance duo at the Palace) secretly waxing records under another tag? Her thrushing is pashy . . . Dorothy Sarnoff, recently a feature of "King and I," opens at the Cotillion April 14th . . . Memo to HST: Both Ike and Mamie play the pianner by ear — but good . . . A dentists' news-letter (published by Ammident, Inc.) reports: "Hiccups may be stopped by a prolonged kiss."

Summer is Geraldine Page's lucky word. She attracted Times critic Atkinson's attention appearing in "Summer and Smoke" and scaled the heights in "Mid-Summer," the Vanderbilt Theater hit . . . Hollywood gave her a contract without the usual screen test .. Top Talent being so easy to recognize . . : "The Hit Parade" offers the most imaginative camera-wizardry. Its roller-coaster episode cleverly created a 3-dimensh effect . . . If you enjoy beer-barrel harmonizing, then spin Spike Jones' "Lulu Had a Baby" . . . Inside Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

HOLLYWOOD, April 4 — Continuing my musing over the demise of the television program, "Hollywood Opening Night" which was costing about $25,000 a week and was being broadcast opposite "I Love Lucy" and which was dropped because it could not amass an audience sufficient to justify the great cost.

I have previously stated my opinion that no show could win a big audience, especially not in six months time, opposite "Lucy," which is today's No. 1 program in television. This seemed obvious from the start, and I often asked officials of the National Broadcasting Company why they didn't switch "Hollywood Opening Night" which was a very fine dramatic show, to another evening. I am convinced, as I was from the start, that with a better time slot, "HON" (as we lovingly referred to this program; we all liked it and liked working with it) could have accumulated a very large viewing audience.

I even suggested that NBC play smart (I thought it would be smart) and toss in a "freak" show opposite "Lucy." That word "freak" doesn't have the same connotation in show business that it has in other walks of life. In show business it means "different" or even "blatantly different." It describes a show or program that would attract a certain type of viewer despite any opposition. A quiz show is a freak show; folks who like quiz programs (and move over, I am one) will tune them in consistently. movie fans will likewise listen to Hollywood news programs no matter what else is on the air. I base my own success in this field, not on any exceptional personal talent, but on the fact that I know Hollywood, have always told the truth, and cater to an audience that wants news about the stars.

But NBC officials apparently didn't think I was smart, for they continued to sacrifice fine "Hollywood Opening Night" programs, week after week, and to gnash their teeth in anguish as $25,000 a week flew out the window, and "Lucy" continued to garner the audience.

Well, "Hollywood Opening Night is dead; long live "Lucy." And the National Broadcasting Company is out of pocket $600,000, more or less, because its head guys refused to accept a licking, but kept sticking out their stubborn chins for more blows. Prize fighters go punch drunk that way!

Hollywood is buzzing over the dates of Fernando Lamas with a beautiful young brunette. No one knows her, and Lamas has carefully avoided introductions. One thing sure, she is not Arlene Dahl. Has the mysterious lady supplanted Miss Dahl in Fernando's af fections? I doubt it! Knowing his propinquity for restricting his romances to stars who can boost his career, I don't think he'll lose his heart to a young lady no one can identify.

I have been receiving letters from irate readers lambasting Zsa Zsa Gabor for the interview in which she accused American men of being stupid, childish, and immature when it comes to love-making. I quote from one letter: "If Miss Gabor doesn't care for the people in this country, why doesn't she go back to Hungary?" I think I can answer that question. Where else but in America could a would-be actress win fame through screwball publicity? Even so, unless Miss Gabor starts building herself up, instead of tearing other people down, she could conceivably find herself slipping out of the limelight.

Red Skelton, who has been battling with his television sponsors for the right to film his show, instead of doing it "live" - in TV parlance — he finally laid down the law. Said Skelton: "Either I get a rest from the gruelling grind of weekly "live' shows, or you find yourselves a new comedian." Good for Red! I'm surprised that his sponsors would still insist on a "live" show, after Skelton almost killed himself doing them. I, for one, am delighted that Red is well again, and I'm sure this feeling is shared by his millions of loyal fans.

I am thoroughly disgusted by the snide cracks being taken at Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and his wife, because of their close friendship with the British royal family. Certain Hollywood columnists are beside themselves with insinuations that the Fairbanks are becoming snobs and social climbers. Well, why shouldn't young Doug and his wife accept the friendship of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip? The queen and her husband are the sort of down - to - earth folks with whom anyone would enjoy associating. It doesn't take a crown to make a good fellow.

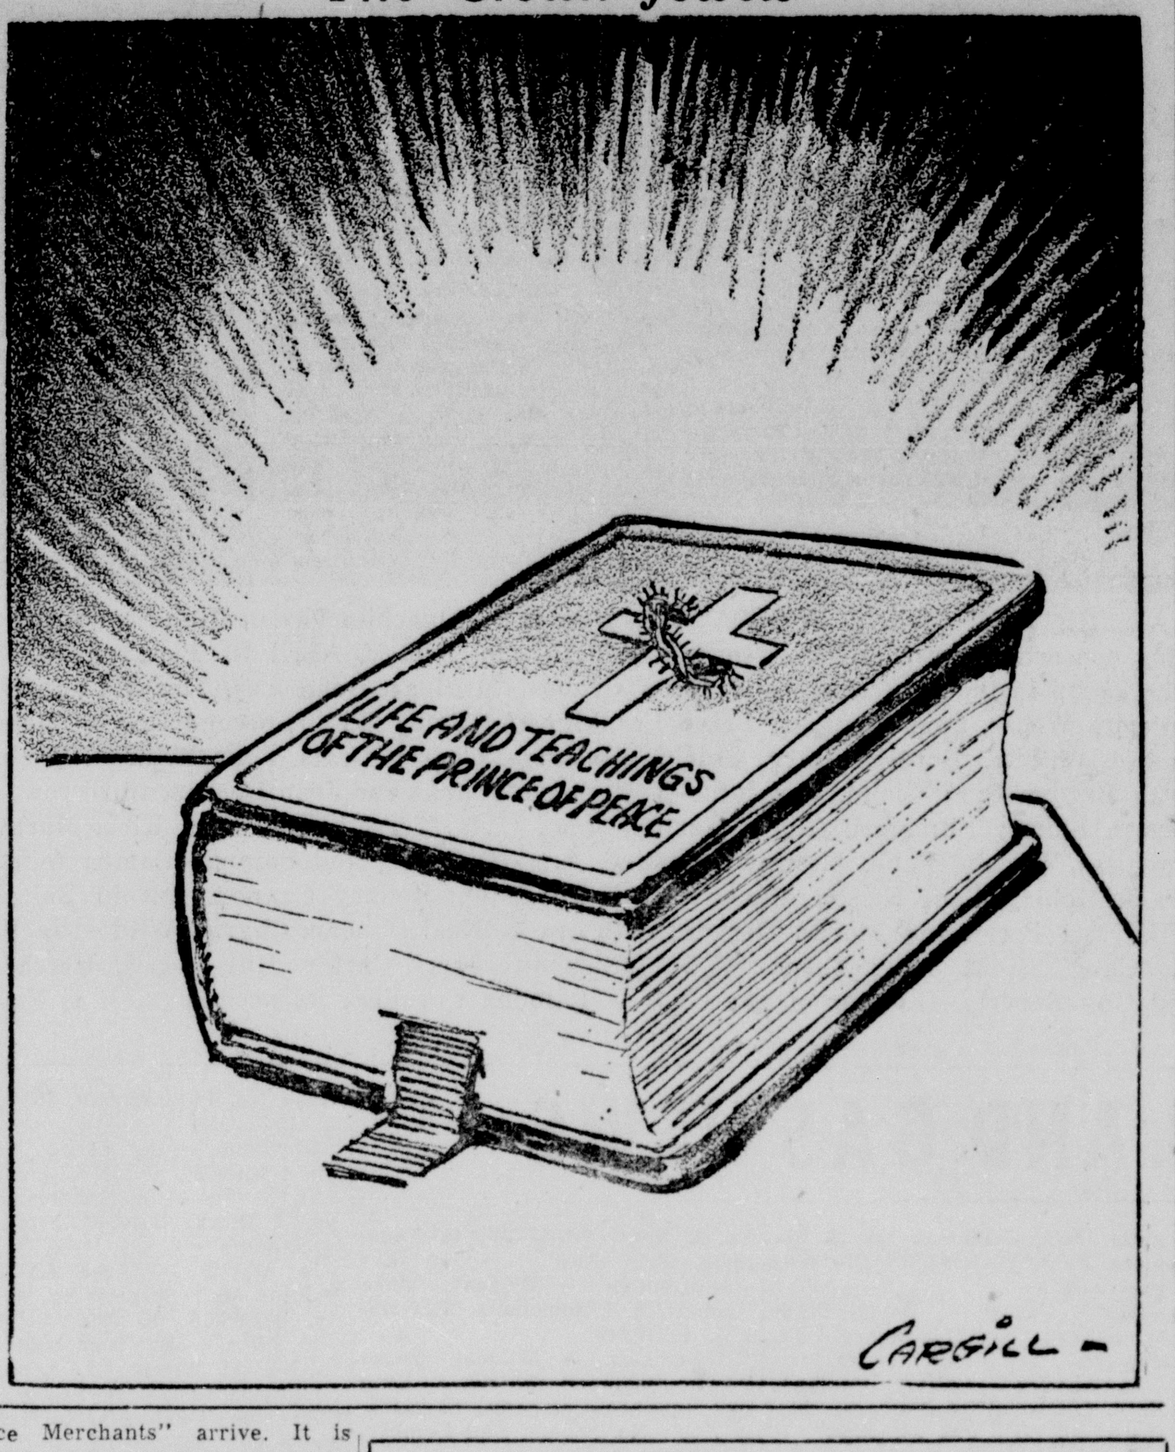
The Crown Jewels



Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

I have chosen my title in the belief that Easter in the soul may be something different from, and something more than, Easter in the churches.

On Easter Sunday many churches that ordinarily have a single service will have two services to accommodate the crowds with all pews filled at each service.

Yet on the following Sunday in many of these same churches congregations at the usual service will have dwindled in many cases even below the normal attendance. I am not speaking from conjecture or from hearsay, but from what I have observed in long association with churches both in Canada and in the United States.

What, it might well be asked, lies back of this discrepancy? Is that abnormally large church attendance on Easter Sunday which is ostensibly a recognition of the Resurrection of Jesus and rejoicing in that supreme event, actually a matter of faith, or a matter of custom?

The name Easter has its origin in a pagan festival of Spring. Is the joy of Easter for many, little more than a pagan quickening to the Spring revival after the grimness of winter, with its symbolism in Spring bonnets and colorful apparel?

One does not wish to appear a cynic or pessimist; nor should one underestimate the number of people for whom the Easter celebration is a matter of deep sincerity.

Yet even for the sincerely religious there is a difference between the celebration of the Resurrection of Jesus as a far-off event in history, significant as that may be, and the celebration and recognition of the fact of an ever-present and living Christ.

If Easter were truly in the souls of the many for whom church-going on Easter Sunday is a formal matter, one cannot but reflect that their lives would be different in relation to the church, the Christ, and their fellowmen throughout the year.

Everything we celebrate in connection with the life, death, and Resurrection of Jesus is not to be limited to one day or season, but should be extended to every day and every season. I remember some years ago selecting for an ordinary service, one of the hymns more commonly sung at Christmastime. My organist, a very good and thoughtful organist, objected, "But it's not Christmas."

My reply was, "It is always Christmas." And that is true. Unless the fact of Christmas, the coming of the Christ, is in our hearts the year round, our celebration on December 25 has little reality in Christian faith.

This is true of the Resurrection. Its vital message is not only that Jesus rose from death but is also in the words and promise of Jesus: "Lo, I am with you always." (Matthew 29:20).

That promise, of course, was made to those whom He was sending out to spread the Gospel. If we were more concerned about the work of Christ and about living in His name, our Easter celebration would have the glory of communion with a living Lord. It would be Easter in the church, it would also have all the reality and richness of Easter in the soul.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

The most lonesome man in [the] procession of European diplom[ats] now passing through Washing[ton] is due soon — Chancellor Kon[rad] Adenauer of West Germany, [who] has had more to do with the [poli]tical reconstitution of his area [of] Europe than any other individ[ual].

Unlike his predecessors from [al]lied nations, Adenauer hasn't [in]timated to anyone what he is co[m]ing for. The State Department [in]vited him, and he accepted. T[his] was customary diplomatic co[ur]tesy. Now the shapers of U[.S.] foreign policy are wondering w[hat] to say to him.

They are sure one of his [pur]poses is to get some expres[sion] from this government on the [fu]ture of the Saar basin, that [rich] coal producing region which [has] been under French control si[nce] World War 1 and which Germ[any] now wants back, despite the [fact] that she lost World War 11 deci[sive]ly.

The discussions will not be he[ad]line news, because the Ameri[can] public is generally indifferent to what goes on in central [Eu]rope, so long as it does not les[sen] effective resistance to the C[om]munist threat. That does not [re]duce the importance of a decis[ion] in which the United States m[ay] again as arbiter in straighten[ing] out Europe's difficulties.

France now runs the Saar reg[ion] and its essential coal producti[on] does not want to make any [con]cessions to Germany. Saarland [ers] are not bound to France by [nu]merous ties, it seems evident, [but] France claims credit for all [the] restoration of industrial prospe[rity] and employment which has ta[ken] place there.

Adenauer has to offer as G[er]many's bid for at least a piec[e of] the Saar economy strong milit[ary] support— 12 German divisions [for] the European Defense C[om]munity and 12 more in rese[rve] against any expansion of C[om]munist strength along the line [of] the Iron Curtain. Furthermore W[est] Germany now wants to forge [closer] ties with the United States. A[de]nauer and the leaders who [sup]port him profess to be convin[ced] that both countries were in er[ror] after World War 1 in not devel[op]ing closer economic ties before [the] Nazi movement spread to forec[lose] any such possibility.

With her terrific recupera[tive] power, Germany today looks [like] the strongest of six nations joi[ned] in the European Defense C[om]munity. Her government is i[n a] position to emphasize French we[ak]nesses and blunders. The fami[liar] German arrogance is returni[ng] and under any ordinary circ[um]stances, the U.S. government c[ould] be expected to say to a Germ[an] spokesman, "We've been thro[ugh] this before. Now you take the pl[ace] to which the nations who fou[ght] to extinguish Hitler will ass[ign] you."

Evidently it is not going to [be] quite that way. The German R[uhr] is again the most highly ind[ust]rialized center in all Europe [and] the Bonn government lately [has] begun to press for a satisfact[ory] agreement on the Saar land, [a] natural economic link for the Ru[hr] despite the even stronger tie [be]tween the Saar district and [es]sential French economic progra[m].

The French position has just b[een] explained to the State Dep[art]ment by Premier Rene Mayer [and] former Premier Georges Bid[ault] who view those 12 active and reserve German divisions with [ob]vious apprehension. Adena[uer] while emphasizing that West G[er]many wants complete understa[nd]ing with France, may recall in conferences the German insiste[nce] that it was deprival of her [re]sources by the Versailes tre[aty] which brought about the finan[cial] collapse of Germany in the [late] '20s and the rise of Hitlerism.

To give the Saar basin back [to] Germany seems an impossibil[ity]. But the 77 year old Adenauer, [who] during the Hitler regime, by [his] own description "was a good ga[rde]ner" has played his cards w[ell]. And the U. S. state department, this time, is ready to listen to [a] proposed compromise which [may] prevent further friction this s[ide] of the Iron Curtain.

THOUGHTS

There is a greater depravity [in] not repenting of sin when it [has] been committed, than in comm[it]ting it at first. To deny, as Pe[ter] did, is bad; but not to weep [bit]terly, as he did, when we ha[ve] denied, is worse.

—Payson.

Be just and fear not; let all [the] ends thou aimest at be thy co[un]try's, thy God's and Truth's. Shakespeare.

Hoover Favors Firing Of Communist Teachers

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover disagrees with those who defend the "right" of Communists to hold teaching positions in this country, until they show themselves disloyal.

Hoover's views, it became known today, were voiced just four days after Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) told a news conference in Chicago last February that he believed it would be "inconsistent with freedom of thought" to fire a professor for the simple reason that he was a Communist.

Taft upheld the right of Congress to expose Communists but said he could see "no particular purpose in examining the views of a few individual professors if they are not a part of an organization promoting the spread of communism."

That was on Feb. 21. On Feb. 25, according to testimony just made public, Hoover told a House appropriations subcommittee:

"The Communist threat to our educational structure is not yet recognized fully in some quarters. Individuals and groups, some liberal but frankly non-Communist in their outlook, others taken in by the Communist line, and still others working for the Communist cause, continue to defend the 'right' of Communists to hold teaching positions unless and until they demonstrate a disloyalty to our country.

"It behooves every thinking American to re-examine critically the essential facts of the matter. When he does so he will find the Communist ill-equipped on every score for a place in the teaching field.

"If, as some claim, he joined the Communist movement without recognizing its true objectives he once might have been excused on the ground that he was not a knave but merely a fool. Yet his lack of discernment is poor recommendation for the post of instructor to others."

Hoover made no reference to Taft by name in the testimony, parts of which were deleted from the public record. He told the subcommittee, which was considering the FBI budget:

"While we must jealously protect our academic freedom, there is no room in America for Communists or Communist sympathizers in our educational system."

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) of a Senate internal security subcommittee which has been probing for subversive influences in education, commented:

"Because he speaks with a knowledge of what is contained in the FBI files, J. Edgar Hoover is the most qualified authority in the country to assess the need for a careful investigation of subversive influences in our educational system, and in other fields.

"His analysis of the situation confirms the preliminary findings of the Senate internal security subcommittee.

"To date 53 educators, the majority of whom are from faculties of 13 different colleges and universities, have invoked their constitutional privilege against incrimination when the subcommittee asked them about their membership in the Communist party."

The Association of American Universities said last Monday that Communists, by the nature of their beliefs, are disqualified for university positions. It said discipline or discharge is a university responsibility "and should not be assumed by political authority."

Man Is Drowned On River Outing

MEMPHIS, April 4 (AP) —A father, taking his family for an outing on the Mississippi River, drowned today after rescuing his 13-year-old daughter from the stream.

The victim was identified as Shirley C. Williams, 42, operator of a window cleaning company.

Williams was taking his wife and two children for a boat ride on the river when his daughter, Edwina, fell overboard.

Williams plunged after her, held the child above the surface until a passing boat pulled her aboard, then sank.

Air Conditioning For 1st Methodists Asked

The First Methodist Church will begin, on Sunday afternoon April 12, a drive to raise $30,000 needed to air condition their educational building. The campaign will be headed by G. Thomas Frazer, general chairman. Frazer will have more than 250 workers from the First Methodist Church assisting him. These helpers have been organized into eight divisions and 42 teams. Frazer, in outlining the fund raising campaign and the need for air - conditioning the educational building, said in part: "Our educational building houses many functions of our busy and healthy church programs. We have undertaken this project to raise $30,000 to air - condition this building so that the leaders, workers and participants in these programs may work, worship and study in comfort which will be paid for now and enjoyed for many, many years to come."

The educational building of the First Methodist Church was completed in 1950 at which time a flexible heating system, permitting heating of the entire building or parts of the building, was installed This heating system was installed with necessary duct work, piping, insulation and electrical work required for cooling and it is believed that the proposed cooling system will have the same flexibility that the heating system now presents.

Approximately 100 tons of air-conditioning equipment will be required because of the size of the building and the number of people occupying it. The new equipment will be located in the present equipment rooms and in addition a concrete tank, to be located in the patio, for housing four accumulators and a chilled water pump will be required. This tank is planned to be constructed below the grade of the patio, waterproofed, and planted over with grass.

In the early afternoon of Sunday, April 12, the division leaders, the team captains and their legion of enthusiastic workers plan to call on every member of the First Methodist Church seeking contribution and pledges to the air-conditioning fund. Frazer urges that all members contacted give as generously as possible and to support this campaign with vision, cooperation and enthusiasm.

The division leaders with their team captains are: Division I: Mike John, Jr., leader; team captains, Miss Geneve Castles, Roy Johns, George Riser, Henry D. White, and Mrs. E. P. Cudd.

Division II. Mrs. Scott Hamilton, leader; team captains, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Futrell, Mrs. Foster Wallace, Mrs. E. N. Jackson, G. Foster Wallace, Mrs. G. E. Boggs.

Division III. Dr. A. Scott Hamilton, leader; team captains, Mrs. Henry Hinkle, Mrs. W. J. Veazey, C. S. Walker, Jr., Walter Rhodes, Miss Julia Wossman, L. H. Leverett.

Division IV. J. S. Harbuck, leader; Team captains, A. P. Andrews, Mrs. A. P. Andrews, S. W. Jackson, H. B. Cruthirds, E. N. Thompson.

Division V. Gilbert Faulk, leader; team captains, Corbin J. Turpin, I. C. Strickland, Guy Elliott, Miss Juanita Porter, O. L. Cloyd.

Division VI. C. S. Walker, Sr., leader; team captains, John Carroll, E. C. Dansby, Haynes Harkey, George Temple, Mrs. Aaron Parker.

Division VII. J. Dwight Petty and Sidney S. Douglas, leaders; team captains, Misses Elizabeth and Frances Langford, C. C. Rainwater, D. V. Loflin, Jr., Mrs. A. D. Murray, Charles E. Mulhearn.

Division VIII. G. E. Boggam, leader; team captains, Mrs. Z. J. Byrd, Fred Coon, Jr. Robert Irby, Don Kiper, Mrs. C. C. Lucky and Marcus D. Swayze.

The special gifts committee will comprise the following: Ben R. Downing, Carl H. McHenry, Neal W. McHenry, A. K. Kilpatrick, E. N. Jackson, Allen T. Givens, Fred Huenefeld, Sr., Fred Huenefeld, Jr., A. D. Williams, E. C. Gibson, G. L. Morgan, Barlow Inabnet, F. L. Jones, Mrs. James A. Noe, Mrs. B. Rhymes Earle, E. B. Johnston, H. B. Cruthirds, G. Full Debate On Tidelands Starts After Vacation

WASHINGTON, April 3 —UP— Full debate on the administration-backed Tidelands bill will get under way in the Senate next week immediately after the Easter recess, Republican leaders said Friday.

Slowed by constant questioning by opponents, sponsors of the bill required two days this week for a section-by-section explanation of its terms. The intensity of the preliminary sniping indicated the real battle will be a big one when it breaks.

Sen. Spessard Holland (D-Fla.), chief Senate sponsors of the measure, will lead off the fight on Tuesday. He will be followed by Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex.), an outspoken advocate of state ownership of the off-shore lands.

Generally, the bill would put the seaward limits off the state at three miles, and give coastal states controls of these lands. But it leaves the way open for individual states to fix their boundaries farther out to sea if the claim was made at the time the state came into the union or if Congress has approved it.

Capt. M'Bride Taking Police School Course

Capt. Billy McBride, of the city detective force, left today to attend a 12-week course at the Southern Police Institute, sponsored by the University of Louisville in Louisville, Ky.

McBride, 28, joined the Monroe police department August 1, 1946, and was promoted to sergeant on June 15, 1948. On January 1, 1951 McBride was transferred as sergeant to the detective force and promoted to captain on August 1, 1952.

In 1949 Captain McBride attended an F. B. I. fingerprint classification school and has had numerous refresher courses from the federal organization since that time.

He is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and joined the United Stated Navy in July, 1943. He received his basic training on the West Coast and saw overseas duty in the South Pacific. He was discharged in January of 1946.

The 12 - week - course at the institute will be given Captain McBride at no cost to the city of Monroe.

Red Cross Is Nearing Close Of Campaign

Ted Cross fund campaign chairman, Lee Vanderpool, Jr. urges everyone t o complete their Red Cross solicitation and to report to the final meeting at the Red Cross Chapter, Monday at 2:30 p.m.

Mr. Vanderpool praised the splendid work done by presidential chairman. Both Mrs. Wm. Weinberg of Monroe and Mrs. Tony Zurga of West Monroe have exceeded their quotas. Mr. Vanderpool stated they have done a fine job.

C. G. Pearce, Sr., head of employee division, has done an outstanding job. Sixty six employes groups have increased their donations over last year and 31 firm groups of employes have doubled their last year's donations. Mr. Vanderpool states this division shows the greatest improvement increase over previous drives of any division. Mr. Pearce's work shows a fine spirit and he is doing a splendid job. Mr. Vanderpool said there still are 33 firms in this division to report.

Easter In Korea Follows Air Raid

SEOUL, Sunday, April 5 (AP) — Easter came to Korea today on the heels of a pounding scored Saturday by Allied warplanes in strkes all across the peninsular.

Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers smashed Saturday at two Red troop and supply centers and Communist fortifications and supply lines.

Deadly American Sabre jets scored against four MIGs, probably destroying one and damaging three, the Fifth Air Force said.

Ground fightingwas at a standstill during the daylight hours. But before dawn Saturday American and South Korean infantrymen hurled back four Communist assaults and fought two patrol skirmishes.

Meanwhile, U. N. Command rep-representatives made final preparations for Monday's start of pris - ner exchange talks that could bring an armistice in the 34-month-old Korean War.

Marine Corsair fighter - bombers dumped tons of high explosives on a Red troop and supply concentration area 10 miles northwest of Kaesong, where the previous futile peace talks began July 10, 1951.

Marine Panther jets started eight large fires at another supply and troop center northwest of Sariwon. A Fifth Air Force spokesman said heavy black smoke covered the area after the strike, preventing full assessment of damage.

Allied Shooting Stars and Thunderjets roared across all of North Korea, blowing and shooting up fortifications on the battlefront and pounding supply roads and trucks behind the front.

The Fifth Air Force said the daylight raids destroyed and damaged 20 trucks, five buildings and nine railroad boxcars.

Before dawn, B26 bombers destroyed 73 Red supply trucks and blew holes n roads leading to the front.

U. S. 7th Division troops stopped two Chinese attacks Saturday against Western Front outposts on Pork Chop Hill and Upper Alligator Jaw.

The Fifth Air Force said its Sabre jets destroyed six MIGs, probably destroyed one and damaged eight last week.

The Air Force said no Allied planes were lost in air fighting during the week. But it said ground fire shot down two and five were lost to "other causes."

School Chorus Is Being Given In Two Places

The J. S. Clark Acapella Chorus under the direction of Mr. Morris A. Armstrong presented "The Kindled Flame," a serious one act drama depicting the life, death and resurrection of Christ, at the Mount Nebo Baptist Church Friday night, and will be given again at the Alto High School, Alto, La., April 10.

The scene of the play is taken in Rome and is the home of an ungodly Roman widow, Lidia, whose husband was killed by the Jews, her son, a leprosy victim, and her daughter, a believer of the faith.

It has an interesting climax and the audience is kept in suspense until the very end. It promises to be an eventful eveing for those who attend.

Hoover Favors Firing Of Communist Teachers

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover disagrees with those who defend the "right" of Communists to hold teaching positions in this country, until they show themselves disloyal.

Hoover's views, it became known today, were voiced just four days after Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) told a news conference in Chicago last February that he believed it would be "inconsistent with freedom of thought" to fire a professor for the simple reason that he was a Communist.

Taft upheld the right of Congress to expose Communists but said he could see "no particular purpose in examining the views of a few individual professors if they are not a part of an organization promoting the spread of communism."

That was on Feb. 21. On Feb. 25, according to testimony just made public, Hoover told a House appropriations subcommittee:

"The Communist threat to our educational structure is not yet recognized fully in some quarters. Individuals and groups, some liberal but frankly non-Communist in their outlook, others taken in by the Communist line, and still others working for the Communist cause, continue to defend the 'right' of Communists to hold teaching positions unless and until they demonstrate a disloyalty to our country.

"It behooves every thinking American to re-examine critically the essential facts of the matter. When he does so he will find the Communist ill-equipped on every score for a place in the teaching field.

"If, as some claim, he joined the Communist movement without recognizing its true objectives he once might have been excused on the ground that he was not a knave but merely a fool. Yet his lack of discernment is poor recommendation for the post of instructor to others."

Hoover made no reference to Taft by name in the testimony, parts of which were deleted from the public record. He told the subcommittee, which was considering the FBI budget:

"While we must jealously protect our academic freedom, there is no room in America for Communists or Communist sympathizers in our educational system."

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) of a Senate internal security subcommittee which has been probing for subversive influences in education, commented:

"Because he speaks with a knowledge of what is contained in the FBI files, J. Edgar Hoover is the most qualified authority in the country to assess the need for a careful investigation of subversive influences in our educational system, and in other fields.

"His analysis of the situation confirms the preliminary findings of the Senate internal security subcommittee.

"To date 53 educators, the majority of whom are from faculties of 13 different colleges and universities, have invoked their constitutional privilege against incrimination when the subcommittee asked them about their membership in the Communist party."

The Association of American Universities said last Monday that Communists, by the nature of their beliefs, are disqualified for university positions. It said discipline or discharge is a university responsibility "and should not be assumed by political authority."

Red Struggle

wider purges perhaps reaching into the upper levels of the Kremlin. They wondered whether Malenkov, then Stalin's apparent favorite, was out to weaken or to eliminate Beria. The latter was not head of the criticized ministry at that time but he was considered to have responsibility for it in the inner circle of Communist power.

However, the high level purge did not develop in a matter of weeks Stalin's death created so many fresh uncertainties that no one knew what would happen to the doctors if they still survived. But no one thought they would be released.

One speculation which some officials say appears to make sense is that Beria, who took over the Ministries of Internal Affairs and State Security (combining them into a single Internal Affairs Agency) when Malenkov succeeded Stalin, is strengthening his own power over the secret police system. The idea here is that he could use the discrediting of the police, in connection with the announcement that the doctors were arrested on false evidence, to eliminate persons who were more loyal to Stalin, and perhaps to Malenkov than to Beria.

Somewhat less likely, in the opinion of the analysts, is the possibility that Malenkov brought about the freeing of the doctors in order to weaken Beria's position by discrediting a segment of the police system which he now clearly controls. However, at the time of the original arrests there was speculation that Malenkov had engineered them to get at Beria by showing that his police had been lacking in alertness for several years.

The belief that a power struggle is developing among the principal men of the Kremlin is based in part on indications that the Soviet government has not yet shaken down to the point where the loyalists of party leaders and smaller cogs in the machinery of rule are firmly fixed to one person. Military men are believed to have some increased influence. The position of Molotov is thought probably to be powerful in relation to foreign affairs but weak in internal political matters.

From the point of view of the United States the totally unexpected release of the doctors offered one object lesson in Russian relations. At any time, and without a moment's notice, the man or men in control of Soviet policies can change radically or even reverse their direction. In foreign affairs this constant threat of a turnabout in Russian policy is the major factor to reckon with.

bartender, seized on a West Side street.

Charles R. LaCamera, a former pool room operator and ex-convict, arrested at his home in Farrell, Pa., about 50 miles northwest of Pittsburgh.

Weatherford said all were held on charges of conspiracy to transport stolen paintings valued in excess of $5,000 from Louisville, Ky., to Chicago, and other places.

Four of the paintings, including three attributed to some of the most revered names in art, were recovered with the arrest of two men in Chicago last night. The men seized were Norton I. Kretske, 47, a former assistant U. S. attorney in Chicago, and Gus Manotelli, 52, a ship's steward.

The canvases, rolled and wrapped in brown wrapping paper, included the "Crowning of the Blessed Virgin," by Murillo (1617-1682), "The Flaying of St. Bartholomew," by Rubens (1577-1640;, and the "Descent of the Holy Ghost" by Van Eyck (1385-1441).

The five other paintings were recovered from a New York buyer, the FBI said.

Weatherford said Joseph de Pietro, 49, also is in custody. De Pietro, he said, had kept four of the paintings in his Chicago home.

The three picked up with the paintings in Chicago yesterday are charged with receiving and possessing stolen goods.

The three men seized in Chicago today are held under bonds of $2,500 each. Kretske and Manotelli each are under $15,000 bond and De Pietro $2,500 bond.

Russo, Skally and Accardi are to be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Bentley Pike Monday.

Physical Given To Northeast Cadet Corps

Northeast State cadets received a complete physical examination last week during a two-day check-up by a Camp Polk medical team.

Examinations applied to juniors in the Reserve Officers Training Corps who plan to participate in the summer training program at Camp Gordon, Ga., and sophomores applying for entrance into advanced courses in the Military Police unt at the college.

This was the first time that an examining team has visited the campus, Lt. Col. Melville H. Griffith, professor of military science and tactics at Northeast, said. Formerly cadets were taken to Camp Polk, Barksdale Field or other army posts to be tested.

Members of the medical unit included Capt. Paul E. Longaker, medical officer, 1st. Lt. John P. Benjamin, dental officer, and two medical technicians. They represented an experienced unit, Colonel Griffith said.

The team has examined cadets at Northwestern State, Natchitoches, and other colleges which have ROTC units.

Tests were given to 111 cadets applying for advanced military courses and 38 juniors requesting summer training at Camp Gordon, Military Police, Reserve Officers Training Corps Camp.

Object Hooked In Gulf Search For Lost Plane

MOBILE, Ala., April 4 (AP) —A shrimp boat engaged in a search for DC-6 plane wreckage hooked an unidentified object in the Gulf of Mexico about 10 miles southwest of the Mobile ship channel today.

The Coast Guard search and rescue station at New Orleans said the spot was marked with a buoy, but there were no immediate plans to send Coast Guard vessels into the area.

A radioed report to the Coast Guard depot at Mobile said it had not been determined whether the object was part of the wreckage.

Gulf Boats, Inc., of Pascagoula, which sent its fleet out early this week to assist in the hunt for the wreckage, said it had received no direct word from the boat.

About five fishing vessels searching today are scheduled to dock in Pascagoula Monday.

The buoy tender Rambler, which has been searching more than a week for the hulk of the National Airlines transport, was called in yesterday.

Forty-six persons were killed when the DC-6 crashed in the Gulf last Feb. 14.

Moscow Reports Packed Churches

LONDON, April 4 (AP)—Moscow's Epiphany Cathedral was packed tonight for Easter services, the Soviet radio reported.

Canakkale, a fortress town near the southern end of the strategic strait and close to the scene of a recent Turkish earthquake disaster.

Divers said her badly smashed and flooded bow, where most of crew probably met death, and the current made floating operations impossible.

Efforts were made to effect rescue through regular or emergency escape hatches, even though the submarine had only 42 hours supply of oxygen when contact was lost. Presumably the after section, too, had been flooded.

Besides the Hawkins three Turkish ships, the Imroz, Turgutalp and Soldireye, hovered at the scene.

The Dumlupinar was cruising on the surface from Canakkale toward Istanbul at 2 a.m. when she collided with the Naboland in poor visibility. The Naboland, out of Goteborg, had left Istanbul late yesterday.

The Swedish skipper put out lifeboats and flashed the first word of the disaster. Later he put in at Canakkale, where he was questioned by Turkish authorities.

It was not until 11 a.m. that the Turkish Navy gave out its first communique announcing the accident.

The Dumlupinar's sister submarine, Inonu, was cruising with her and by 1 p.m. other rescue ships had reached the scene from Golcuk naval base.

The wreck was located by a buoy floated to the surface by the trapped men, and over the connecting telephone line rescuers were told: "Rescue us. We have air to last only a few hours."

First reports said 40 were alive in the still unflooded stern, but later Col. Asim Shinik, Navy chief of staff, announced that there were only 22.

U. S. Vice Adm. John H. Cassady, commander of the naval support and striking force of NATO's South European Command, at once placed all facilities of the U. S. Sixth Fleet at the disposal of the Turkish Navy, and rushed the Hawkins to the scene.

A score or more of ships of the Sixth Fleet, including the carrier Tarawa, the cruisers Newport News and Roanoke and a number of destroyers, submarines and supply ships, arrived only today in Istanbul and Izmi on coutesy calls.

Two Turkish newspapers reported they were to engage in minelaying pactice in the Dadanelles and Bosporus with the Turkish Navy next week.

Pair Run Over By Automobile, Emerge Unhurt

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., April 4 (AP)—"It's amazing," said Dr. I. C. Haines at Williamson General Hospital as he examined Charley Johnson and Mont Francis. They had been run over by a car—twice.

"No broken bones," said Dr. Haines. "Just badly bruised." The car's wheels had run across their chests.

Francis, who lives in Williamson, was released from the hospital today after treatment. Johnson, 39-year-old jobless veteran from nearby Goodman, Ky., probably will go home tomorrow.

Patrolman T. E. Jones said his investigation showed this is how it happened:

Francis and Johnson stretched out in the middle of Hairpin Bend at the edge of Williamson and went to sleep. James Edward Cardwell came along in his car about 3 o'clock this morning.

Cardwell felt a bump and heard an outcry.

He backed up to see what was wrong and ran over Francis and Johnson again.

wider purges perhaps reaching into the upper levels of the Kremlin. They wondered whether Malenkov, then Stalin's apparent favorite, was out to weaken or to eliminate Beria. The latter was not head of the criticized ministry at that time but he was considered to have responsibility for it in the inner circle of Communist power.

However, the high level purge did not develop in a matter of weeks Stalin's death created so many fresh uncertainties that no one knew what would happen to the doctors if they still survived. But no one thought they would be released.

One speculation which some officials say appears to make sense is that Beria, who took over the Ministries of Internal Affairs and State Security (combining them into a single Internal Affairs Agency) when Malenkov succeeded Stalin, is strengthening his own power over the secret police system. The idea here is that he could use the discrediting of the police, in connection with the announcement that the doctors were arrested on false evidence, to eliminate persons who were more loyal to Stalin, and perhaps to Malenkov than to Beria.

Somewhat less likely, in the opinion of the analysts, is the possibility that Malenkov brought about the freeing of the doctors in order to weaken Beria's position by discrediting a segment of the police system which he now clearly controls. However, at the time of the original arrests there was speculation that Malenkov had engineered them to get at Beria by showing that his police had been lacking in alertness for several years.

The belief that a power struggle is developing among the principal men of the Kremlin is based in part on indications that the Soviet government has not yet shaken down to the point where the loyalists of party leaders and smaller cogs in the machinery of rule are firmly fixed to one person. Military men are believed to have some increased influence. The position of Molotov is thought probably to be powerful in relation to foreign affairs but weak in internal political matters.

From the point of view of the United States the totally unexpected release of the doctors offered one object lesson in Russian relations. At any time, and without a moment's notice, the man or men in control of Soviet policies can change radically or even reverse their direction. In foreign affairs this constant threat of a turnabout in Russian policy is the major factor to reckon with.

"As time goes on"

Where, oh where, may you find a more glorious Springtime — or more gorgeous flowers — or more stately trees — or more charming homes — or more numerous churches — or more friendly people — or more liberty—and life—and love—?

We do not know where —
That's it! Nowhere — but here

And so, good friends — on this joyful Easter Day, as we Worship in the church of our choice, let us sing high in praise to Him, and pray that, to us, may continue the blessing of abiding in this happy, peaceful land forever and always—

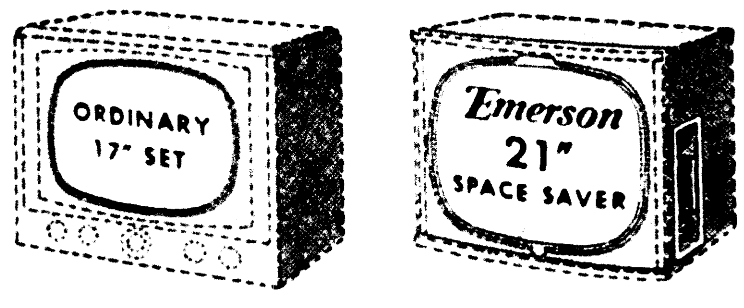
IN THE SLIMMEST, TRIMMEST MOST SPACE-SAVING CABINET EVER DESIGNED!

PROVE IT TO YOURSELF!



Even the conventional 17" cabinet is larger than the new Emerson 21" Space Saver

EMERSON SPACE-SAVER MODEL 740

COMPARE THE 5 LEADING BRANDS... ONLY EMERSON HAS ALL THIS:

- ★ Exclusive "Side Controls"
- ★ Cascode Turret-Tuner for UHF Adaptability
- ★ One-knob Simplimatic Tuning
- ★ Illuminated Channel Selector for Easy Reading
- ★ Built-in Pre-tuned Antenna
- ★ Fringe Compensator Adjusts for Individual Reception Conditions

HERE'S THE SECRET

The Controls Are ON THE SIDE!

The Front Is ALL SCREEN!

It's a revolutionary advance in television engineering! Never before have you been able to buy so large a screen in so small a cabinet! It isn't the controls you want to watch—it's the picture. So Emerson moves the controls out of the way, leaves the front ALL SCREEN.

Come see it yourself, compare it with other 21" screen cabinets—and think what the difference will mean in your living room! Yet thanks to Emerson's famous pioneering-engineering, your big clear picture is easier to tune, comes in sharp and bright whether you live in city "steel jungles" or country "fringe areas." Your built-in antenna is pre-tuned for consistent reception. You have a Super-Powered Long-Distance Circuit to bring in difficult channels.

Yes, once again Emerson gives you more for your money, leads in performance at the lowest price of all! Come in and see for yourself—today!

Monroe-West Monroe To Be TV Centers For Entire Area

For several years now, Ouachita Parish has been like a small boy at a parade — close enough to hear and sense all the excitement but too far away to get more than an uncertain glimpse of the performance by peeking over the shoulders of those on the front row.

In brief, Monroe and West Monroe have been on the "fringe" of television.

Within approximately eight weeks, however, the Twin Cities will move up to a curbside viewing position as its first television station takes the air, to be followed in two months by another.

What will it mean? Well, first of all, look at some pre-television figures. According to many sources, at least one out of every two families within range of video signals is likely to purchase a TV receiver, perhaps within a year or two after the stations are on the air.

This, at least, has been the national pattern. In 1951, for example, there were 27,412,700 families in television-covered areas of the nation. And 15,166,000 had purchased television sets. This represented about one television set for every six people in the television-covered regions at that time.

The pattern seems fairly consistent between different size cities. New York's residents have purchased one-half their population count, and other cities have followed in similar patterns.

The newspapers and magazines have been lauding TV for some years now, and most of us are familiar with the manner in which television will change our pattern of daily living. Did you know it will bring new punch to your vocabulary?

A new line of jargon will come through TV. "Pan head" for example is a rather derogatory term, easily distinguished. The words "video" and "audio" for seeing and hearing will be used expansively. Equipment will be referred to in such hitherto unknown expressions as "sink jennies," "stable amps," "jeep receivers," "video patch panels," and "aces, deuces and inkies." (Aces, deuces and inkies are spotlights.)

The letters UHF and VHF will probably run wild. Just as another generation grew up on AM and FM, so the frequencies will find another.

Another remarkable change in your lives, which TV promises to afford, has been somewhat overlooked by many sources. That's the feasibility of getting baby sitters as often as you want. Television has caused a mild revolution in the sitting "industry" — not only is a sitter granted a happy evening, but the children rarely ever cry for bedtime stories anymore.

Whatever the changes, however, Monroe and West Monroe are heartily looking forward to the TV era — and the television dealers on these pages are happy at all times to serve you.

Monroe-West Monroe To Be TV Centers For Entire Area

For several years now, Ouachita Parish has been like a small boy at a parade — close enough to hear and sense all the excitement but too far away to get more than an uncertain glimpse of the performance by peeking over the shoulders of those on the front row.

In brief, Monroe and West Monroe have been on the "fringe" of television.

Within approximately eight weeks, however, the Twin Cities will move up to a curbside viewing position as its first television station takes the air, to be followed in two months by another.

What will it mean? Well, first of all, look at some pre-television figures. According to many sources, at least one out of every two families within range of video signals is likely to purchase a TV receiver, perhaps within a year or two after the stations are on the air.

This, at least, has been the national pattern. In 1951, for example, there were 27,412,700 families in television-covered areas of the nation. And 15,166,000 had purchased television sets. This represented about one television set for every six people in the television-covered regions at that time.

The pattern seems fairly consistent between different size cities. New York's residents have purchased one-half their population count, and other cities have followed in similar patterns.

The newspapers and magazines have been lauding TV for some years now, and most of us are familiar with the manner in which television will change our pattern of daily living. Did you know it will bring new punch to your vocabulary?

A new line of jargon will come through TV. "Pan head" for example is a rather derogatory term, easily distinguished. The words "video" and "audio" for seeing and hearing will be used expansively. Equipment will be referred to in such hitherto unknown expressions as "sink jennies," "stable amps," "jeep receivers," "video patch panels," and "aces, deuces and inkies." (Aces, deuces and inkies are spotlights.)

The letters UHF and VHF will probably run wild. Just as another generation grew up on AM and FM, so the frequencies will find another.

Another remarkable change in your lives, which TV promises to afford, has been somewhat overlooked by many sources. That's the feasibility of getting baby sitters as often as you want. Television has caused a mild revolution in the sitting "industry" — not only is a sitter granted a happy evening, but the children rarely ever cry for bedtime stories anymore.

Whatever the changes, however, Monroe and West Monroe are heartily looking forward to the TV era — and the television dealers on these pages are happy at all times to serve you.

McCarthy Certain Of Favorable Destiny

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)— Some of his critics profess belief that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy is riding for a political fall but McCarthy himself has entirely contrary idea.

The Wisconsin senator has grabbed more headlines than any of his colleagues — not excluding Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio—in the first three months of the new Republican Congress.

Unless all signs fail, he will continue to operate in a whirlpool of the kind of activity which has produced an open clash with Mutual Security Administrator Harold E. Stassen, some friction with Secretary of State Dulles and mention of his actions at nearly every presidential news conference.

Somewhat bewildered colleagues are asking each other what makes McCarthy tick. What is his current aim? What are his political ambitions? What will he do next?

McCarthy himself supplied some answers in recent interviews.

Among other things, he denied presidential ambitions.

"The only political ambition I have is to remain senator from Wisconsin and to keep a Republican administration in power," he said.

McCarthy's idea is to establish himself to firmly in Wisconsin that his re-election will be almost automatic. Then the world will be his oyster, so far as investigations and other activities are concerned.

What is he trying to do now?

To hear him tell it, McCarthy is trying primarily to root out of government—particularly the State Department—every vestige of the administration of former President Truman and of former Secretary of State Acheson.

The Wisconsin senator said that explains his opposition to President Eisenhower's appointment of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen as ambassador to Moscow. Bohlen, a former policy adviser to Acheson, was confirmed by a 74-13 Senate vote, with only 10 of McCarthy's GOP colleagues going along with him.

Senators Taft, Mundt (R-SD) and others took occasion to deny that there was any split between McCarthy and Taft, who supported the Bohlen nomination. They denied also that the Bohlen battle represented a break in Republican ranks on foreign policy.

There is clear evidence, however, that McCarthy and Dulles don't think too much alike on foreign policy matters, despite somewhat friendlier relations established between them as a result of their conference over the Greek ships affair.

McCarthy's dramatic announcement that the Senate investigating subcommittee he heads has obtained an agreement with Greek ship owners not to trade with Red China and Korea brought the tart assertion by Stassen that the Wisconsin senator was "undermining" the State Department's work.

In the resulting uproar, McCarthy lunched with Dulles. Afterwards the secretary of state said in effect that what McCarthy had done was all right, but reminded him that only the executive branch of government has the right to negotiate with foreign governments.

McCarthy said the committee acted because the government couldn't negotiate with individuals. Some of the ship owners said they hadn't been sending any cargoes to Red China and Korea for a couple of years.

President Eisenhower got into the whole matter via news conference questions.

Essentially, Eisenhower took the position that any member of Congress or any committee has the right to give advice to individuals on what they believe this country ought to do.

But the President emphasized that only the executive branch has power to negotiate agreements. He said committees usually couldn't have access to necessary facts to make negotiations worthwhile. When a reporter pointed out that McCarthy had used the word negotiate, the President said how could one negotiate when there is nothing to commit.

Eisenhower indicated that he thinks Stassen went too far in saying McCarthy's activities had "undermined" the State Department. "Infringed" was what Stassen meant, the President thought.

The President showed irritation when a reporter asked if he was unhappy about the shipping case.

Eisenhower replied that he was not unhappy in the slightest degree. He said his relations with the Senate were getting better all the time and he was getting good cooperation in every way. He had been scared by experts in war and peace and he was not at all frightened by this shipping episode, he added.

Friends and foes of McCarthy could make their own interpretation of the President's remarks.

The Wisconsin Senator's critics guessed that the President was giving McCarthy plenty of rope in the hope the senator would slow down his controversial activities or trip himself up.

McCarthy's friends insisted that Eisenhower believed, as he said during the presidential campaign, that McCarthy's objectives were laudable, even if some of his methods were not.

Gospel Singing Convention Slated Here Next Sunday

The Monroe Twin - City Singing Convention will convene at the Fair Ground in West Monroe next Sunday. Possibly three or four thousand people will attend, according to a spokesman.

Arrangements are being made for loud speakers for the outside the afternoon for the convenience of those who fail to get inside the building. It will be possible to sit in an car during the program.

Special guests will be the Rangers quartet with Arnold Hyles who is among the World's lowest bass singers. This group was heard recently from Atlanta, Ga., over a radio network.

It was the first appearance in that City since Arnold had rejoined the quartet.

This singer was spared in the outcome of a wreck which took the life of Ermon Slater several months ago.

Along with this group will be the Stamps Quartet with Harley Lester from Dallas Tex. They are respected for their efforts to keep good Gospel singing going. There will also be quartets and song directors from places several hundred miles away. We want this convention to grow and we know it will.

All lovers of Gospel songs are invited to be a part of the convention and help make it a success.

Youth Dies When Vehicle Hits Cow

GROSSE TETE, La., April 4 (AP)— A head-on collision between a motorcycle and a cow killed a 24-year-old steel worker today.

State police said Joseph Story of Grosse Tete was killed near the Iberville-West Baton Rouge Parish line.

Story's body was found by a motorist in a ditch.

Dr. Paul B. Landry, West Baton Rouge coroner, ruled Story had died of head injuries.

State police said Story was returningy home to Grosse Tete — a farming community about 15 miles west of Baton Rouge — from work in Baton Rouge.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Cecil Story; a daughter, Beatrice and a stepsister, Frances E. Noland; a brother, Hammond A. Story; his stepfather and his mother, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Noland, and his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Hammond Story, all of Baton Rouge.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow in Baton Rouge.

Shrapnel Blamed For Casualties Aboard Cruiser

WASHINGTON, April 4 —UP— The Navy announced Saturday that 11 sailors aboard the cruiser Los Angeles were wounded slightly when a single shell from Communist shore battery hit the ship's main mast in North Korea's Wonsan harbor, Thursday (Korean time.

It said the injuries resulted from shrapnel which splattered nearby gun mounts and superstructure. The Navy said damage to the cruiser was slight and that after being hit it continued to fire at enemy supply lines ashore.

The list of wounded includes seaman Ben Thelner Huddleston, brother of Mrs. Margaret Marie Underwood of Amarillo, Tex.; Seaman Allen Eugene Smith, husband of Mrs. Willhelmina Ann Smith, Foreman, Ark., and son of Mrs. Ira Casey, Foreman, Ark., and Seaman Clayton Charles Chrisman, son of Mrs. Marie Sarah Chrisman, Nevada, Mo.

IN CHARGE — Major Clarence E. Corley, Jr., above, has recently assumed command of the Marine Corps Recruiting station in New Orleans and in six principle Louisiana cities.

Major Corley Is Officer In Charge

Major Clarence E. Corley, Jr., USMC has assumed the duties as officer in charge, Marine Corps Recruiting Station, New Orleans. In addition to the recruiting station in New Orleans, his command includes Marine Corps recruiting substations in six principle Louisiana cities. He relieved Lieutenant Colonel Glenn E. Norris, USMC.

Major Corley is a native of Pineville, La. He attended Bolton High School, Alexandria, La., and graduated from Louisiana College, Pineville, La. He entered the Marine Corps in 1942. During World War II he served as an intelligence officer for an aviation unit and saw action in the invasion of Bouganville and the Philippines. Shortly after the outbreak of hostilities in Korea he landed with the First Marine Division at Inchon as a company commander of an infantry company, and served in this capacity in the capture of Seoul and the bitter Chosin Reservoir withdrawal.

It was during the latter action that he was wounded but refused evacuation. Major Corley has twice been awarded the nation's third highest combat award, the Silver Star. His other decorations include the Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Presidential Unit Citation, Navy Unit Citation, American Theater Ribbon, Asiatic Pacific Ribbon with 3 stars, Philippines Liberation Ribbon with 1 star, World War II Victory Ribbon, United Nations Ribbon, and the Korean Service Ribbon with six stars.

Major Corley and his wife, the former Mildred Thompson of Staten Island, New York have a seven months old daughter, Carol Lynn. The Corley's reside at 4901 Warrington Drive in New Orleans.

North Ireland Posts Bombed

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland, April 4 (AP)—Attacks on three British customs posts brought a virtual state of siege tonight along the Irish border.

A home made bomb was tossed into one of the customs buildings in Molenan, near Derry City, while two other huts—at Galliagh and Culmore—were set afire.

A man identifying himself as adjutant of the outlawed Irish Republican Army called Londonderry newspapers to deny the IRA was responsible for the raids.

"Possibly the blame can be laid at the hand of some misguided juvenile delinquents," he said.

The IRA is the most militant force advocating the unification of Ireland and Northern Ireland.

The Royal Ulster Constabulary, which is charged with maintaining order in the six northern counties still linked with Britain, cancelled all leave as heavy guards were placed at border custom posts. The civic guards in Ireland co-operated with Ulster police in investigating the raids.

Bank Says It Is Not Liable For LeBlanc Checks

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—The president of the Lafayette Guaranty Bank & Trust Co. said today the bank was not liable for checks it honored of two bankrupt corporations.

The LeBlanc Corp. of Maryland and the LeBlanc Corp. of Louisiana, both in bankruptcy while undergoing re-organization, filed a $6,699.91 suit in U. S. District Court in Shreveport against the bank.

The suit said the bank continued to honor LeBlanc Corp. checks after the bank had received notice of a court order freezing the assets.

Bank president R. J. Castille said the two corporations claimed in their suit that a newspaper article declaring the firms had gone into receivership should have been enough notice for the bank.

Castille said an official notice of the court order was not received by the bank until about six days after the newspaper article appeared. During that time, he said, the bank continued to honor checks as usual.

When the bank received the court order, Castille said, it immediately discontinued honoring the corporations' checks.

The LeBlanc Corporation was organized by Dudley J. LeBlanc, who reportedly sold the Hadacol (patent medicine) part of his company to eastern interests.

North Ireland Posts Bombed

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland, April 4 (UP)—Attacks on three British customs posts brought a virtual state of siege tonight along the Irish border.

A home made bomb was tossed into one of the customs buildings in Molenan, near Derry City, while two other huts—at Galliagh and Culmore—were set afire.

A man identifying himself as adjutant of the outlawed Irish Republican Army called Londonderry newspapers to deny the IRA was responsible for the raids.

"Possibly the blame can be laid at the hand of some misguided juvenile delinquents," he said.

The IRA is the most militant force advocating the unification of Ireland and Northern Ireland.

The Royal Ulster Constabulary, which is charged with maintaining order in the six northern counties still linked with Britain, cancelled all leave as heavy guards were placed at border custom posts. The civic guards in Ireland co-operated with Ulster police in investigating the raids.

IN CHARGE — Major Clarence E. Corley, Jr., above, has recently assumed command of the Marine Corps Recruiting station in New Orleans and in six principle Louisiana cities.

Major Corley Is Officer In Charge

Major Clarence E. Corley, Jr., USMC has assumed the duties as officer in charge, Marine Corps Recruiting Station, New Orleans. In addition to the recruiting station in New Orleans, his command includes Marine Corps recruiting substations in six principle Louisiana cities. He relieved Lieutenant Colonel Glenn E. Norris, USMC.

Major Corley is a native of Pineville, La. He attended Bolton High School, Alexandria, La., and graduated from Louisiana College, Pineville, La. He entered the Marine Corps in 1942. During World War II he served as an intelligence officer for an aviation unit and saw action in the invasion of Bouganville and the Philippines. Shortly after the outbreak of hostilities in Korea he landed with the First Marine Division at Inchon as a company commander of an infantry company, and served in this capacity in the capture of Seoul and the bitter Chosin Reservoir withdrawal.

It was during the latter action that he was wounded but refused evacuation. Major Corley has twice been awarded the nation's third highest combat award, the Silver Star. His other decorations include the Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Presidential Unit Citation, Navy Unit Citation, American Theater Ribbon, Asiatic Pacific Ribbon with 3 stars, Philippines Liberation Ribbon with 1 star, World War II Victory Ribbon, United Nations Ribbon, and the Korean Service Ribbon with six stars.

Major Corley and his wife, the former Mildred Thompson of Staten Island, New York have a seven months old daughter, Carol Lynn. The Corley's reside at 4901 Warrington Drive in New Orleans.

Bank Says It Is Not Liable For LeBlanc Checks

LAFAYETTE, La. (UP)—The president of the Lafayette Guaranty Bank & Trust Co. said today the bank was not liable for checks it honored of two bankrupt corporations.

The LeBlanc Corp. of Maryland and the LeBlanc Corp. of Louisiana, both in bankruptcy while undergoing re-organization, filed a $6,699.91 suit in U. S. District Court in Shreveport against the bank.

The suit said the bank continued to honor LeBlanc Corp. checks after the bank had received notice of a court order freezing the assets.

Bank president R. J. Castille said the two corporations claimed in their suit that a newspaper article declaring the firms had gone into receivership should have been enough notice for the bank.

Castille said an official notice of the court order was not received by the bank until about six days after the newspaper article appeared. During that time, he said, the bank continued to honor checks as usual.

When the bank received the court order, Castille said, it immediately discontinued honoring the corporations' checks.

The LeBlanc Corporation was organized by Dudley J. LeBlanc, who reportedly sold the Hadacol (patent medicine) part of his company to eastern interests.

Two Oak Ridge Girls Get Top Scouting Honor

OAK RIDGE, April 4. (Special) — Two Oak Ridge girls have been awarded the Curved Bar, highest rank in Girl Scout activities.

The girls are Eugena Valentine and Kay Conger. They are members of Troop 1, Oak Ridge, and began their scouting activities in 1949.

Eugenia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Valentine, attained her Curved Bar in field ambassador work. Kay, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Edwin Conger, undertook child nurse activities for her Curved Bar requirements.

Both girls are active in Oakr Ridge school, church and community life. Eugenia is a sophomore in high school and Kay is a freshman.

Troop 1 is sponsored by the Pierian club. Mrs. W. E. Conger is scout leader and Mrs. C. E. Shepard is assistant.

Ike To Forego Monday Huddle

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Because of the congressional Easter recess President Eisenhower will forego his regular Monday morning conference with Senate and House leaders.

Only two engagements have been made for Monday. The President will see Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, at 9:30 a.m. and 15 minutes later he will discuss with Secretary of State Dulles the official visit Tuesday of Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of the federal republic of Germany.

Adenauer will be here three days as a guest of the President, and will stay at the Blair House.

If your broiler is located under the oven, remove it when the oven alone is in use. This will prevent crazing or warping.

Ferriday Youth Gets Scholarship

BATON ROUGE, April 4 (AP) — Graduate scholarships have been awarded to Wesley Ann Travis of Jackson, Miss., and Duncan D. Burford of Ferriday, both seniors at Louisiana State University.

The scholarhips are made available each year by the General Education Board to encourage promising young men and women to do graduate study with a view to possibly returning to the teaching profession in Southern colleges and universities.

LSU makes three nominations each year for some 30 scholarships open to all colleges and universities in the South.

Hope Of AFL Merger With CIO Is Slim

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The rival AFL and CIO are getting ready for another try at negotiating a merger, but leaders of both groups feel the odds are against success.

Several prior efforts to combine the two big union federations have collapsed in the face of bitter rivalries and conflicting views, and most of these differences remain unresolved.

But a team of top American Federation of Labor officials, headed by AFL President George Meany, is ready to get together here Tuesday with top officials of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, led by CIO President Walter Reuther.

It will be the first time the unity talks have been steered by the new labor chiefs. Meany and Reuther have held their top jobs in the labor groups only a few months. They were elected presidents of their organizations last fall on the deaths of AFL President William Green and CIO Chief Philip Murray.

New unity talks were the first proposal made by Meany after taking the AFL's helm.

Both Meany and Reuther, far younger men than the late Green and Murray, have pledged to give the unity idea a fresh try. Both say they favor merger and won't let personal ambition stand in the way of achieving it.

The union leaders say the purpose of a merger is to build labor power and prestige in national affairs. They feel a combined union movement would be stronger and wield more influence, than a divided one. Some unionists dispute this, contending competition keeps both on their toes.

Almost ever since the CIO was established in 1935—in a splintering away of unions from the AFL—there have been efforts to get the CIO back into the AFL, or the "house of labor" as the late Green called it.

G. King Dies In Winnsboro

WINNSBORO, La., April 4 Funeral services for G. Norman "Buddy" King, 74, who died at his residence in Winnsboro early today, will be held in the Mulhearn Funeral chapel in Winnsboro at 10 a. m. Monday with Rev. W. H. Bingston officiating. Interment will follow in the Old Winnsboro Cemetery.

He is survived by: two sisters; Mrs. H. H. Hair, Baton Rouge, Mrs. J. W. Thompson, Los Angeles; one uncle, J. M. King, Fort Necessity; eight nephews; David Tom King, Birmingham, Ala., Noel James, and Willie Gillespie, all of Dallas, King and Lynn Thompson, both of Los Angeles, Clare Hair, Bixby, Okla., and Goldie Hair, of Baton Rouge; three nieces; Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Murray, Dallas, Mrs. Jackie Pierce, and Miss Birdie Hair, both of Baton Rouge.

King was a well known resident of Winnsboro and Franklin parish, where he was born and reared.

Church Chimes Will Be Constant Memorial

HOLLY RIDGE, April 4. (Special—Two memorials of outstanding beauty and lasting value to the people of Holly Ridge and their friends will be in operation at the Holly Ridge Methodist Church on Easter Sunday.

Glorious resurrection music will be pealed forth from the little church by a set of Norton chimes recently installed through the contributions of many friends of the late George B. Franklin, Sr., who played a major role in the building of the church.

The chimes play every day at 8:15 a.m. and 3:15 p.m. as school is beginning and ending. Already they seem to have become a tradition in the small community, and people listen to their beautiful music for miles around.

The second memorial will be the Holly Ridge Methodist Church Memorial Library, founded by friends in memory of the late Mrs. Clarice M. Bley, sister of Mr. Franklin.

Fifty volumes will be ready for checking out on Easter Sunday by Miss Marjorie Holloway, church librarian. Of these books, 34 were purchased through the library fund and 16 have been donated by the congregation.

Some of the outstanding reference works are: "Harper's Bible Dictionary," Cruden's "Complete Concordance," "Christ and the Fine Arts," by Maus; Craig's "Beginning of Christianity"; "One God," "The Ways We Worship Him," by Fitch.

Oursler's "Greatest Book Ever Written" was purchased and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hill presented the library with the companion book, "The Greatest Story Ever Told," both scholarly works on the Old and New Testaments.

Those seeking reading of an outstanding inspirational nature may read: "A Man Called Peter," by Marshall; "How To Be A Transformed Person," by E. Stanley Jones and presented by the pastor, Rev. Earl E. Emmerich; "Out of Aldersgate," John Wesley's experiences by Watkins.

In defense of the novel is Sterling North's recent comment, "The novelist helps us to live vicariously many lives and thus aids us in living our own actual life more fully and gracefully."

Novels with a Biblical background are: Costain's "Silver Chalice," Wallace's "Ben Hur," "Behold Your King," Bauer, given by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Freeland; "The Tentmaker" by Berstl is an unusual and compelling story of Saint Paul. It is a translation from the author's original German and gives us a picture quite different from the American literary one.

Teen age boys and girls will be interested in: "A White Bird Flying," Aldrich; "Su Mei's Golden Year," Bro, (Author's name is not a typographical error. It is actually Bro — Chinese to you) "Day After Tomorrow," Knight, is a modern actual account of the results of communistic groups in American cities. Jackson's "Dub Halfback," "I Believe," Harner, "So Youth May Know," Dickerson; and the "Omnibus of Science Fiction" will all appeal to this age group.

Younger readers will find plenty to interest in: "Door in the Wall," De Angeli, Newberry Award winner; Lenski's "Little Family" and "Cotton In My Sack," "Pelle's New Suit," Beskow; Hill's "Martin and Judy" and Mary Alice Jones' series of "Tell Me" books written to answer a small child's questions on Jesus, God, prayer, the Bible and Bible characters.

Any member desiring some special book may turn in the request chased on the next order.

Says Spies Will Audit Sermons In E. Germany

BERLIN, April 4 (AP)—Communist spies will attend Easter services in the Eisleben area of East Germany tomorrow to check up on the pastors' sermons, West Berlin's "Fighting Group Against Inhumanity" charged today.

The anti-Communist group said Protestant pastors of the area were summoned by Communist officials last Thursday and questioned about a circular letter in which their bishop allegedly instructed them to speak about the plight of East Germans in their Easter sermons.

The pastors reportedly refused to answer any questions about the letter or to turn their files over to Communist authorities, declaring that the church is not responsible to the state.

Following these fruitless discussions in the Eisleben City Hall, trusted members of East Germany's ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) party were ordered to attend Easter services and report on the sermons, the fighting group said.

Swartz Church To Initiate Revival

The Swartz Assembly of God Church, on the old Bastrop Road, of which Rev. G. B. Reed is pastor, announces that Rev. Haskel Grant will conduct a revival there that is to start April 8 and will run nightly at 7:30 p. m. for two weeks.

There will be special music by a church quartet. Thelma Cagle is choir director and Charles Reed pianist.

Singing Scheduled At Booster Hall

The regular meeting of the afternoon gospel singing program will be held at the Missouri Pacific Booster Hall today.

The public is cordially invited and a good program is anticipated, since many personal invitations have been mailed to leaders and quartets, M. C. Cockrell, president, stated.

Youth Sought In Slaying Is Found In Chicago Church

CHICAGO, April 3 (AP)—A teenager sought for a $5 holdup-slaying police said was staged to get money for dope was discovered today as he knelt with his father in prayer at a church.

Police said Robert (Chic) Baldi, 16, was found by two Herald-American newsmen at the Precious Blood Roman Catholic Church where he was attending Good Friday services with his father, Joseph, 45.

Authorities said the youth admitted in an oral statement killing Morris Silvertrust, 60, in the Monday holdup at the Advance Bridal Veil Manufacturing Company.

Police already are holding Charles Bross, 20, and Miss Arlene Giffin, 18, who they said admitted taking part in the holdup. Police said Bross bought heroin with the $5 loot.

Herbert Barsy, assistant state's attorney, said Baldi told him he shot Silvetrust with a .38 caliber revolver and later tossed the gun into Lake Michigan.

Witnesses told police the shooting occurred when Silvertrust attacked the holdup men with a chair.

Bloody Assault Is Reported On Central Front

SEOUL, Saturday, April 4 (AP)—Two hours of bloody, hand-to-hand fighting on the Central Front, some of it with clubs and knives, Friday added to signs that the Reds intend to keep up military pressure in Korea despite new truce proposals.

Patrols also clashed in the east and west but bad weather virtually erased the air war.

The Central Front assault by 175 Chinese Reds against U. S. 3rd Division infantrymen followed the pattern, even if much smaller, of last week's Communist attacks on the Western Front which preceded Red acceptance of an offer to exchange sick and wounded prisoners.

After Monday's proposal by Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China for a settlement of the whole prisoner of war issue, there was a brief lull in fighting. But Thursday 750 Reds fought for 40 minutes against South Koreans on the Central Front before being hurled back.

Friday the Reds reached trenches of 3rd Division defenders on the crest of a hill before retreating, leaving from 15 to 25 dead and a score wounded.

Elsewhere along the 155-mile front, Allied defenders repulsed three Red probing attacks on the Eastern Sector. On the west, an outnumbered Allied patrol killed or wounded 29 of an estimated 65 Chinese in a short but bitter small arms and hand grenade fight near Little Gibraltar.

Sabre jets prowled Mig Alley deep into North Korea without sighting any Russian-built MIGs. The Fifth Air Force said other Allied planes were grounded Friday by haze, low hanging clouds and poor visibility.

Plane Will Keep Watch On Traffic

NEW ORLEANS, April 4 (AP) — The state police said today a Civil Air Patrol plane will be operated over the New Orleans area during the Easter holiday to help in the prevention of highway and other automobile accidents.

The plane will be piloted by a state trooper who will be in contact with highway patrol cars by radio and will advise the highway units of any infraction of safety regulations, the state police added.

OPENS THURSDAY AT THE TEM

Comedy Hit Reaps Rich Laugh Harvest

Universal - International's "It Grows On Trees," a hilarious comedy for the entire family, starting Thursday at the Tem Theatre with a strong starring cast headed by Irene Dunne, Dean Jagger and Joan Evans.

This clever laugh-riot has by far the most unique story of the season. It concerns a typical American middle-class family, harried by budget trouble, which discovers in its backyard a couple of trees growing five and ten dollar bills. What happens when Polly Baxter, the wife, pays off the family mortgage with the money and gives some of it to her husband for expenses on a business trip only to find that it turns to dust in both bank vault and wallet, shouldn't happen to anyone except on the silver screen.

Irene Dunne, who has been seen during recent years in such powerful dramatic offerings as "Anna and the King of Siam" and "The Mudlark," returns to a brand of whimsical comedy which marked the highlight of her earlier career when she teamed with such laugh-getters as Fred MacMurray and Cary Grant. As your next-door-neigbor who scrimps and saves to make both ends meet, Miss Dunne brings a delightful new characterization to the screen in the person of Polly.

She never had a better foil than Dean Jagger as her partner in this misadventure concerning greenbacks growing on trees. Jagger, an Academy Award winner, playing the frustrated and underpaid accountant husband, brings to the screen the quiet charm of a John Doe we know so well who maintains a sense of humor through all of life's little troubles.

The third star in this stellar trio is Joan Evans. She plays the 18-year-old daughter of Miss Dunne and Jagger with well modulated enthusiasm and brings a fresh type of beauty to the screen.

The clever direction of Arthur Lubin provides that necessary light touch of whimsicality that such stories need in order to win maximum audience sympathy.

Important supporting roles are capably handled by Richard Crenna, Dee Pollock and Sandy Descher, the couple's young children; Edith Meiser and Les Tremayne.

Leonard Goldstein produced and Maury Gertsman receives cinematography credit.

La. Federation Of Labor Will Meet Monday

SHREVEPORT, La., April 4 (AP)—State labor leaders gathered here today for the 41st annual convention of the Louisiana State Federation of Labor which opens Monday.

Highlight of today's meetings was the election of officers of the Carpenters and Electrical Workers Unions.

John R. Hill, president of the federation, presided over today's meeting.

The state Pipe Trades Association, composed of plumbers and steamfitters, and the state conference of painters also had meetings slated for today.

The state conference of barbers and the Allied Printing Trades Union were to open meetings Sunday.

Among the officials who arrived today for the convention were:

E. J. Bourg, Baton Rouge, state secretary of the federation; Robert L. Soule, New Orleans, vice president for the New Orleans district; M. H. Crow, Marshall, Tex., international vice president of the painters union; Fred Kregar, New Orleans, vice president of the federation; Louis Sahque, New Orleans, the federation's first vice president; Edward Soule, representative of the plumbers union Jerry Ryan, international representative of the plumbers union and G. X. Barber, international vice president of the electricians union.

ON DRESS PARADE—The lovely "Glamour" Icers featured in the all new Ice Vogues of 1953 coming to the Municipal Auditorium, Shreveport, April 18 through April 22, do some mighty fancy precision, high stepping in their stirring march number. One of the outstanding production numbers of the giant ice show. The skating girls were chosen for their talent as well as beauty. Both are evident in a group number like this.

Coal Industry Suffering New Business Jolt

WASHINGTON, April 4 —UP— The soft coal industry, which is in the midst of a "severe recession," has been hit harder by the new developments in Korea, a top industry leader reported Saturday.

Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producer's Association, said coal-using industries have begun digging into the 80-million-ton stockpile of bituminous coal in anticipation of a production cutback if, and when, the Korean war ends. As a result, he added, orders for new coal are dropping off in a market that is already "on its last legs."

Soft coal production now is more than 20 per cent below the level of last year, which was considered a poor year. The latest Bureau of Mines figures put production through March 21 at 8,120,000 tons compared to 9,521,000 tons at the same point in 1952.

The reasons for the coal industry slump are four-fold:

1 — A cutback in coal exports.

2 — A sharp increase in imports of residual oil, mainly from Argentina.

3 — A mild winter levelled off the demand for coal.

4 — Competition from other domestic fuel. The operators claim that high labor costs have forced them to sell their product at too high a price.

Will Not Renew Skelton Program

CINCINNATI, April 4 (AP)—Procter & Gamble Productions, Inc., announced today it would not exercise its rights to renew the Red Skelton television show for next winter.

A company statement said the decision was part of a general realignment of next season's advertising program for the Procter & Gamble's product "Tide."

Senate Fight Pledged Over Tidelands Bill

WASHINGTON, April 4 —UP— Senate foes of the administration's tidelands bill Saturday pledged a bitter-end battle but conceded privately they have virtually no chance of killing it.

Full-blown debate on the controversial measure will get underway Tuesday when the Senators return from the Easter holiday. But Senate Republican leader Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) does not expect a vote next week.

The measure before the Senate would give coastal states title to submerged ocean lands out to their historic sea boundaries — three to 10½ miles offshore. Oil has been discovered in these lands off California, Texas, and Louisiana.

The House has passed a different version of the bill.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill), a leading opponent, said the measure will be "thoroughly considered" but denied that a filibuster is in the making.

Douglas said "at least" $40 billion worth of oil lies in the offshore lands of the continental shelf which he said belongs to all the people. He said the figure might run to $300 billion.

Ocean steamers can sail 2,000 miles up the Amazon River from the Atlantic Ocean to Iquitos, Peru.

Sports Face Rams In Exhibition Opener

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Bayou DeSiard Country Club is launching another season of golf for its members with the first round of the Cramer Haas Memorial Handicap Golf Tournament today. Of all the kinds of tournaments we have had in the Twin Cities of varying names, the Cramer Haas Memorial is one we would like most to see continue forever.

To those of us who knew Cramer through his school days here and into young manhood, the Bayou DeSiard event serves as a perpetual memorial not only to a soldier who served his country well, but to a model of the perfection in youth, a good student, a top-flight competitor as one of his hometown's amateur golfers, and a promising businessman who made the supreme sacrifice.

Cramer Haas was 28 years old that November day in 1944 when he fell on Leyte Island while serving with Company Eight of the Twenty First Infantry of the Twenty-Fourth Division.

A graduate of the Class of 1933, Neville High School, he early made golf one of his hobbies. Twice he won the annual Kraft Paper Tournament at Bastrop, and was high in other tournaments conducted here by the old Lakeside Country Club, Municipal Golf Club, and McGuire Park Club.

Bayou DeSiard Country Club's course was never to be tested by the young golfer. But the men and women who organized the new country club after World War II was over have given him the kind of memorial few soldiers ever attain. A plaque in some darkened hall or a stone marker in some spot where, in passing time, it becomes taken for granted could have been erected by his golfing friends, but a tournament that bears Cramer Haas' name annually refreshes the memory of his acquaintances with full force. Another more fitting tribute could not have been established for Cramer Haas.

The incident of Charles "Chuck" Slaber, the El Dorado lefthander who was briefly with the Augusta Rams in spring training here, brought respectful comment from Ottis "Jake" Jacobs, Monroe's 20-game winner of last year, now on the Augusta roster, and Nels Daehn, the Sports' classy rookie of '52, who is figured to be a mainspring in the Monroe machinery this year.

When Slaber, who hurled a matching six-hitter with Jacobs in the last regular game of the season last year before Jake won out 1-0, reported to Augusta under condition to buy if the Rams decided to keep him, Jacobs declared: "At least I won't have to pitch against the guy.

After the Rams sent "Chuck" back to the Oilers, Daehn wasn't kidding when he exclamined: "Just my luck. Now I'll have to bat against that left-handed pitching again." Daehn says his batting average suffered every time he had to face Slaber. Just the same, the Monroe gardener had a season's batting average of .296, exceptionally good for a rookie year.

The campaign for reorganization of the American Legion Junior baseball program for the Fifth District of Louisiana gathers steam this afternoon when representatives of American Legion posts of the northeast section of the state meet with District Chairman Bob McNeely at the Legion Home here.

Legion baseball, first organized in the 1920s, has enjoyed its best years in this section only in the past six or eight years, considering the interest shown by a majority of the districts' posts. For many years the northeastern area of the state could boast only two or three teams. Where Monroe and Ruston were for years about the only contenders around here, the last few seasons have seen Legion Junior clubs supported by Ferriday, Winnsboro, Bastrop, Oak Grove, Tallulah, Jonesville, Columbia, Farmerville, West Monroe, Jonesboro, Delhi and Rayville. The district claimed its first state champion last year when Monroe went all the way, and McNeely forsees another banner campaign for his district when play starts late in May.

Pick Monroe All-Stars To Play 'King's Court'

The Monroe All-Stars of softball, who will meet the "King and His Court," a nation-touring four-man team, here April 17, have been selected by Sam Rubin Jr., who will manage a full nine-man aggreation against the visitors.

The game is being offered here for the benefit of Little League baseball, all proceeds being dedicated to use in completion of the Little League park here.

Rubin announced his squad as including Danny Sullivan, C. J. Fontana, J. R. Hood, Jimmy George, Theo Finkbeiner, Archie Parker, Jack Dyer, Billy Gimler, "Red"-Holly, David McKenzie, and himself.

Tickets for the game, to be played at Legion Memorial Stadium, are already on sale as Lockhart Sports Shop, Hunt and Whitaker's Sporting Goods, and R. and A. Jewelry.

The "King and His Court" is led by Eddie Feigner, the softball pitching wizard, who offers an exhibition specialty of striking out batters while blindfolded. He has pitched a total of 246 no-hit games during his softball career, had notched 16,212 strikeouts at the last reports, and struck out 469 out of 591 batters pitched to while blindfolded.

Although Feigner's team uses only four players to the nine for their opponents, his last report showed 271 wins, 25 ties, and 51 defeats.

Rebels Tumble To Notre Dame By 6-5 Margin

UNIVERSITY, Miss., April 4 (AP) — Notre Dame combined nine walks, seven errors and five hits to score a 6-5 baseball victory over the University of Mississippi today.

Three Mississippi pitchers limited the touring Mid-Westerners to five singles and one earned run. But the seven errors were costly.

Notre Dame put down a ninth inning rally one run short of tying the score. Pitcher Stan Konopca, who relieved in the seventh, saved the game when he got the last Mississippi batter, Al Bullock, to fly out and leave a teammate stranded on second.

Karl Ott led Mississippi's 12-hit attack with three singles.

Monroe To Face Augusta's Sally Leaguers Today

Manager Charley Harrington takes the wraps off his Monroe Sports here this afternoon when the Cotton States Leaguers launch their exhibition schedule against the Sally League's Augusta Rams at 3 o'clock at Legion Memorial Stadium.

The Rams, after a three - day break in their own exhibition slate, will be preparing to wind up their training grind in Monroe as, after nearly three weeks here, the Rams will pull out after a Monday date with Louisiana Tech to start their exhibition tour back to Georgia.

The Monroe date for Augusta was originally billed for the Sports, but was later filled by Tech in an adjustment of schedules for Monroe and Augusta.

The Sports make exhibition appearances Tuesday and Wednesday against Alexandria of the Evangeline League, the first here and the second in Alexandria.

Manager Lou Fitzgerald has tagged Marvin Garlock and Mel Tappe to share the pitching chores for the Rams today. Harrington expects to use Evans Blanton, Gene Summerlin, and Roy Sorenson.

Ottis "Jake" Jacobs, ex - Monroe chunker, is Skipper Fitzgerald's choice to pitch the Monday game against the Sports.

Both clubs got in good workouts yesterday at Legion stadium in ideal spring weather, and the rival managers wasted no time deciding on their lineups for today's contest.

Baltimore Colts Entice Canadian Gridder For '53

BALTIMORE, April 4 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts pulled a snappy reverse on Canadian football interests today by announcing they had signed Hel Embree, star Winnipeg end, to play on this side of the border.

The Announcement helped soothe Colt fans who were disappointed earlier this year when Canadian teams grabbed off the Baltimore club's two top draft choices in the National Football League, Oklahoma Halfback Billy Vessels and Purdue End Bernie Flowers.

Embree, a lithe Negro product of Pepperdine College at Los Angeles, was a sensation when he broke in with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in 1951. After a contract squabble which kept him out of action the first half of last Season, he returned to Winnipeg and scored five touchdowns in four games.

Ray Richards, Colts line coach, said Embree was a "sure thing" to make the grade in the United States brand of professional football. Richards was head coach at Pepperdine when Embree played there.

Zaharias Holds Lead, But Suggs Gaining Ground

BEAUMONT, Tex., April. 4.—(AP)— Babe Zaharias today turned in another one under men's par 71 to keep a stroke lead in the $3,500 women's golf tournament that bears her name. She had a two day total of 142 to keep ahead of Louise Suggs of Atlanta.

Miss Suggs shot a record 31 on the front nine otday, then came through with a 35 on the back nine for a 66 and a two day total of 143.

Polly Riley of Fort Worth was low amateur with 158.

Jackie Pung, Glasgow, Ky., turned in a 72 today for a 147 total good for third place, a stroke better than Patty Berg, St. Andrews, Ill., who had a 73 today.

Little Loop Leaders Meet Here Tuesday

A meeting of directors of Little League baseball in Monroe and West Monroe will be held here Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at Monroe Recreation Center.

The directors are completing plans for their third year of operation here, expanding from one to three leagues of four clubs each.

KEEN TEEN—Diane Garrett of Houston, Tex., gives women's amateur golf a bright new face. Playing since she was 12, the brown-haired 15-year-old copped the Houston women's crown, now shoots for major championships. (NEA).

Mrs. Long Takes Women's Good Neighbor Crown

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 4 (AP)—Mrs. Thelma Long, Sydney, Australia, won the women's singles title in the fifth annual Good Neighbor Tennis Championships at Miami Beach today by defeating Melita Ramirez, Mexico's No. 1 woman player, 6-4, 7-5.

Mrs. Long took advantage of the net for many placements against the diminutive Mexican player whose lack of height confined her game primarily to the base line.

In a men's semi-final singles match Gardnar Mulloy, Miami, again turned back Hamilton Richardson, Baton Rouge, La. Mulloy beat Richardson in a semi-final at Forrest Hills last summer, the last time they met.

Mulloy, suffering from a pulled chest muscle, received in a fall during a doubles match yesterday, dropped the first set to Richardson at 3-6 but ran out the following two 6-3, 6-2.

Mulloy and Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, ranked one and two nationally, meet Sunday for the men's singles.

Seixas, who has lost twice this year to Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., third ranking player in the country, got his second wind of the young season over Larsen in the semi-final, 6-3, 6-4.

Monte Ganger and W. Fulton, both of Cleveland, O., won the finals of the men's senior doubles with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over I. R. Rosenhauf and Henry Balaban, both of Miami.

Larsen and Tony Vincent, Coral Gables, Fla., beat Sidney Schwartz, Fort Lee, Va., and Richardson, 6-4, 6-4, in a doubles semi-final match. They will play Mulloy and Seixas in the finals Sunday.

Miss Ramirez and Gustavo Palafox, both of Mexico City and the defending champions, defeated Mildred Thornton, Ormond Beach, Fla., and Dan Sullivan, St. Petersburg, Fla., 6-1, 6-3, in a mixed doubles semi-final. They will meet Mrs. Long and Jerry Moss, Miami Beach, in Sunday's finals.

Illinois Shines At Relays

Elixir Captures Fort Lauderdale By Four Lengths

MIAMI, Fla., April. 4. (AP)— Dave Schneider's Elixir won the $15,000 Fort Lauderdale Handicap by four lengths while being taken under restraint through the final sixteenth mile before 16,732 spectators at Gulfstream Park today.

The five-year old campaigner, who had failed to win since the Robert E. Lee Handicap last Jan. 3 at Tropical Park, returned to his best form as he covered the mile and a sixteenth in 1:43 two-fifth's without being seriously menaced through the stretch.

Mrs. J. P. Keezek's Abbe Sting was second, two lengths ahead of Joe Gavegnano's Pensava which raced coupled in the betting with W. E. Brown's Bank Coal as the favored entry at 5 to 2.

P. J. McMullen's Dry Run was three quarters of a length out of the money. Elixir paid $13.90.

Blue Stone farm's War Phar shaved a full second from the track record and came within one fifth of a second of the world mark for 5½ furlongs as he scored a four length triumph in the $6,000 Dinner Key Handicap, the supporting feature.

The five-year-old gelding, an offspring of Easy Mon and War Jitters, ran the sprint in 1:03 one-fifth. The world record is held by Nance's Ace and she established the standard at Tropical Park Dec., 27, 1944.

The track record was set by Soldier Son this season. War Phar outran Pat's Pal by four lengths and was eased through the final 70 yards by Logan Batcheller or else he may have set a new record. Whiffenpoof was third ahead of Easy Whirl. War Phar returned $4.30.

Exhibition Dog Handling Class Offered Today

Instruction in handling of show dogs will be conducted by members of the Northeast Louisiana Kennel Club here this afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock at Forsythe Park.

The classes are being conducted by officials of the kennel club to acquaint dog owners with the proper techniques in showing their dogs.

By familiarizing owners with the show ring procedures, the club expects to attract more dog owners to their second sanction match to be held Sunday afternoon, April 19, at the Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds, West Monroe.

Entry blanks for owners desiring to enter their dogs in the show are being made available by Frank Cain of radio station KNOE.

City Softball Circuit Meets

The City Softball League, major circuit of its kind for the Twin Cities, will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at Monroe Recreation Center to continue organizational plans for the 1953 season.

Managers of all prospective clubs are especially required to attend, according to Jack Hesketh, recreation director. It is planned to open the City League season about May 4.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 4 (AP)—Records were broken all over the place today as Illinois' Big Ten champions outlasted Michigan and Oklahoma A and M. to take the unofficial team title in the sixth annual Southern Relays.

The Illini grabbed the two-mile and 440-yard relay titles, plus a one-two finish in the 102-yard high hurdles, and numerous points in other events.

An unofficial tabulation of team points, with 12 points in relay races and nine in individual events, gave these totals for the leaders:

Illinois 32 7-12; Oklahoma A. and M., 26; Michigan 24¼; Cornell 14; Florida 14.

Joe McNulty, Illinois, set a new record in the high hurdles at 14.1, erasing the old mark set by Fleming of Notre Dame in 1949.

The two-mile relay team of Walt Jewsbury, Ocie Trimble, Gene Maynard and Stacey Siders also cracked that record, with a mark of 7:41.7, beating the mark of 7:43.8 set by Yale in 1950.

Illinois' Siders outsprinted Georgetown's Vincent Kelly to take the event by a couple of yards in one of the day's best races.

Florida's "Papa" Hall broke the meet high jump mark with a leap of 6 feet, 8⅜ inches for one of the day's top jobs. The old record of 6 feet, 6⅜ inches was set by Neff of Tennessee two years ago.

Other records broken during the day included the half mile relay, won by Cornell's foursome in 1:7.26 to erase the 1.27.8 set by L. S. U. in 1951, and a 9:28.6 two-mile run by Frederick Eckhoff of Oklahoma A. and M., beating the old mark of 9:40.7 by Hart of Pennsylvania.

Paul Wells of the Oklahoma Aggies tied the 9:6 record for the 100-yard dash set by Paul Bienz of Tulane in 1949.

Michigan's strong team won the distance medley relay, in another nose-out of Georgetown, and Fritz Nilsson won both the shot put and the discus for the Wolverines.

A major surprise came in the pole vault, a tie at 13 feet, 10 inches between Ohio State's Jerry Welbourn and Florida's freshman, Earl Poucher, brother of the Southeastern Conference record holder.

The Oklahoma Aggies took the sprint medley relay in a close finish with Illinois and finished a couple of steps behind Cornell's winning time of 3:17.9 in the mile relay.

Florida's Ken Busing won the javelin crown with a throw of 185 feet, 3 inches.

The meet drew some 1400 entries, including scores from high schools and grade schools. Thirty-two colleges were represented.

Uncle Edgar Claims Lincoln Downs Race

LINCOLN, R. I., April 4 (AP)—F. M. Poncelet's seven-year-old Uncle Edgar, came fast along the rail in the homestretch to nip M. G. Doherty's Grandma Josie by a head in the mile and a sixteenth feature race today at Lincoln Downs.

Second choice of the 29,000 crowd, Uncle Edgar turned the distance in 1:46 4-5. Maurice Zipkin's Gallant Junior showed, a half length back of Grandma Josie and two lengths in front of Henry Forest's Metropolis. The Red Head stable's favored Futuresque was last in the six-horse field.

Uncle Edgar paid $7.40, $3.80 and $3.20.

Ten Undefeated Boxers Compete In NCAA Fights

POCATELLO, Idaho, April. 4.—(AP)— At least 11 fighters will risk perfect ring records as they battle in a field of nearly 70 in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's boxing tournament here next week.

Sixteen schools have entered 65 boxers with more expected before the battling starts Thursday. Elimination bouts Thursday afternoon and evening will pare the total of 36--four for each weight class.

Semi - finals Friday night will leave just 18 in the lists for the Saturday night championships.

Entries include at least 11 boxers who have yet to meet defeat this season and tournament officials say there may be others. Topnotch record is that of Vincent Rigolosi, 165-pound Eastern Collegiate champion who represents Syracuse University. But Rigolosi--who has won 10 straight—will have tough opposition with another unbeaten fighter, Tom Hickey, Michigan State.

Other entrants unbeaten this season include Ellsworth Webb, Idaho State College's Olympic fighter who is defending his 1952 title in the 156-pound class.

Two unbeaten battlers are entered at 178 pounds, Adam Kois, Penn State, and Don Quarles, North Carolina A. and T. There are two more at 125 pounds, John Randell, Minnesota, and Roland Walton, North Carolina A and T, and two others at 132 pounds, Robert York, Minnesota, and Dave Miyagawa, Wisconsin.

Emmett Guerney, South Carolina, at 147 pounds, and Bob Hinds, Wisconsin's heavyweight, also will carry unbeaten records into the meet.

Wisconsin's defending national champions will make a strong bid to retain their crown. The Badgers entered a seven-man team, headed by Bob Morgan, who won a national title last year at 147 pounds. Morgan has gained weight since then and fights this year at 156 pounds, the class in which he may meet Idaho State's Webb, Pacific Coast champion for two years and a member of the 1952 Olympic team.

The NCAA selections committee will arrive in Cocatello Sunday to match the fighters for elimination bouts. Preliminaries will be necessary in all weight classes. With the field not yet complete six entries each were listed at 119 and 125 pounds; seven each at 132, 156 and 165 pounds; eight each at 139, 147 and in the heavyweight class and 10 in the 178-pound division.

Among the 119 pounders is a 4-foot-11-inch midget from Maryland, Gary Garber, who is an all-army champion and winner of a New Orleans Sugar Bowl title.

One of University of Virginia's fighters is Robert Potter, captain-elect of the Virginia football team, who fights at 156 pounds. Potter has been beaten only once in eight 1953 fights.

South Carolina is expected to be the first out-of-state team on hand for the meet with the Southerners due here Monday.

Loyola, Illinois Share Baseball Double Header

NEW ORLEANS, April 4 (AP) — Illinois handed Loyola its first baseball shutout of the season 5-0 today but the New Orleans school took the nightcap 4-1.

Clive Folimer, Illinois righthander, set Loyola down on six hits in the opener. Loyola failed to get a man beyond second base.

Loyola's southpaw freshman John Spansel hurled a two - hitter in the afterpiece for his second victory of the season. Illinois got five men on base — two on hits, two on errors and one on a walk.

Move Underway To Keep Browns On St. Louis Soil

ST. LOUIS, April 4 (AP)—A group of business men met today and organized to make plans for a possible purchase of the St. Louis Browns to assure that the club remains in St. Louis.

J. Herndon Kirkland, head of a travel agency, was named chairman of the group and Willis E. Johnson, who was traveling secretary of the Browns for nearly 25 years, was named secretary.

Kirkland said neither President Bill Veeck nor any other official of the Browns has been contacted by the group. Veeck in traveling with the club in Texas.

If enough enthusiasm is shown and a deal can be negotiated, Kirkland said, stock will be sold to small investors. These investors would be protected against a transfer of the club by a provision that would require approval of 75 per cent of the stockholders before the club could be moved.

The group which met today is made up of business men "who are aware of the tremendous financial loss that St. Louis would suffer if the Browns were to be transferred from St. Louis," Kirkland said. Their names were not disclosed.

Kirkland said that in the event of a purchase, the group would be interested in selling Sportsman's Park to Anheuser-Busch, Inc., which recently bought the St. Louis Cardinals.

"The Browns would then become the rental team with the Cardinals as landlord, which is a reversal of the present set - up," Kirkland said.

Veeck's plan to transfer the club to Baltimore for the 1953 season was turned down by other American League club owners.

Mrs. McCormick Gives Up Crown As Diving Queen

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April. 4. (AP)— Mrs. Pat McCormick, world's foremost woman diver, was dethroned in the National AAU women's in-door swimming and diving meet today.

She hit the board earlier in the day while trying an intricate dive and lost 55 points.

Paula Jean Myers, 18, Covina, Calif., teammate of Mrs. McCormick on the Los Angeles Athletic Club swim team and runner-up to her in the Nationals and Olympics last year, took the diving crown with a point total of 507.45.

Mrs. McCormick placed third with 483.25.

As the three-day event ended, Walter Reed Hospital team, Washington, D.C., topped team standings with 62; and Carolyn Green, Ft. Lauderdale Swim Assn., led individuals with 18 points.

The other highlight of the final day was the swimming of Gail Peters, 22, who retained her 100-yard breaststroke title; placed fifth in the 250-yard freestyle and then swam the breaststroke to lead her Walter Reed Hospital team to victory in the 300-yard medley relay.

The dive that killed Mrs. McCormick's chance to retain her title was a difficult specialty: a half gainer with a half twist forward one and a half somersault in pike position.

She apparently took off a little too far back on the diving board and didn't get enough loft. She hit both legs as she came down, ruining the dive completely. It put her in fifth place but she climbed back to third in the afternoon finals.

Mrs. McCormick won all five national titles in 1951 and 1952 and took both Olympic diving titles. She had not been beaten in three years.

The other individual leaders behind Miss Green were Miss Peters with 16; Mary Freeman, Walter Reed, 15; and Barbara Stark, Berkeley, Calif., Women's City Club, 14.

The team standings after Walter Reed were Lafayette, Ind., swim club 49; Los Angeles Athletic Club, 27; Chicago Community Builders Swim Club, 27 (Tie); Indianapolis, Ind., Athletic Club, 26; Berkeley Women's City Club, 26 (Tie); Ft. Lauderdale Swim Assn., 24; San Francisco Crystal Plunge Swim Club 12; Multnomah Athletic Club, Portland, Ore., 10; Chicago Lake Shore Club 7; Atlanta, Ga., Athletic Club 6; Columbia Athletic Club, Portland, Ore., 5; American Turners, Detroit 3; Newark, N. J., Athletic Club 2.

2 Rookies Assigned To Pine Bluff Club

ST. LOUIS, April 4 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns today announced the signing of six players from those attending the team's school at Thomasville, Ga., this spring.

Pitchers Frank Curorke, 19, Coatesville, Pa. and Ruben Saager, 22, Poynette, Wis.; infielder Lawrence Kijak, 19, Chicago, and outfielder Jerry Straver, W[illegible]ville, O., were assigned to the [illegible] Okla., Class D team.

Pitcher Bernard Felb[illegible] Kensington, Pa., and [illegible]man Clarence Kierw[illegible] Springs, Miss., we[illegible] the Pine Bluff, A[illegible] Ark., Class C[illegible] Club.

One Scribe's Impressions

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP)—Impressions of a wandering baseball writer returned home after six weeks of sojourning among 11 of the 16 major league camps in Florida and Havana, Cuba:

Best club — Brooklyn Dodgers.

Worst club — Pittsburgh Pirates.

Most improved club — Milwaukee Braves.

Most surprising club — Detroit Tigers. (Won 13 of 1st 18 exhibitions)

Best hitters — Stan Musial, Cardinals, Duke Snider, Dodgers, Jack Jensen, Senators.

Longest hitter — Eddie Mathews Braves.

Best pitcher — Robin Roberts, Phillies.

Best rookies (pitcher) — Marion Fricano, Athletics; Bob Buhl, Braves and Johnny Podres, Dodgers.

Most improved players — Owen Friend, Tigers; Johnny Logan, Braves, and Jimmy Piersall, Red Sox.

Greatest hustler — Enos Slaughter, Cardinals.

Greatest comebacks — (infielder) Earl Torgeson, Phillies; (outfielder) Gil Coan, Senators; (pitcher) Jim Konstanty, Phillies.

Best fielder — (infielder) Roy McMillan, Reds; (outfielder Jimmy Piersall, Red Sox.

Fastest runner — Bill (Will-O-The-Whisp) Bruton, Braves.

Best hitting feat — rookie Catcher Ed Bailey's 5-for-5 for the Reds against the Phils on March 10, day before he returned to Fort Jackson, S. C. to receive his army discharge. Bailey hammered two home runs, two doubles and a single and drove in six runs.

Best fielding feat — outfielder Carl Furillo's two sensational catches for Brooklyn to preserve the Dodgers' 1-0 victory over the Yankees on March 9.2 Carl made a sensational leaping, over-the-shoulder catch of Don Bollweg's 400 - foot drive to right center in the second inning and followed with a diving shoestring catch of Phil Rizzuto's low liner in the third.

Best pitching feat — Carl Erskine's two - hitter for Brooklyn in the Dodgers' 8-0 triumph over the Athletics on March 3.2 The righthander walked only one and faced only 30 batters in going the route.

Best group pitching — rookies Johnny Podres, Bob Milliken, Glen Mickens and sophomore Billy Loes of the Dodgers yielded four runs, none of them earned, over a stretch of 44 innings. Podres hurled 24 innings without giving up an earned run. He allowed only 10 hits, walked eight and fanned 14.

Biggest surprise — rookie Junior Gilliam ousting Jackie Robinson from the second base to take over the regular job with the Dodgers.

Biggest pitching disappoint — (individual) Harry Byrd, Athletics (team) Red Sox.

Most unusual episode — The Braves, on March 18, started the game against the Yankees as Boston Braves and finished as Milwaukee (Braves). Boston led 3-0 until the sixth inning when news of the league's approval of the club's transfer was announced. Yankees scored five runs in sixth against Milwaukee and won, 5-3.

Most mortifying incident — Pirates arrived at Gran Stadium, Havana, on evening of March 23, only to discover that the Cuban All-Stars, their opponents, had failed to show up. Had to play an intro-squad to satisfy the 500 customers.

Biggest rhubarb — either the Ralph Kiner - Branch Rickey counter accusations and charges during their salary squabble or the dissention stories seeping out of the Dodger camp over the "who's on third?" act involving Billy Cox and Jackie Robinson. Take your pick.

Most ambitious announcement—Steve O'Neill's statement that he intended to work his three top pitchers — Robin Roberts, Curt Simmons and Karl Drews — every fourth day with three days' rest between starts and his expectation for each to hurl at least 350 innings this year. Last pitcher to reach 350 innings or better was Bob Feller with 371 in 1946.

Toughest break — eye ailment of Dom DiMaggio and lame arm of Hoot Evers shelves two - thirds of Red Sox outfield and two of team's best hitters.

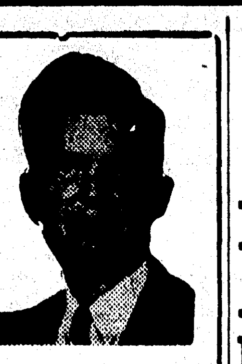
Funniest cracks — "He hits 'em where they ain't — ain't throwing the ball." — By Manager Bucky Harris about one of his weak-hitting Washington outfielders.

"Branch Rickey, he say his team be great in three - four years. Maybe so. But if I hungry now, and got to wait three years to eat, I starve to death." — By Mike Gonzales, former Cardinal coach now owner of Havana Reds in Cuba.

Most publicized itch — Mickey Mantle's rash that sidelined the Yankee outfielder for more than two weeks

Sports Face Rams In Exhibition Opener

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over



Bayou DeSiard Country Club is launching another season of golf for its members with the first round of the Cramer Haas Memorial Handicap Golf Tournament today. Of all the kinds of tournaments we have had in the Twin Cities of varying names, the Cramer Haas Memorial is one we would like most to see continue forever.

To those of us who knew Cramer through his school days here and into young manhood, the Bayou DeSiard event serves as a perpetual memorial not only to a soldier who served his country well, but to a model of the perfection in youth, a good student, a top-flight competitor as one of his hometown's amateur golfers, and a promising businessman who made the supreme sacrifice.

Cramer Haas was 28 years old that November day in 1944 when he fell on Leyte Island while serving with Company Eight of the Twenty First Infantry of the Twenty-Fourth Division.

A graduate of the Class of 1933, Neville High School, he early made golf one of his hobbies. Twice he won the annual Kraft Paper Tournament at Bastrop, and was high in other tournaments conducted here by the old Lakeside Country Club, Municipal Golf Club, and McGuire Park Club.

Bayou DeSiard Country Club's course was never to be tested by the young golfer. But the men and women who organized the new country club after World War II was over have given him the kind of memorial few soldiers ever attain. A plaque in some darkened hall or a stone marker in some spot where, in passing time, it becomes taken for granted could have been erected by his golfing friends, but a tournament that bears Cramer Haas' name annually refreshes the memory of his acquaintances with full force. Another more fitting tribute could not have been established for Cramer Haas.

The incident of Charles "Chuck" Slaber, the El Dorado lefthander who was briefly with the Augusta Rams in spring training here, brought respectful comment from Ottis "Jake" Jacobs, Monroe's 20-game winner of last year, now on the Augusta roster, and Nels Daehn, the Sports' classy rookie of '52, who is figured to be a mainspring in the Monroe machinery this year.

When Slaber, who hurled a matching six-hitter with Jacobs in the last regular game of the season last year before Jake won out 1-0, reported to Augusta under condition to buy if the Rams decided to keep him, Jacobs declared: "At least I won't have to pitch against the guy.

After the Rams sent "Chuck" back to the Oilers, Daehn wasn't kidding when he exclamined: "Just my luck. Now I'll have to bat against that left-handed pitching again." Daehn says his batting average suffered every time he had to face Slaber. Just the same, the Monroe gardener had a season's batting average of .296, exceptionally good for a rookie year.

The campaign for reorganization of the American Legion Junior baseball program for the Fifth District of Louisiana gathers steam this afternoon when representatives of American Legion posts of the northeast section of the state meet with District Chairman Bob McNeely at the Legion Home here.

Legion baseball, first organized in the 1920s, has enjoyed its best years in this section only in the past six or eight years, considering the interest shown by a majority of the districts' posts. For many years the northeastern area of the state could boast only two or three teams. Where Monroe and Ruston were for years about the only contenders around here, the last few seasons have seen Legion Junior clubs supported by Ferriday, Winnsboro, Bastrop, Oak Grove, Tallulah, Jonesville, Columbia, Farmerville, West Monroe, Jonesboro, Delhi and Rayville. The district claimed its first state champion last year when Monroe went all the way, and McNeely forsees another banner campaign for his district when play starts late in May.

Pick Monroe All-Stars To Play 'King's Court'

The Monroe All-Stars of softball, who will meet the "King and His Court," a nation-touring four-man team, here April 17, have been selected by Sam Rubin Jr., who will manage a full nine-man aggreation against the visitors.

The game is being offered here for the benefit of Little League baseball, all proceeds being dedicated to use in completion of the Little League park here.

Rubin announced his squad as including Danny Sullivan, C. J. Fontana, J. R. Hood, Jimmy George, Theo Finkbeiner, Archie Parker, Jack Dyer, Billy Gimler, "Red"-Holly, David McKenzie, and himself.

Tickets for the game, to be played at Legion Memorial Stadium, are already on sale as Lockhart Sports Shop, Hunt and Whitaker's Sporting Goods, and R. and A. Jewelry.

The "King and His Court" is led by Eddie Feigner, the softball pitching wizard, who offers an exhibition specialty of striking out batters while blindfolded. He has pitched a total of 246 no-hit games during his softball career, had notched 16,212 strikeouts at the last reports, and struck out 469 out of 591 batters pitched to while blindfolded.

Although Feigner's team uses only four players to the nine for their opponents, his last report showed 271 wins, 25 ties, and 51 defeats.

Rebels Tumble To Notre Dame By 6-5 Margin

UNIVERSITY, Miss., April 4 (AP) — Notre Dame combined nine walks, seven errors and five hits to score a 6-5 baseball victory over the University of Mississippi today.

Three Mississippi pitchers limited the touring Mid-Westerners to five singles and one earned run. But the seven errors were costly.

Notre Dame put down a ninth inning rally one run short of tying the score. Pitcher Stan Konopca, who relieved in the seventh, saved the game when he got the last Mississippi batter, Al Bullock, to fly out and leave a teammate stranded on second.

Karl Ott led Mississippi's 12-hit attack with three singles.

Monroe To Face Augusta's Sally Leaguers Today

Manager Charley Harrington takes the wraps off his Monroe Sports here this afternoon when the Cotton States Leaguers launch their exhibition schedule against the Sally League's Augusta Rams at 3 o'clock at Legion Memorial Stadium.

The Rams, after a three - day break in their own exhibition slate, will be preparing to wind up their training grind in Monroe as, after nearly three weeks here, the Rams will pull out after a Monday date with Louisiana Tech to start their exhibition tour back to Georgia.

The Monroe date for Augusta was originally billed for the Sports, but was later filled by Tech in an adjustment of schedules for Monroe and Augusta.

The Sports make exhibition appearances Tuesday and Wednesday against Alexandria of the Evangeline League, the first here and the second in Alexandria.

Manager Lou Fitzgerald has tagged Marvin Garlock and Mel Tappe to share the pitching chores for the Rams today. Harrington expects to use Evans Blanton, Gene Summerlin, and Roy Sorenson.

Ottis "Jake" Jacobs, ex - Monroe chunker, is Skipper Fitzgerald's choice to pitch the Monday game against the Sports.

Both clubs got in good workouts yesterday at Legion stadium in ideal spring weather, and the rival managers wasted no time deciding on their lineups for today's contest.

Baltimore Colts Entice Canadian Gridder For '53

BALTIMORE, April 4 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts pulled a snappy reverse on Canadian football interests today by announcing they had signed Hel Embree, star Winnipeg end, to play on this side of the border.

The Announcement helped soothe Colt fans who were disappointed earlier this year when Canadian teams grabbed off the Baltimore club's two top draft choices in the National Football League, Oklahoma Halfback Billy Vessels and Purdue End Bernie Flowers.

Embree, a lithe Negro product of Pepperdine College at Los Angeles, was a sensation when he broke in with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in 1951. After a contract squabble which kept him out of action the first half of last Season, he returned to Winnipeg and scored five touchdowns in four games.

Ray Richards, Colts line coach, said Embree was a "sure thing" to make the grade in the United States brand of professional football. Richards was head coach at Pepperdine when Embree played there.

Zaharias Holds Lead, But Suggs Gaining Ground

BEAUMONT, Tex., April. 4.—(AP)— Babe Zaharias today turned in another one under men's par 71 to keep a stroke lead in the $3,500 women's golf tournament that bears her name. She had a two day total of 142 to keep ahead of Louise Suggs of Atlanta.

Miss Suggs shot a record 31 on the front nine otday, then came through with a 35 on the back nine for a 66 and a two day total of 143.

Polly Riley of Fort Worth was low amateur with 158.

Jackie Pung, Glasgow, Ky., turned in a 72 today for a 147 total good for third place, a stroke better than Patty Berg, St. Andrews, Ill., who had a 73 today.

Little Loop Leaders Meet Here Tuesday

A meeting of directors of Little League baseball in Monroe and West Monroe will be held here Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at Monroe Recreation Center.

The directors are completing plans for their third year of operation here, expanding from one to three leagues of four clubs each.

KEEN TEEN—Diane Garrett of Houston, Tex., gives women's amateur golf a bright new face. Playing since she was 12, the brown-haired 15-year-old copped the Houston women's crown, now shoots for major championships. (NEA).

Mrs. Long Takes Women's Good Neighbor Crown

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 4 (AP)—Mrs. Thelma Long, Sydney, Australia, won the women's singles title in the fifth annual Good Neighbor Tennis Championships at Miami Beach today by defeating Melita Ramirez, Mexico's No. 1 woman player, 6-4, 7-5.

Mrs. Long took advantage of the net for many placements against the diminutive Mexican player whose lack of height confined her game primarily to the base line.

In a men's semi-final singles match Gardnar Mulloy, Miami, again turned back Hamilton Richardson, Baton Rouge, La. Mulloy beat Richardson in a semi-final at Forrest Hills last summer, the last time they met.

Mulloy, suffering from a pulled chest muscle, received in a fall during a doubles match yesterday, dropped the first set to Richardson at 3-6 but ran out the following two 6-3, 6-2.

Mulloy and Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, ranked one and two nationally, meet Sunday for the men's singles.

Seixas, who has lost twice this year to Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., third ranking player in the country, got his second wind of the young season over Larsen in the semi-final, 6-3, 6-4.

Monte Ganger and W. Fulton, both of Cleveland, O., won the finals of the men's senior doubles with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over I. R. Rosenhauf and Henry Balaban, both of Miami.

Larsen and Tony Vincent, Coral Gables, Fla., beat Sidney Schwartz, Fort Lee, Va., and Richardson, 6-4, 6-4, in a doubles semifinal match. They will play Mulloy and Seixas in the finals Sunday.

Miss Ramirez and Gustavo Palafox, both of Mexico City and the defending champions, defeated Mildred Thornton, Ormond Beach, Fla., and Dan Sullivan, St. Petersburg, Fla., 6-1, 6-3, in a mixed doubles semi-final. They will meet Mrs. Long and Jerry Moss, Miami Beach, in Sunday's finals.

Illinois Shines At Relays

Elixir Captures Fort Lauderdale By Four Lengths

MIAMI, Fla., April. 4. (AP)— Dave Schneider's Elixir won the $15,000 Fort Lauderdale Handicap by four lengths while being taken under restraint through the final sixteenth mile before 16,732 spectators at Gulfstream Park today.

The five-year old campaigner, who had failed to win since the Robert E. Lee Handicap last Jan. 3 at Tropical Park, returned to his best form as he covered the mile and a sixteenth in 1:43 two-fifth's without being seriously menaced through the stretch.

Mrs. J. P. Keezek's Abbe Sting was second, two lengths ahead of Joe Gavegnano's Pensava which raced coupled in the betting with W. E. Brown's Bank Coal as the favored entry at 5 to 2.

P. J. McMullen's Dry Run was three quarters of a length out of the money. Elixir paid $13.90.

Blue Stone farm's War Phar shaved a full second from the track record and came within one fifth of a second of the world mark for 5½ furlongs as he scored a four length triumph in the $6,000 Dinner Key Handicap, the supporting feature.

The five-year-old gelding, an offspring of Easy Mon and War Jitters, ran the sprint in 1:03 one-fifth. The world record is held by Nance's Ace and she established the standard at Tropical Park Dec., 27, 1944.

The track record was set by Soldier Son this season. War Phar outran Pat's Pal by four lengths and was eased through the final 70 yards by Logan Batcheller or else he may have set a new record. Whiffenpoof was third ahead of Easy Whirl. War Phar returned $4.30.

Exhibition Dog Handling Class Offered Today

Instruction in handling of show dogs will be conducted by members of the Northeast Louisiana Kennel Club here this afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock at Forsythe Park.

The classes are being conducted by officials of the kennel club to acquaint dog owners with the proper techniques in showing their dogs.

By familiarizing owners with the show ring procedures, the club expects to attract more dog owners to their second sanction match to be held Sunday afternoon, April 19, at the Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds, West Monroe.

Entry blanks for owners desiring to enter their dogs in the show are being made available by Frank Cain of radio station KNOE.

City Softball Circuit Meets

The City Softball League, major circuit of its kind for the Twin Cities, will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at Monroe Recreation Center to continue organizational plans for the 1953 season.

Managers of all prospective clubs are especially required to attend, according to Jack Hesketh, recreation director. It is planned to open the City League season about May 4.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 4 (AP)—Records were broken all over the place today as Illinois' Big Ten champions outlasted Michigan and Oklahoma A and M. to take the unofficial team title in the sixth annual Southern Relays.

The Illini grabbed the two-mile and 440-yard relay titles, plus a one-two finish in the 102-yard high hurdles, and numerous points in other events.

An unofficial tabulation of team points, with 12 points in relay races and nine in individual events, gave these totals for the leaders:

Illinois 32 7-12; Oklahoma A. and M., 26; Michigan 24¼; Cornell 14; Florida 14.

Joe McNulty, Illinois, set a new record in the high hurdles at 14.1, erasing the old mark set by Fleming of Notre Dame in 1949.

The two-mile relay team of Walt Jewsbury, Ocie Trimble, Gene Maynard and Stacey Siders also cracked that record, with a mark of 7:41.7, beating the mark of 7:43.8 set by Yale in 1950.

Illinois' Siders outsprinted Georgetown's Vincent Kelly to take the event by a couple of yards in one of the day's best races.

Florida's "Papa" Hall broke the meet high jump mark with a leap of 6 feet, 8⅜ inches for one of the day's top jobs. The old record of 6 feet, 6⅜ inches was set by Neff of Tennessee two years ago.

Other records broken during the day included the half mile relay, won by Cornell's foursome in 1:7.26 to erase the 1.27.8 set by L. S. U. in 1951, and a 9:28.6 two-mile run by Frederick Eckhoff of Oklahoma A. and M., beating the old mark of 9:40.7 by Hart of Pennsylvania.

Paul Wells of the Oklahoma Aggies tied the 9:6 record for the 100-yard dash set by Paul Bienz of Tulane in 1949.

Michigan's strong team won the distance medley relay, in another nose-out of Georgetown, and Fritz Nilsson won both the shot put and the discus for the Wolverines.

A major surprise came in the pole vault, a tie at 13 feet, 10 inches between Ohio State's Jerry Welbourn and Florida's freshman, Earl Poucher, brother of the Southeastern Conference record holder.

The Oklahoma Aggies took the sprint medley relay in a close finish with Illinois and finished a couple of steps behind Cornell's winning time of 3:17.9 in the mile relay.

Florida's Ken Busing won the javelin crown with a throw of 185 feet, 3 inches.

The meet drew some 1400 entries, including scores from high schools and grade schools. Thirty-two colleges were represented.

Uncle Edgar Claims Lincoln Downs Race

LINCOLN, R. I., April 4 (AP)—F. M. Poncelet's seven-year-old Uncle Edgar, came fast along the rail in the homestretch to nip M. G. Doherty's Grandma Josie by a head in the mile and a sixteenth feature race today at Lincoln Downs.

Second choice of the 29,000 crowd, Uncle Edgar turned the distance in 1:46 4-5. Maurice Zipkin's Gallant Junior showed, a half length back of Grandma Josie and two lengths in front of Henry Forest's Metropolis. The Red Head stable's favored Futuresque was last in the six-horse field.

Uncle Edgar paid $7.40, $3.80 and $3.20.

Ten Undefeated Boxers Compete In NCAA Fights

POCATELLO, Idaho, April. 4.—(AP)— At least 11 fighters will risk perfect ring records as they battle in a field of nearly 70 in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's boxing tournament here next week.

Sixteen schools have entered 65 boxers with more expected before the battling starts Thursday. Elimination bouts Thursday afternoon and evening will pare the total of 36—four for each weight class.

Semi - finals Friday night will leave just 18 in the lists for the Saturday night championships.

Entries include at least 11 boxers who have yet to meet defeat this season and tournament officials say there may be others. Topnotch record is that of Vincent Rigolosi, 165-pound Eastern Collegiate champion who represents Syracuse University. But Rigolosi—who has won 10 straight—will have tough opposition with another unbeaten fighter, Tom Hickey, Michigan State.

Other entrants unbeaten this season include Ellsworth Webb, Idaho State College's Olympic fighter who is defending his 1952 title in the 156-pound class.

Two unbeaten battlers are entered at 178 pounds, Adam Kois, Penn State, and Don Quarles, North Carolina A. and T. There are two more at 125 pounds, John Randell, Minnesota, and Roland Walton, North Carolina A and T, and two others at 132 pounds, Robert York, Minnesota, and Dave Miyagawa, Wisconsin.

Emmett Guerney, South Carolina, at 147 pounds, and Bob Hinds, Wisconsin's heavyweight, also will carry unbeaten records into the meet.

Wisconsin's defending national champions will make a strong bid to retain their crown. The Badgers entered a seven-man team, headed by Bob Morgan, who won a national title last year at 147 pounds. Morgan has gained weight since then and fights this year at 156 pounds, the class in which he may meet Idaho State's Webb, Pacific Coast champion for two years and a member of the 1952 Olympic team.

The NCAA selections committee will arrive in Cocatello Sunday to match the fighters for elimination bouts. Preliminaries will be necessary in all weight classes. With the field not yet complete six entries each were listed at 119 and 125 pounds; seven each at 132, 156 and 165 pounds; eight each at 139, 147 and in the heavyweight class and 10 in the 178-pound division.

Among the 119 pounders is a 4-foot-11-inch midget from Maryland, Gary Garber, who is an all-army champion and winner of a New Orleans Sugar Bowl title.

One of University of Virginia's fighters is Robert Potter, captain-elect of the Virginia football team, who fights at 156 pounds. Potter has been beaten only once in eight 1953 fights.

South Carolina is expected to be the first out-of-state team on hand for the meet with the Southerners due here Monday.

Loyola, Illinois Share Baseball Double Header

NEW ORLEANS, April 4 (AP) — Illinois handed Loyola its first baseball shutout of the season 5-0 today but the New Orleans school took the nightcap 4-1.

Clive Follmer, Illinois righthander, set Loyola down on six hits in the opener. Loyola failed to get a man beyond second base.

Loyola's southpaw freshman John Spansel hurled a two - hitter in the afterpiece for his second victory of the season. Illinois got five men on base — two on hits, two on errors and one on a walk.

One Scribe's Impressions

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP)—Impressions of a wandering baseball writer returned home after six weeks of sojourning among 11 of the 16 major league camps in Florida and Havana, Cuba:

Best club — Brooklyn Dodgers.

Worst club — Pittsburgh Pirates.

Most improved club — Milwaukee Braves.

Best hitters — Stan Musial, Cardinals, Duke Snider, Dodgers, Jack Jensen, Senators.

Longest hitter — Eddie Mathews Braves.

Best pitcher — Robin Roberts, Phillies.

Best rookies (pitcher) — Marion Fricano, Athletics; Bob Buhl, Braves and Johnny Podres, Dodgers.

Greatest hustler — Enos Slaughter, Cardinals.

Greatest comebacks — (infielder) Earl Torgeson, Phillies; (outfielder) Gil Coan, Senators; (pitcher) Jim Konstanty, Phillies.

Best fielder — (infielder) Roy McMillan, Reds; (outfielder Jimmy Piersall, Red Sox.

Fastest runner — Bill (Will-O-The-Whisp) Bruton, Braves.

Best hitting feat — rookie Catcher Ed Bailey's 5-for-5 for the Reds against the Phils on March 10, day before he returned to Fort Jackson, S. C. to receive his army discharge. Bailey hammered two home runs, two doubles and a single and drove in six runs.

Best fielding feat — outfielder Carl Furillo's two sensational catches for Brooklyn to preserve the Dodgers' 1-0 victory over the Yankees on March 9.2 Carl made a sensational leaping, over-the-shoulder catch of Don Bollweg's 400 - foot drive to right center in the second inning and followed with a diving shoestring catch of Phil Rizzuto's low liner in the third.

Best pitching feat — Carl Erskine's two - hitter for Brooklyn in the Dodgers' 8-0 triumph over the Athletics on March 3.2 The right-hander walked only one and faced only 30 batters in going the route.

Best group pitching — rookies Johnny Podres, Bob Milliken, Glen Mickens and sophomore Billy Loes of the Dodgers yielded four runs, none of them earned, over a stretch of 44 innings. Podres hurled 24 innings without giving up an earned run. He allowed only 10 hits, walked eight and fanned 14.

Biggest surprise — rookie Junior Gilliam ousting Jackie Robinson from the second base to take over the regular job with the Dodgers.

Biggest pitching disappoint — (individual) Harry Byrd, Athletics (team) Red Sox.

Most unusual episode — The Braves, on March 18, started the game against the Yankees as Boston Braves and finished as Milwaukee (Braves). Boston led 3-0 until the sixth inning when news of the league's approval of the club's transfer was announced. Yankees scored five runs in sixth against Milwaukee and won, 5-3.

Most mortifying incident — Pirates arrived at Gran Stadium, Havana, on evening of March 23, only to discover that the Cuban All-Stars, their opponents, had failed to show up. Had to play an intro-squad to satisfy the 500 customers.

Biggest rhubarb — either the Ralph Kiner - Branch Rickey counter accusations and charges during their salary squabble or the dissention stories seeping out of the Dodger camp over the "who's on third?" act involving Billy Cox and Jackie Robinson. Take your pick.

Most ambitious announcement—Steve O'Neill's statement that he intended to work his three top pitchers — Robin Roberts, Curt Simmons and Karl Drews — every fourth day with three days' rest between starts and his expectation for each to hurl at least 350 innings this year. Last pitcher to reach 350 innings or better was Bob Feller with 371 in 1946.

Toughest break — eye ailment of Dom DiMaggio and lame arm of Hoot Evers shelves two - thirds of Red Sox outfield and two of team's best hitters.

Funniest cracks — "He hits 'em where they ain't — ain't throwing the ball." — By Manager Bucky Harris about one of his weak-hitting Washington outfielders.

"Branch Rickey, he say his team be great in three - four years. Maybe so. But if I hungry now, and got to wait three years to eat, I starve to death." — By Mike Gonzales, former Cardinal coach now owner of Havana Reds in Cuba.

Most publicized itch — Mickey Mantle's rash that sidelined the Yankee outfielder for more than two weeks

Move Underway To Keep Browns On St. Louis Soil

ST. LOUIS, April 4 (AP)—A group of business men met today and organized to make plans for a possible purchase of the St. Louis Browns to assure that the club remains in St. Louis.

J. Herndon Kirkland, head of a travel agency, was named chairman of the group and Willis E. Johnson, who was traveling secretary of the Browns for nearly 25 years, was named secretary.

Kirkland said neither President Bill Veeck nor any other official of the Browns has been contacted by the group. Veeck in traveling with the club in Texas.

If enough enthusiasm is shown and a deal can be negotiated, Kirkland said, stock will be sold to small investors. These investors would be protected against a transfer of the club by a provision that would require approval of 75 per cent of the stockholders before the club could be moved.

The group which met today is made up of business men "who are aware of the tremendous financial loss that St. Louis would suffer if the Browns were to be transferred from St. Louis," Kirkland said. Their names were not disclosed.

Kirkland said that in the event of a purchase, the group would be interested in selling Sportsman's Park to Anheuser-Busch, Inc., which recently bought the St. Louis Cardinals.

"The Browns would then become the rental team with the Cardinals as landlord, which is a reversal of the present set - up," Kirkland said.

Veeck's plan to transfer the club to Baltimore for the 1953 season was turned down by other American League club owners.

Mrs. McCormick Gives Up Crown As Diving Queen

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April. 4. (AP)— Mrs. Pat McCormick, world's foremost woman diver, was dethroned in the National AAU women's in-door swimming and diving meet today.

She hit the board earlier in the day while trying an intricate dive and lost 55 points.

Paula Jean Myers, 18, Covina, Calif., teammate of Mrs. McCormick on the Los Angeles Athletic Club swim team and runner-up to her in the Nationals and Olympics last year, took the diving crown with a point total of 507.45.

Mrs. McCormick placed third with 483.25.

As the three-day event ended, Walter Reed Hospital team, Washington, D.C., topped team standings with 62; and Carolyn Green, Ft. Lauderdale Swim Assn., led individuals with 18 points.

The other highlight of the final day was the swimming of Gail Peters, 22, who retained her 100-yard breaststroke title; placed fifth in the 250-yard freestyle and then swam the breaststroke to lead her Walter Reed Hospital team to victory in the 300-yard medley relay.

The dive that killed Mrs. McCormick's chance to retain her title was a difficult specialty: a half gainer with a half twist forward one and a half somersault in pike position.

She apparently took off a little too far back on the diving board and didn't get enough loft. She hit both legs as she came down, ruining the dive completely. It put her in fifth place but she climbed back to third in the afternoon finals.

Mrs. McCormick won all five national titles in 1951 and 1952 and took both Olympic diving titles. She had not been beaten in three years.

The other individual leaders behind Miss Green were Miss Peters with 16; Mary Freeman, Walter Reed, 15; and Barbara Stark, Berkeley, Calif., Women's City Club, 14.

The team standings after Walter Reed were Lafayette, Ind., swim club 49; Los Angeles Athletic Club, 27; Chicago Community Builders Swim Club, 27 (Tie); Indianapolis, Ind., Athletic Club, 26; Berkeley Women's City Club, 26 (Tie); Ft. Lauderdale Swim Assn., 24; San Francisco Crystal Plunge Swim Club 12; Multnomah Athletic Club, Portland, Ore., 10; Chicago Lake Shore Club 7; Atlanta, Ga., Athletic Club 6; Columbia Athletic Club, Portland, Ore., 5; American Turners, Detroit 3; Newark, N. J., Athletic Club 2.

Palmer Pulls Into Tie With Bolt In Azalea Open

Tightly Bunched Field Ready For Today's Windup

WILMINGTON, N. C., April 4 (AP)—Tommy Bolt remained atop the $10,000 Azalea Open golf tournament field for the third straight day today, but for the second day he had company.

While the Maplewood, N. J., professional was matching par 72 from the 6,652-yard Cape Fear Country Club course Johnny Palmer Canadian Open champion from Charlotte, N. C., came charging up to tie him for the 54-hole lead at 207 with a 69 today.

They were only one stroke ahead of three rivals — Francis (Bo) Wininger, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Ted Kroll, New Hartford N. Y., and Jerry Barber, Lacanada, Calif., going into tomorrow afternoon's final round. Kroll shot a hot 66 today, while Wininger posted 70 and Barber 72.

Four more pros were only two shots back of Bolt and Palmer, setting the stage for a whirlwind race to the wire for the $2,000 top money tomorrow.

Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., the year's top money winner; Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa.; Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., and Fred Wampler, Indianapolis, were the quartet locked at 209. Mangrum and Wampler posted 70s today, Ford and Worsham taking 71.

For three days the field has taken turns in trying to knock Bolt out of the lead, but tenacious Tommy has hung on. He wants this tournament to go along with two earlier victories at San Diego and Tucson and pass Mangrum in the money winning race.

The leaders:

Tommy Bolt, Maplewood, N. J., 66-69-72—207.

Johnny Palmer, Charlotte, N. C. 68-70-69—207.

Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City, Okla., 70-68-70—208.

Jerry Barber, Lacanada, Calif., 71-65-72—208.

Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N. Y. 74-68-66—208.

Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., 69-69-71—209.

Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., 69-69-71—209.

Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., 70-69-70—209.

Fred Wampler, Indianapolis, 67-72-70—209.

Wally Ulrich, Austin, Minn., 67-73-70—210.

Al Smith, Danville, Va., 72-69-69—210.

Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., 63-73-69—210.

Johnny Bulla, Verona, Pa., 69-67-75—211.

1206 Fish Caught Radar Screen Proves How To Do It

"We never saw anything like it," say reporters who viewed our radar screen test off the California coast. "Our radar test screen spotted a school of barracuda 30 feet down feeding on minnows. We lowered a live minnow, scented with Doodle Oil, about ten feet; and the radar screen went crazy as the barries flashed for the scent. Our lines caught ten in less than 30 minutes. Our second test was on sea bass and kelp bass. We put out bait without Doodle Oil and watched the radar screen. No activity so we switched back to the bait perfumed with Doodle Oil and the radar screen went wild. We caught 15 sea bass and several kelp bass in just a few minutes. Fast Field Challenges Snead In Masters Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4 (AP)—Sam Snead, the long ball knocker from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., will defend his title against golfdom's greatest when the annual Masters Tournament starts Thursday.

Snead, hoping for a third victory to match the record of smiling Jimmy Demaret, passed up the current Azalea Open at Wilmington, N. C., to get ready for the 72-hole grind over the 6,800-yard Augusta National Golf Club course.

The slammer must buck precedent, as well as the terrific pressure such a select field generates, in seeking this year's crown. No golfer ever has won two successive Masters since the tournament was inaugurated in 1934.

Not only are the top golfers of the United States competing, but several foreign stars also are in the field.

Peter Thompson, 23-year-old Australian flash who was runner-up to Bobby Locke in the 1952 British Open, already is on the scene. Ricardo Rossi, a 24-year-old ace from Brazil, is en route. Rossi is a past winner of the Uruguay open and finished second to Snead in the 1952 Brazilian Open.

Picking a winner would be a difficult chore, but there are definite favorites. Despite the "jinx" against consecutive victories, Snead is among those considered most likely to walk off with the biggest hunk of prize money, which will total more than $25,000.

A lot of folks think Lloyd Mangrum is overdue for a Masters' championship. Mangrum, who has been going great on the winter circuit, twice has been Masters runner-up and has finished high among the leaders consistently. The fellow with the mustache also holds the tournament record for one round, a 64 he posted in 1940, one of his runner-up years. Par is 36-36—72.

No amateur ever has won the Masters. Best effort so far came in 1947 when Frank Stranahan tied for second. Stranahan, Harvie Ward, 1952 British Amateur champion, and Jack Westland, 1952 U. S. amateur titlist, give the simonpures a strong representation.

Stranahan, Ben Hogan, Jack Burke, Claude Harmon, Olin Dutra, Craig Wood, Vic Ghezzi and Don Cherry spearheaded early arrivals who want to get in some extra practice rounds. Official practice sessions open tomorrow.

Best score turned in so far was Hogan's 66 Thursday. This might be a bit misleading because it is not customary to hole out all putts during practice. And putting usually is the real test at the Masters because the greens are extra large, fast and tricky.

Levy Horses Run 1-2 For Cherry Blossom Stakes

BOWIE, Md., April 4 (AP)— The Sidney Jacobs - trained entry of Hueso and Main Bout finished one-two in the $10,000-added Cherry Blossom Stakes today before 21,757 fans—biggest crowd of Maryland's 1953 racing season.

It was actually a son and father finish, Hueso being owned by Robert P. Levy and Main Bout by his father, Leon Levy.

New Dream, owned by H. H. Polk, gained third money in the seven-furlong 3-year - old race, finishing two lengths behind Main Bout.

The entry paid $5.60 straight in the mutuels, and Hueso, ridden by Angelo Vasil, was clocked 1:25 —a second and a fifth off the 24-year-old track record.

Hueso, a nominee for all triple crown races, took the lead early in the stretch run after Dark Destroyer and Just Sidney had cut out a fast early pace.

The victory was worth $8,400 to Hueso's bank account, boosting his lifetime earnings to $21,900.

Thirteen horses started in the race—a prep for next Saturday's $25,000 Chesapeake Stakes at a mile and a sixteenth.

Hueso was well back in the pack during the first three furlongs, but moved forward quickly on the turn and had attained command before reaching the eighth pole. Main Bout couldn't stay with his stablemate but was easily second best.

Start Signing West Monroe's Little Leaguers

Registration of Little League baseball talent for West Monroe begins tomorrow with Calvert's Drugs as headquarters.

Jack Hesketh, secretary of Little League for the Twin Cities, last night said all boys in West Monroe between eight and twelve years old who want to play ball should file their names at Calvert's Drugs as soon as possible.

Practice sessions for the West Monroe league are due to begin the last Saturday in April.

Pros Plan Open Season On High School Talent

COLUMBUS, O., April 4 (AP) — George M. Trautman today defended an organized baseball attempt to have California declared open territory for the signing of undergraduate high school players.

Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, said the attempt was the result of the California Interscholastic Federation's refusal to go along with baseball's high school rule.

Baseball's regulation stipulates high school students may be invited to, and participate in, tryouts conducted by professional clubs provided it does not interfere with the student's school activities, and that "nothing whatsoever shall be given, directly or indirectly, to any high school student who participates in such tryout."

The California federation rule, on the other hand, says "a public tryout by an athlete for a professional team, or solicitation of employment for gain of his athletic services, automatically disqualifies such athlete from further amateur competition."

The minor league prexy cited that for many years baseball "exercised its undeniable right to sign high school students without regard to the effect . . . on their eligibility." In 1945, however, baseball prohibited its members from even discussing baseball with high school students.

Last year a new rule permitted baseball men to discuss contracts with, but not sign, the undergraduates.

Trautman said H. V. Porter, executive secretary of the National Federation of High School Athletic Association, of which California is a member, agreed the rule was both "reasonable and workable."

The California federation, Trautman said, "at a very recent meeting reaffirmed its restrictive regulations and has refused to go along with the overwhelming majority of its associates in the 47 other states."

Trautman said the minor leagues then decided to determine whether baseball's "protection of high school players should be withdrawn from California, and the state declared open territory—with baseball having the privilege of signing high school players at any time."

A vote of minor league officials is now being taken, and if they approve the "open territory" plan, the project then goes before the majors.

Marion Defeats Linville, 14 To 1; 5th Win In Row

LINVILLE, La., April 4 (Special)—Marion High School got combined two-hit pitching from Laddie McVicker and Jerry Jones to register a fifth straight baseball victory in defeating Linville High, 14 to 1, here this afternoon. Marion tagged Linville pitching for 13 hits with Perry Murry leading the way with four safe blows. Ardis Phillips, Marion's ace catcher, kept up his onslaught on pitching as he smashed out two hits, batting in four runs. Causey and McVicker also got two hits each for the visitors.

Linville's cause may have been affected somewhat in having to play without their star catcher, Hodge.

Score by innings:

Marion	130 041 5—14	13	0
Linville	010 000 0— 1	2	3

For many weeks promoter Gus Kallio has been publicizing the famed and colorful Jungle Boy, a renowned TV wrestler, and Tuesday night he appears at the local Arena, paired with "Irish Jack" Kelly, as one-half of a tag team; fighting the ever-popular Jack and George Curtis, in a two-of-three falls to win, 90 minute time limit feature.

The Jungle Boy, who does all of his grappling under that monicker, claims to have been born and bred in the jungles, where he fought and subdued wild animals, and later turned this scrapping knowledge into a means of living—professional wrestling.

In wrestling on the Kelly team against the Curtis brothers, Jungle Boy goes on the only appropriate side, for if he were on the hero's team, instead of with villainous "Irish Jack," the latter and his mate would have a field day pulling and throwing Jungle Boy by his hair--a long mop that looks like an English sheep dog. But since Jack and George don't indulge in hair-pulling, the jungle lad should have no trouble along that line.

Two short falls will serve as opener and semi-final, with the curtain raiser at 8 o'clock. Affable Bill Barney, West Monroe, will handle officiating duties.

Excelsior Taken By First Glance In Stretch Drive

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—First Glance, a six-year-old son of Great Discovery, charged from third place in the stretch at Jamaica today and pulled away to a two-length victory for owner Alfred Vanderbilt in the $9,6200 Excelsoir Handicap.

A whopping crowd of 50,851—largest at Jamaica in two years—made First Glance the second choice to C. T. Chenery's Bryan G, the 9-5 favorite.

But Jockey Eric Guerin showed them they were wrong, whacking First Glance home from a point just inside the sixteenth pole after Bryan G and David Shaer's Sun Rene had battled head and head most of the mile and one sixteenth distance.

Byran G, winner of the 1951 Pimlico Special and ridden by Ovie Scurlock, took second by a length and a quarter over Sun Rene, but the stewards relieved Sun Rene of third money.

As soon as the horses crossed the finish, the officials called for a look at the movies. They charged that Sun Rene, with William Lester up, had crossed over in the stretch and interfered with other horses.

They took down Sun Rene's number, moved Saxon stable's Dark Count into third, worth $2,500, and hoisted John W. Nizlek's LaFourche into fourth spot, where the owner collected $1,250.

The winner, who raced in California during the winter with moderate success, paid $6.70, $3.50 and $2.70. Bryan G was $3.30 and $2.60 to place, and Dark Count $4.10 to show.

Belichick Joins North Carolina Coaching Staff

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., April 4 (AP)— Steve Belichick, assistant coach at Vanderbilt for the last two years, was added to the football coaching staff at the University of North Carolina as an assistant today.

Appointment of Belichick thus completes reorganization of the Tar Heel staff, begun early this year after the resignation of Head Coach Carl Snavely under fire last Dec. 5.

New Head Coach George Barclay said Belichick would serve as a general assistant, but indicated he would work primarily with the defensive backfield. No salary or contract terms were announced.

Belichick gained distinction with his pass defense coaching at Vanderbilt, where he served under Bill Edwards, now also a member of the Tar Heel staff.

A graduate of Western Reserve University, when Edwards was coach there, Belichick played football there and after graduating in 1941 played a season with the Detroit Lions pro team and with the Great Lakes Naval service team.

In addition to Edwards, other assistant Tar Heeel coaches are Marvin Bass, former Washington Redskins line coach, and Jim Gill, a holdover from Snavely's staff.

Wave Baseball Team Defeated By Vanderbilt

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 4 (AP) —A seven-run uprising in the fifth inning, backed up by Charlie Hawkins' three-hit pitching, gave Vanderbilt a 7-3 Southeastern Conference baseball victory over Tulane today.

Leading Vanderbilt's eight - hit attack was catcher Jimmy Miller who got a triple and two singles in four trips to boost his three-game average to .555.

Ray Weidenbacher, Tulane right-hander, held the Commodores scoreless for four innings before losing control of the situation. He gave up six hits and was charged with all seven of Vandy's runs before being relieved by Fred Wilcox who closed the gate in the fifth and held it shut the rest of the way.

Palmer Pulls Into Tie With Bolt In Azalea Open

Tightly Bunched Field Ready For Today's Windup

WILMINGTON, N. C., April 4 (AP)—Tommy Bolt remained atop the $10,000 Azalea Open golf tournament field for the third straight day today, but for the second day he had company.

While the Maplewood, N. J., professional was matching par 72 from the 6,652-yard Cape Fear Country Club course Johnny Palmer Canadian Open champion from Charlotte, N. C., came charging up to tie him for the 54-hole lead at 207 with a 69 today.

They were only one stroke ahead of three rivals — Francis (Bo) Wininger, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Ted Kroll, New Hartford N. Y., and Jerry Barber, Lacanada, Calif., going into tomorrow afternoon's final round. Kroll shot a hot 66 today, while Wininger posted 70 and Barber 72.

Four more pros were only two shots back of Bolt and Palmer, setting the stage for a whirlwind race to the wire for the $2,000 top money tomorrow.

Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., the year's top money winner; Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa.; Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., and Fred Wampler, Indianapolis, were the quartet locked at 209. Mangrum and Wampler posted 70s today, Ford and Worsham taking 71.

For three days the field has taken turns in trying to knock Bolt out of the lead, but tenacious Tommy has hung on. He wants this tournament to go along with two earlier victories at San Diego and Tucson and pass Mangrum in the money winning race.

The leaders:

Tommy Bolt, Maplewood, N. J., 66-69-72—207.
Johnny Palmer, Charlotte, N. C. 68-70-69—207.

1206 Fish Caught Radar Screen Proves How To Do It

"We never saw anything like it," say reporters who viewed our radar screen test off the California coast. "Our radar test screen spotted a school of barracuda 30 feet down feeding on minnows. Fast Field Challenges Snead In Masters Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4 (AP)—Sam Snead, the long ball knocker from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., will defend his title against golfdom's greatest when the annual Masters Tournament starts Thursday.

Snead, hoping for a third victory to match the record of smiling Jimmy Demaret, passed up the current Azalea Open at Wilmington, N. C., to get ready for the 72-hole grind over the 6,800-yard Augusta National Golf Club course.

The slammer must buck precedent, as well as the terrific pressure such a select field generates, in seeking this year's crown. No golfer ever has won two successive Masters since the tournament was inaugurated in 1934.

Not only are the top golfers of the United States competing, but several foreign stars also are in the field.

Peter Thompson, 23-year-old Australian flash who was runner-up to Bobby Locke in the 1952 British Open, already is on the scene. Ricardo Rossi, a 24-year-old ace from Brazil, is en route. Rossi is a past winner of the Uruguay open and finished second to Snead in the 1952 Brazilian Open.

Picking a winner would be a difficult chore, but there are definite favorites. Despite the "jinx" against consecutive victories, Snead is among those considered most likely to walk off with the biggest hunk of prize money, which will total more than $25,000.

A lot of folks think Lloyd Mangrum is overdue for a Masters' championship. Mangrum, who has been going great on the winter circuit, twice has been Masters runner-up and has finished high among the leaders consistently. The fellow with the mustache also holds the tournament record for one round, a 64 he posted in 1940, one of his runner-up years. Par is 33-36—72.

No amateur ever has won the Masters. Best effort so far came in 1947 when Frank Stranahan tied for second. Stranahan, Harvie Ward, 1952 British Amateur champion, and Jack Westland, 1952 U. S. amateur titlist, give the simon-pures a strong representation.

Stranahan, Ben Hogan, Jack Burke, Claude Harmon, Olin Dutra, Craig Wood, Vic Ghezzi and Don Cherry spearheaded early arrivals who want to get in some extra practice rounds. Official practice sessions open tomorrow.

Best score turned in so far was Hogan's 66 Thursday. This might be a bit misleading because it is not customary to hole out all putts during practice. And putting usually is the real test at the Masters because the greens are extra large, fast and tricky.

Levy Horses Run 1-2 For Cherry Blossom Stakes

BOWIE, Md., April 4 (AP)— The Sidney Jacobs - trained entry of Hueso and Main Bout finished one-two in the $10,000-added Cherry Blossom Stakes today before 21,757 fans—biggest crowd of Maryland's 1953 racing season.

It was actually a son and father finish, Hueso being owned by Robert P. Levy and Main Bout by his father, Leon Levy.

New Dream, owned by H. H. Polk, gained third money in the seven-furlong 3-year - old race, finishing two lengths behind Main Bout.

The entry paid $5.60 straight in the mutuels, and Hueso, ridden by Angelo Vasil, was clocked 1:25—a second and a fifth off the 24-year-old track record.

Hueso, a nominee for all triple crown races, took the lead early in the stretch run after Dark Destroyer and Just Sidney had cut out a fast early pace.

The victory was worth $8,400 to Hueso's bank account, boosting his lifetime earnings to $21,900.

Thirteen horses started in the race—a prep for next Saturday's $25,000 Chesapeake Stakes at a mile and a sixteenth.

Hueso was well back in the pack during the first three furlongs, but moved forward quickly on the turn and had attained command before reaching the eighth pole. Main Bout couldn't stay with his stablemate but was easily second best.

Start Signing West Monroe's Little Leaguers

Registration of Little League baseball talent for West Monroe begins tomorrow with Calvert's Drugs as headquarters.

Jack Hesketh, secretary of Little League for the Twin Cities, said registration will be held for all boys in West Monroe between eight and twelve years old who want to play ball should file their names at Calvert's Drugs as soon as possible. Practice sessions for the West Monroe league are due to begin the last Saturday in April.

Pros Plan Open Season On High School Talent

COLUMBUS, O., April 4 (AP) — George M. Trautman today defended an organized baseball attempt to have California declared open territory for the signing of undergraduate high school players.

Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, said the attempt was the result of the California Interscholastic Federation's refusal to go along with baseball's high school rule.

Baseball's regulation stipulates high school students may be invited to, and participate in, tryouts conducted by professional clubs provided it does not interfere with the student's school activities, and that "nothing whatsoever shall be given, directly or indirectly, to any high school student who participates in such tryout."

The California federation rule, on the other hand, says "a public tryout by an athlete for a professional team, or solicitation of employment for gain of his athletic services, automatically disqualifies such athlete from further amateur competition."

The minor league prexy cited that for many years baseball "exercised its undeniable right to sign high school students without regard to the effect . . . on their eligibility." In 1945, however, baseball prohibited its members from even discussing baseball with high school students.

Last year a new rule permitted baseball men to discuss contracts with, but not sign, the undergraduates.

Trautman said H. V. Porter, executive secretary of the National Federation of High School Athletic Association, of which California is a member, agreed the rule was both "reasonable and workable."

The California federation, Trautman said, "at a very recent meeting reaffirmed its restrictive regulations and has refused to go along with the overwhelming majority of its associates in the 47 other states."

Trautman said the minor leagues then decided to determine whether baseball's "protection of high school players should be withdrawn from California, and the state declared open territory—with baseball having the privilege of signing high school players at any time."

A vote of minor league officials is now being taken, and if they approve the "open territory" plan, the project then goes before the majors.

Marion Defeats Linville, 14 To 1; 5th Win In Row

LINVILLE, La., April 4 (Special)—Marion High School got combined two-hit pitching from Laddie McVicker and Jerry Jones to register a fifth straight baseball victory in defeating Linville High, 14 to 1, here this afternoon. Marion tagged Linville pitching for 13 hits with Perry Murry leading the way with four safe blows. Ardis Phillips, Marion's ace catcher, kept up his onslaught on pitching as he smashed out two hits, batting in four runs. Causey and McVicker also got two hits each for the visitors.

Linville's cause may have been affected somewhat in having to play without their star catcher, Hodge.

Score by innings:

Marion	130 041 5—14	13	0
Linville	010 000 0— 1	2	3

McVicker, Jones and Phillips; Wheeler and Stokes.

For many weeks promoter Gus Kallio has been publicizing the famed and colorful Jungle Boy, a renowned TV wrestler, and Tuesday night he appears at the local Arena, paired with "Irish Jack" Kelly, as one-half of a tag team; fighting the ever-popular Jack and George Curtis, in a two-of-three falls to win, 90 minute time limit feature.

The Jungle Boy, who does all of his grappling under that monicker, claims to have been born and bred in the jungles, where he fought and subdued wild animals, and later turned this scrapping knowledge into a means of living—professional wrestling.

In wrestling on the Kelly team against the Curtis brothers, Jungle Boy goes on the only appropriate side, for if he were on the hero's team, instead of with villainous "Irish Jack," the latter and his mate would have a field day pulling and throwing Jungle Boy by his hair—a long mop that looks like an English sheep dog. But since Jack and George don't indulge in hair-pulling, the jungle lad should have no trouble along that line.

Two short falls will serve as opener and semi-final, with the curtain raiser at 8 o'clock. Affable Bill Barney, West Monroe, will handle officiating duties.

Excelsior Taken By First Glance In Stretch Drive

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—First Glance, a six-year-old son of Great Discovery, charged from third place in the stretch at Jamaica today and pulled away to a two-length victory for owner Alfred Vanderbilt in the $9,6200 Excelsoir Handicap.

A whopping crowd of 50,851—largest at Jamaica in two years—made First Glance the second choice to C. T. Chenery's Bryan G, the 9-5 favorite.

But Jockey Eric Guerin showed them they were wrong, whacking First Glance home from a point just inside the sixteenth pole after Bryan G and David Shaer's Sun Rene had battled head and head most of the mile and one sixteenth distance.

Byran G, winner of the 1951 Pimlico Special and ridden by Ovie Scurlock, took second by a length and a quarter over Sun Rene, but the stewards relieved Sun Rene of third money.

As soon as the horses crossed the finish, the officials called for a look at the movies. They charged that Sun Rene, with William Lester up, had crossed over in the stretch and interfered with other horses.

They took down Sun Rene's number, moved Saxon stable's Dark Count into third, worth $2,500, and hoisted John W. Nizlek's LaFourche into fourth spot, where the owner collected $1,250.

The winner, who raced in California during the winter with moderate success, paid $6.70, $3.50 and $2.70. Bryan G was $3.30 and $2.60 to place, and Dark Count $4.10 to show.

Belichick Joins North Carolina Coaching Staff

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., April 4 (AP)— Steve Belichick, assistant coach at Vanderbilt for the last two years, was added to the football coaching staff at the University of North Carolina as an assistant today.

Appointment of Belichick thus completes reorganization of the Tar Heel staff, begun early this year after the resignation of Head Coach Carl Snavely under fire last Dec. 5.

New Head Coach George Barclay said Belichick would serve as a general assistant, but indicated he would work primarily with the defensive backfield. No salary or contract terms were announced.

Belichick gained distinction with his pass defense coaching at Vanderbilt, where he served under Bill Edwards, now also a member of the Tar Heel staff.

A graduate of Western Reserve University, when Edwards was coach there, Belichick played football there and after graduating in 1941 played a season with the Detroit Lions pro team and with the Great Lakes Naval service team.

In addition to Edwards, other assistant Tar Heeel coaches are Marvin Bass, former Washington Redskins line coach, and Jim Gill, a holdover from Snavely's staff.

Wave Baseball Team Defeated By Vanderbilt

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 4 (AP) —A seven-run uprising in the fifth inning, backed up by Charlie Hawkins' three-hit pitching, gave Vanderbilt a 7-3 Southeastern Conference baseball victory over Tulane today.

Leading Vanderbilt's eight - hit attack was catcher Jimmy Miller who got a triple, and two singles in four trips to boost his three-game average to .555.

Ray Weidenbacher, Tulane righthander, held the Commodores scoreless for four innings before losing control of the situation. He gave up six hits and was charged with all seven of Vandy's runs before being relieved by Fred Wilcox who closed the gate in the fifth and held it shut the rest of the way.

Arkansas A & M Defeats Northeast In 13 Innings

Redskins Tumble To Boll Weevils By 6 To 5 Score

In a game that was played 13 full innings, the Arkansas A. and M. Boll Weevils emerged victorious here yesterday afternoon, topping Northeast State, 6-5. A time limit was set on the game before it started, but the A. and M. coach preferred to finish the contest. Arkansas batsmen garnered a total of 10 hits, while the Indians collected eight.

The score was tied 4-4 in the bottom of the sixth inning and stayed that way until the first of the unlucky 13th for Northeast, when Owen Hubbard of A and M. singled, Bobby Higginbotham doubled and Bobby Smith walked. Rogi Greenway knocked in two runs as Hubbard and Higginbotham scored breaking the tie. Northeast threatened to tie the game again in the bottom half of the 13th frame when they loaded the bases. Tommy Leos had raced home previously. However, the Indians failed to produce another run and the game ended.

Bob Wright started on the mound for Arkansas, to be relieved by Hubbard in the last of the fifth with one out. Northeast Coach H. W. (Woody) Boyles used three hurlers, starting "Lefty" Hudson, relieving him with Bob Bennett in the top of the fifth and letting Mark Boatright take over in the top of the eighth frame as the score was tied. Boatright is charged with the loss.

Both teams scored one run each in the second inning. Jimmy Parker of the Boll Weevils scampered home on a hit by Dick Miles. Northeast's J. B. Nolan chalked up a tally after Don Stewart doubled. A. and M. took a tally in the top of the fifth when Smith blasted a triple to center field, scoring Don Burt from first.

In the last of the fifth Camillo Detore crossed the plate on Gerald Hare's single for the Tribe. Boatright came home on a fielder's choice after Nolan rapped out a grounder, giving Northeast a 3-2 lead. In the top of the sixth A. and M. scored twice after errors by the center fielder and first baseman. The tying run came as Clyde Thompson's hit scored his brother, Billy, from third.

Both teams threatened on occasion to break the tie before the time limit of 5:30 p.m. stopped the game, but failed to do so. When it came time to stop the game, the co ches agreed to continue. A new umpire took over, George Parsons. Ray Spicer, calling the game for 12 full innings, had to leave the field because of previous commitments.

In the last of the 12th, Nolan doubled to right field, but was thrown out in a slide to third.

Northeast's next game will be first one on th road for the local college nine since the beginning of the season, hen they visit the Arkansas A. and M. nine at Monticello Tuesday. The next home game for the Indians is April 11, with the New Orleans Naval Air Stati n.

PHILADELPHIA, April 4 (AP) — The champion Detroit Lions of the National Football League will play the Philadelphia Eagles in the 16th annual Philadelphia Inquirer charities football game on Thursday night, Sept. 17, at Municipal Stadium here.

It is a pre-season N. F. L. exhibition. The two clubs do not meet in regular season play.

Sportsmen Will Hear L. D. Young During Fish-Fry

WINNSBORO, April. 4. (Special) — L. D. Young, director of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, will be the principal speaker at the annual fish-fry of the Franklin parish chapter of the Louisiana Wild Life Federation which is scheduled for Friday night April 10, in Landis Memorial Park here. In case of rain the affair will be held in the American Legion Community Center. The fish - fry will climax a membership drive for the year in which a goal of 1,000 members is being sought for the Franklin chapter.

E. Rudolph McIntyre, president of the wild life chapter, announced that "there'll be plenty of fish and all the trimmings. All who are interested in wild life and fish conservation and good sportsmanship are invited. Current members are being asked only to bring some salad if it's convenient."

Other visitors who will participate in the program include Jerry Beeson, vice-chairman of the Louisiana Wild life Commission and immediate past-president of the state wild life federation; John Blanchard, chief of the wild life and fisheries commission's devision of education and publicity; Claude H. Gresham, Jr., editor of the commission's magazine, the "Conservationist," and Charles W. Bosch, executive-secretary of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation.

VISITS WINNSBORO—L. D. Young (above), director of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, will be in Winnsboro Friday night as guest speaker at the annual fish-fry to be held by the Franklin parish wildlife unit.

Crandall To Undergo Sore-Arm Treatments

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 4 (AP) — Del Crandall, Milwaukee Braves' catcher, was ordered today to report to Dr. John Murphy in St. Louis for treatment of a sore arm.

Crandall, groomed to replace the veteran Walker Cooper as the National League club's No. 1 receiver, has complained of soreness in his neck and throwing arm since reporting Feb. 3.2 He has worked only 18 innings in spring training.

Extraction of four impacted teeth failed to improve his condition.

Rustling Oaks Beats Favored Sunless Sea

CAMDEN, S. C., April 4 (AP)—Rustling Oaks, eight year - old gelding, won an upset three-quarter length victory over favored Sunless Sea in the big Carolina Cup Steeplechase here today.

A record crowd estimated by race officials at 20,000 saw the 19th annual race.

Rustling Oaks, owned by W. G. Jones, Charlottesville, Va., was ridden ably by A. P. (Paddy) Smitwick, Hyde, Md. He led from the start but had to fight off a great closing bid by Sunless Sea, who beat him in the Sand Hills Steeplechase at Southern Pines, N. C., two weeks ago.

Sunless Sea, owned by Chris Greer Jr., Middleburg, Va., was ridden by Carlyle Cameron.

Temper Red, owned and ridden by Charles W. Stitzer, Southern Pines, was a poor third.

Rustling Oaks' time for the three miles over 18 timber fences was five minutes, 49 and 3-5 seconds.

Walcott's Pilot Doubts Chicago Will Get Battle

PHILADELPHIA, April 4 (AP) — Felix Bocchicchio, manager of former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott, said today he doesn't believe Walcott's postponed title fight with Champion Rocky Marciano will be held in Chicago May 15 as now scheduled.

Bocchicchio said he plans to ask the International Boxing Club for a $250,000 guarantee purse for his fighter because "I want to be sure we get our money." He added:

"I don't think the fight will come off on May 15."

Asked for his reasons for that belief, Bocchicchio said he just felt that way.

"This fight doesn't belong in Chicago anyway," he said. "I told that to Jim Norris (I. B. C. president) when he put it in there. I'm sure we could draw a lot better in the east."

In Chicago, Norris issued an immediate denial. He declared in a statement:

"Despite reports to the contrary, the heavyweight title fight between Champion Rocky Marciano and Jersey Joe Walcott absolutely will be held May 15 in Chicago Stadium."

The Marciano-Walcott return title fight was originally scheduled for April 10, was set back to the May 15 date when it was announced last week that Marciano had sustained a nose injury in training. Walcott, then in Chicago for his final drills and appearances to boost ticket sales, returned to his home in nearby Camden, N. J.

Bocchicchio scoffed at the reported seriousness of Marciano's nose injury.

Pittsburgh Steelers Play 12 Tilts In '53

PITTSBURGH, April. 4. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers will play a 12-game National Football League schedule next fall.

The schedule:

Sept. 27-at Detroit; Oct. 5-New York Giants; 11 - Chicago Cards: 18-at Philadelphia; 25-Green Bay; Nov. 1-Philadelphia; 8-at Cleveland; 15-at New York; 22-Cleveland; 29-Washington; Dec. 6- at Chicago; 13-at Washington.

Major League Baseball Fever Grips Milwaukee

Milwaukee, April 4 (AP)— They'll roll out the red carpet when the Milwaukee Braves hit town April 8–and well they might.

The red carpet business is no gag. When the Braves' trail pulls into the Milwaukee road depot in mid-morning of the 8th, plans call for a length of red carpeting to be rolled out across the width of the train shed to the door of the team's car. Each player will walk its length as he leaves the train.

A civic welcome will follow–brass bands, a parade through the downtown section, a banquet and countless other tried and proven gimmicks. The club will play exhibition games with the Boston Red Sox–the annual "Boston city series"–April 9 and 10, then leave until the April 14 National League opener with St. Louis.

Major league fever has all of Milwaukee–and a good share of Wisconsin–in its grasp. This city's main downtown thoroughfare – Wisconsin avenue–will be renamed "Braves drive" for the season's first week.

The opening day game is a complete sellout, which means a crowd of 36,011 in the new $5,000,000 county stadium.

"We could sell 150,000 tickets if we had that much room," says Fredric Mendelson, stadium manager, who spent many peaceful years as ticket manager of the American Association Milwaukee Brewers. The Brewers moved to Toledo, O., when the Braves decided to come here.

Business people who stand to benefit the most from the jump to major league baseball after 50 years in the minors are busy. The move came so fast–the transfer was approved March 18, only 27 days before opening day – that plans still are in a turmoil. All are in agreement, though, that the action is the biggest thing that's happened here in years.

Alvin J. Monroe, veteran manager of the Association of Commerce Convention Bureau, says big league ball will bring a million dollars a year to the city. Monroe is well qualified to make an estimate. He's been at his present job since 1923 and has built Milwaukee into one of the nation's better convention cities.

Top drawer amusements in Milwaukee draw exceptionally well from out in the state.

"We know that thousands of Wisconsin baseball fans travel to Chicago every summer to see the Cubs or White Sox," says Monroe. "It seems logical to assume that many of them, I'd guess between 300,000 and 400,000, will stop at Milwaukee instead and save themselves anywhere from 100 to 200 miles of driving. And I don't see how it would be possible to spend less than $4 each on every trip."

The commerce association will have in the mails shortly a complete schedule of sports events in Milwaukee for the summer. At least 10,000 copies will be sent to Chambers of Commerce, radio stations and newspapers, and all Wisconsin employers who have 75 or more persons on their payrolls.

The Milwaukee Hotel Association is preparing for more business, too. Members plan to advertise a package deal for weekends–game tickets, room, dinner and breakfast–to attract married couples from outlying areas.

The new stadium, considered the major plum for Braves President Lou Perini in the move here, is located close to the geographical center of Milwaukee. The area covers 155 acres, including 100 acres for parking, and is about 40 blocks straight west of the downtown shopping district.

Transportation sounds easy, but it won't be. Frankly, major league baseball came to Milwaukee too soon. The stadium, in the Menomonee river valley and abutting on the mainline tracks and switching yards of the Milwaukee road, lacks sufficient access streets to handle the expected traffic flow. Only three streets now are available into the parking area.

There are, of course, plans for more, including a north-south expressway running right past the site.

Winnsboro Leads Drive For 6-Club Baseball League

WINNSBORO, La., April 4 (Special)—Organization of a semi-pro baseball league for this area appeared certain this week, according to B. T. "Frog" Lanier, who is busy seeking to assure a six-club circuit featuring "home talent."

Lanier, who is ready to sponsor a Winnsboro club, said participation has been assured by Rayville, Columbia, Urania, and Jonesville, in addition to Winnsboro. It is also considered possible that Delhi or Sterlington may furnish the sixth member.

Winnsboro is already busy organizing its club, and Bill Thaxton has been named manager, and Gilbert Hower is secretary - treasurer. Home games for the Franklin parish entry will be played in War Memorial Park here.

Tentative plans call for the league to begin play in the latter part of May.

Arkansas A & M Defeats Northeast In 13 Innings

Redskins Tumble To Boll Weevils By 6 To 5 Score

In a game that was played 13 full innings, the Arkansas A. and M. Boll Weevils emerged victorious here yesterday afternoon, topping Northeast State, 6-5. A time limit was set on the game before it started, but the A. and M. coach preferred to finish the contest. Arkansas batsmen garnered a total of 10 hits, while the Indians collected eight.

The score was tied 4-4 in the bottom of the sixth inning and stayed that way until the first of the unlucky 13th for Northeast, when Owen Hubbard of A and M. singled, Bobby Higginbotham doubled and Bobby Smith walked. Rogi Greenway knocked in two runs as Hubbard and Higginbotham scored breaking the tie. Northeast threatened to tie the game again in the bottom half of the 13th frame when they loaded the bases. Tommy Leos had raced home previously. However, the Indians failed to produce another run and the game ended.

Bob Wright started on the mound for Arkansas, to be relieved by Hubbard in the last of the fifth with one out. Northeast Coach H. W. (Woody) Boyles used three hurlers, starting "Lefty" Hudson, relieving him with Bob Bennett in the top of the fifth and letting Mark Boatright take over in the top of the eighth frame as the score was tied. Boatright is charged with the loss.

Both teams scored one run each in the second inning. Jimmy Parker of the Boll Weevils scampered home on a hit by Dick Miles. Northeast's J. B. Nolan chalked up a tally after Don Stewart doubled. A. and M. took a tally in the top of the fifth when Smith blasted a triple to center field, scoring Don Burt from first.

In the last of the fifth Camillo Detore crossed the plate on Gerald Hare's single for the Tribe. Boatright came home on a fielder's choice after Nolan rapped out a grounder, giving Northeast a 3-2 lead. In the top of the sixth A. and M. scored twice after errors by the center fielder and first baseman. The tying run came as Clyde Thompson's hit scored his brother, Billy, from third.

Both teams threatened on occasion to break the tie before the time limit of 5:30 p.m. stopped the game, but failed to do so. When it came time to stop the game, the co ches agreed to continue. A new umpire took over, George Parsons. Ray Spicer, calling the game for 12 full innings, had to leave the field because of previous commitments.

In the last of the 12th, Nolan doubled to right field, but was thrown out in a slide to third.

Northeast's next game will be first one on th road for the local college nine since the beginning of the season, ..hen they visit the Arkansas A. and M. nine at Monticello Tuesday. The next home game for the Indians is April 11, with the New Orleans Naval Air Stati n.

Pre-Season Pro Grid Charity Game Sept. 17

PHILADELPHIA, April 4 (AP) — The champion Detroit Lions of the National Football League will play the Philadelphia Eagles in the 16th annual Philadelphia Inquirer charities football game on Thursday night, Sept. 17, at Municipal Stadium here.

It is a pre-season N. F. L. exhibition. The two clubs do not meet in regular season play.

Sportsmen Will Hear L. D. Young During Fish-Fry

WINNSBORO, April. 4. (Special) — L. D. Young, director of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, will be the principal speaker at the annual fish-fry of the Franklin parish chapter of the Louisiana Wild Life Federation which is scheduled for Friday night April 10, in Landis Memorial Park here. In case of rain the affair will be held in the American Legion Community Center. The fish - fry will climax a membership drive for the year in which a goal of 1,000 members is being sought for the Franklin chapter.

E. Rudolph McIntyre, president of the wild life chapter, announced that "there'll be plenty of fish and all the trimmings. All who are interested in wild life and fish conservation and good sportsmanship are invited. Current members are being asked only to bring some salad if it's convenient."

Other visitors who will participate in the program include Jerry Beeson, vice-chairman of the Louisiana Wild life Commission and immediate past-president of the state wild life federation; John Blanchard, chief of the wild life and fisheries commission's devision of education and publicity; Claude H. Gresham, Jr., editor of the commission's magazine, the "Conservationist," and Charles W. Bosch, executive-secretary of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation.

VISITS WINNSBORO— L. D. Young (above), director of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, will be in Winnsboro Friday night as guest speaker at the annual fish-fry to be held by the Franklin parish wildlife unit.

Crandall To Undergo Sore-Arm Treatments

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 4 (AP) — Del Crandall, Milwaukee Braves' catcher, was ordered today to report to Dr. John Murphy in St. Louis for treatment of a sore arm.

Crandall, groomed to replace the veteran Walker Cooper as the National League club's No. 1 receiver, has complained of soreness in his neck and throwing arm since reporting Feb. 3.2 He has worked only 18 innings in spring training.

Extraction of four impacted teeth failed to improve his condition.

Rustling Oaks Beats Favored Sunless Sea

CAMDEN, S. C., April 4 (AP)— Rustling Oaks, eight year - old gelding, won an upset three-quarter length victory over favored Sunless Sea in the big Carolina Cup Steeplechase here today.

A record crowd estimated by race officials at 20,000 saw the 19th annual race.

Rustling Oaks, owned by W. G. Jones, Charlottesville, Va., was ridden ably by A. P. (Paddy) Smitwick, Hyde, Md. He led from the start but had to fight off a great closing bid by Sunless Sea, who beat him in the Sand Hills Steeplechase at Southern Pines, N. C., two weeks ago.

Sunless Sea, owned by Chris Greer Jr., Middleburg, Va., was ridden by Carlyle Cameron.

Temper Red, owned and ridden by Charles W. Stitzer, Southern Pines, was a poor third.

Rustling Oaks' time for the three miles over 18 timber fences was five minutes, 49 and 3-5 seconds.

Walcott's Pilot Doubts Chicago Will Get Battle

PHILADELPHIA, April 4 (AP) — Felix Bocchicchio, manager of former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott, said today he doesn't believe Walcott's postponed title fight with Champion Rocky Marciano will be held in Chicago May 15 as now scheduled.

Bocchicchio said he plans to ask the International Boxing Club for a $250,000 guarantee purse for his fighter because "I want to be sure we get our money." He added:

"I don't think the fight will come off on May 15."

Asked for his reasons for that belief, Bocchicchio said he just felt that way.

"This fight doesn't belong in Chicago anyway," he said. "I told that to Jim Norris (I. B. C. president) when he put it in there. I'm sure we could draw a lot better in the east."

In Chicago, Norris issued an immediate denial. He declared in a statement:

"Despite reports to the contrary, the heavyweight title fight between Champion Rocky Marciano and Jersey Joe Walcott absolutely will be held May 15 in Chicago Stadium."

The Marciano-Walcott return title fight was originally scheduled for April 10, was set back to the May 15 date when it was announced last week that Marciano had sustained a nose injury in training. Walcott, then in Chicago for his final drills and appearances to boost ticket sales, returned to his home in nearby Camden, N. J.

Bocchicchio scoffed at the reported seriousness of Marciano's nose injury.

Auto Industry Engaged In Fervid Output Race

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry currently is engaged in a production race the like of which it hasn't experienced since before the Korean outbreak.

An increasing number of industry authorities now are predicting the output total for the first half of 1953 will top that of any previous like period in the industry's history. The present high mark for any January-June period was approximately 3,900,000 cars and trucks built in 1951.

The experts are saying that barring work stoppages due to material or manpower shortages this year's first-half output will come very close to four million vehicles.

Of this total some 3¼ million units could be passenger cars.

The factories, of course, are piling up their production volume by operating assembly lines overtime daily and Saturdays. The factories normally are idle on Saturdays.

Even with the overtime and the increased production the factories still aren't using their full manufacturing capacity. If they had the material and manpower they probably could roll out in excess of 200,000 vehicles a week with no overtime. The overtime obviously means increased production costs.

However, the car makers apparently believe the increased volume is worth the added cost; most of them are scheduling daily and Saturday overtime for the weeks ahead.

There is considerable speculation in trade quarters as to how long the production upsurge will be maintained. At the beginning of the year most industry sources counted on a lifting of production controls to bring higher output than was possible last year. None was bold enough, though, to say January - June output would approach the four million car and truck mark.

To maintain a high production level the auto makers have to plan several months ahead; generally, they place orders for parts and sub-assemblies with their suppliers three and four months in advance. But in the long range planning demand determines output volume.

Thus, the production volume in the second half of the year will be dependent in large degree to the marketing prospects as they appear near the end of the year's second quarter.

Right now the auto manufacturers appear less worried about retail sales prospects than do many of the new car dealers. The manufacturers say they are building for a competitive market—a market that will require reasonably prompt deliveries if customer loyalty is to be retained.

They say new cars will be in heavy demand from now through July and possibly beyond that time. This, of course, is high level guessing.

Girl Scout News

Let's see if we can't write a Brownie column today. What with camping and other activities of the Intermediates, there is usually so much news that maybe the Brownies don't get mentioned as often as they should. Brownies are important people, learning the fundamentals of playing and working together in the Scout way.

Starting out on the right foot in the field of citizenship, Troops 33 and 55 met together at Forsythe Park on one of these pretty afternoons we've been having, to learn a Flag ceremony the way Girl Scouts do it. They had asked our executive director to teach them. In groups of three, two guards and one bearer, they put on the red sashes which set them apart, and practiced obeying orders and carisg for the flag properly. It isn't too easy for younger girls to manage the seven foot staff of a 3 x 5 flag, but the girls did mighty well, according to our executive.

Just before going to the park, the girls of Troop 33 with their leaders, Mrs. W. R. Crow and Mrs. Ted Allen, visited Miss Emmy Lou Biedenharn's garden, which never fails to delight young or old.

The girls of Troop 24, meeting with their leaders, Mrs. T. C. Mahr and Mrs. Anthony Messina, made surprise for their mothers at their Wednesday meeting. Wonder how long the girls were able to keep their surprises secret? Since the secret is out by now, we may as well tell you that the surprise each girl took home was a pair of earrings which she made all by herself—or almost, anyway.

Troop 29 made Easter greeting cards with the cutest little rabbits of cotton and an original greeting on each. Mrs. E. M. Freeman and Mrs. Robert Calvert, leaders of the troop, tell us that next week the troop plans to visit a bakery. That's always fun and helps girls understand what makes some of the wheels go 'round in our community. They tried a bit of baking themselves a week or so ago, making drop cookies in Mrs. Calvert's kitchen.

Troop 12 is one of the troops that volunteered to make cookies for the Red Cross Easter project. The girls will get a lot of pleasure from knowing that men in the veterans hospital will enjoy their cookies. This troop is what is known as a "fly up" or be promoted to Intermediate Scouting about the time school is out. Mrs. J. C. Bryan and Mrs. James Bradley are leaders.

Also a fly-up troop, Troop 44 with leaders Mrs. Faheam Cannon and Mrs. H. E. Lyons, went to Pine Wood on a recent Saturday. There they laid and followed trails and did the other outdoor activities in the Tenderfoot requirements.

The two new troops we have mentioned, Troops 18 and 46, having completed registration requirements, held their investure service last week. Miss Annis Klie, executive director, was asked to invest the girls of Troop 18, of which Mrs. M. E. Whittington and Mrs. M. K. Luther are leaders. Mrs. William Roy, council president, invested the girls of Troop 46, led by Mrs. J. C. Loftin and Mrs. M. C. Plummer.

In the two troops 30 new Brownies are proudly wearing their new pins after promising, "I promise to do my best to love God and my country and to help other people every day, especially those at home." Troop 46 is starting out on the "other people" part by making Easter tray favors for children in hospitals.

There's a new Brownie Scout troop being started at Lida Benton School, we hear, through the efforts of Mrs. L. C. Bassett. The Bassett family is another of those Scout families, with the fifth and youngest child in the new troop just starting. And who is the best Scout in that family? Why mama Julia, of course, who has done Cub Scouting with the three older boys, serves as co-leader of Troop 38, of which daughter Linda is a member, and now is starting daughter Pat in Scouting.

Happy Easter, everybody! Hope the Brownies all have a good time with their Easter eggs today.

Ladies lunch: Creamed chicken on squares of split cornbread accompanied by fruit salad.

Miss Scalia Is Honored With Luncheon Party

Miss Joe Marie Scalia, bride-elect of Mr. Wayman Etier, was honored at a luncheon in the home of Mrs. T. L. Zeagler last Sunday.

The honoree was attired in a becoming royal blue silk suit with rhinestone buttons. She wore a corsage of pink carnations, a gift from the hostess.

Mrs. Zeagler's home was decorated with spring flowers throughout. Centering the table was an arrangement of bridal wreath. The bride-to-be was presented with a gift of china.

The guests in addition to Miss Scalia and Mr. Etier were: Miss Linda Faye Scalia; Mrs. James Scalia; Mr. Robert Zeagler; Mrs. T. L. Zeagler and the hostess.

You can wash soot and dirt off the leaves of house plants, enabling them to "breathe." First protect the earth in the pot by placing a piece of waxed paper, slit at one side, around the stem of the plant. Dip leaves into warm soapsuds and then into rinse water. Broad leaves can be wiped with sudsy cloth, then with a rinse cloth. An atomizer will clean delicate foliage well. Dry plants away from sunshine.

Miss Barton Is Elected Officer Of Delta Zeta

Miss Emma Lou Barton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Barton was recently elected corresponding secretary of Delta Zeta Sorority at Louisiana State University.

The installation ceremonies were held immediately following a banquet in the Cypress Room at Mike and Tony's. They were performed by Mrs. J. Wilson Lapine of Thibodeaux who is the province director of province 9.

Other officers installed were: president, Pat Neck of New Roads; first vice-president, Wanda Menetre of Covington; second vice-president, Gail Gibbens of Cinclare; recording secretary, Maude Flanagan of New Orleans; treasurer, Natalie Reulet of Rosedale; and historian, Jeanie Dupont of Plaquemine.

Miss Sue Hunt Honored At Series Of Parties

Miss Sue Hunt, lovely fiancee of Mr. Eugene Hardin, is being continuously feted with parties, prior to her mid-April wedding.

Among the many courtesies honoring the bride-to-be was a luncheon last Saturday at the La Casa Tea Room by Mrs. Malcolm LeFevre, Mrs. Warren McGee and Miss Katherine Averette.

For this occasion the honoree was wearing a brown shantung dress with yellow dandelion hat and yellow corsage, a gift of the hostesses. Miss Hunt was also presented a gift of silver in her chosen pattern and an ice crusher.

An arrangement of calla lilies centered the luncheon table while on the mantle yellow and white Dutch iris with bridal wreath was used flanked on either side by yellow and white love birds.

FARM PARTY

Guests were asked to wear farm clothes to the barbecue given by Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett at Synope plantation near Columbia Tuesday night.

Miss Hunt typified the farmerette in a denim skirt and stripped shirt which was complimented by an Easter egg corsage.

Colorful giant Easter eggs overflowed from a handsome silver candelabra centering the bride's table. Other arrangements carried out the Easter theme including a white bunny and basket filled with dyed eggs. Place cards for the barbecue were artificial baby chicks.

In addition to the bride-elect and her fiance, Mr. Hardin, the following took part in the plantation party: Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Mahaffery; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jordan; Mr. and Mrs. David Hunt; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mitchell; Dr. Katherine Foster; Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Kramer; Mrs. Betty Hastings; Mr. Ned Reynolds; Miss Jorena Reynolds; Miss Bootsie Buce; Mr. Fred Bennett, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hunt and the hostesses.

SHOWER GIVEN

Miss Hunt was also complimented with a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. Calvert Frantom last Monday with Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Ed Hislop, Mrs. A. Grayson Hicks and Mrs. James Hall, as hostesses.

French dogwood and white irises were placed at vantage points throughout the living room. The bride's table was centered with an attractive arrangement of white lilies.

For the occasion, Miss Hunt wore a becoming white linen model with a blue stole and corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Enjoying the party with the honoree, were her mother, Mrs. A. D. Hunt; Mrs. Raymond Potter; Mrs. Ernest Bradshaw; Mrs. Floyd McCormick; Mrs. J. E. Boughton; Mrs. C. B. Hardin; Mrs. W. E. Corn; Mrs. M. R. Coon; Mrs. W. C. Feazel; Mrs. W. D. Albritton; Mrs. H. R. Eady; Mrs. J. F. Jones, Jr.; Mrs. Gene Rainbolt; Mrs. R. C. Mahaffery; Mrs. Webb Goodlett; Mrs. Mollie McAfee; Mrs. Shirley Smith; Miss Ewina Albritton; Mrs. Gladys Camp; Mrs. Dan L. Nevils; Mrs. R. F. Coates; Mrs. B. H. YWCA Activities

YWCA BOARD

On Thursday morning the YWCA Board met at the Y with Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, president, presiding. The meeting was opened with a devotional given by Reverend J. T. Horton. Reverend Horton read two portions of scripture: the story of the Good Samaritan and the story of Mary and Martha . . . the scriptures bringing out service and aiding those in need and then the need for renweing our spiritual needs by staying in the Master's presence. Mrs. E. P. Cudd, chairman for Y Week, stated that there would be a planning committee meeting on Monday to complete the plans for the "Open House" at the YWCA on Thursday, April 23rd, 7:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. Mrs. N. W. McHenry, membership chairman, stated that there have been eight new members to join the YWCA since the last board meeting in March. Miss Juanita Porter, building chairman, gave a report on the inspection of the building and the recommendations that had been made. One of the concerns of the Y was in regards to the type of parade that is held at Christmastime in the city, and a committee: Mrs. Cudd, Miss Porter, and Mrs. Montgomery was appointed to investigate and recommend certain things about the parade. The board voted to cooperate with other church groups and organizations in regard to problems which are related to welfare of the youth of our community. Reports on the program groups: the Y-ves and Y-Teens were given by Mrs. B. E. McWilliams and Mrs. T. H. Scott. Miss Sharp gave a report on the meeting of the executive and advisory boards of the YWCA. Plans are being made by Mrs. N. W. McHenry, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, Mrs. E. B. Ellison, and Miss Juanita Porter as the committee and the "Social" committee from the Pilot Club for a joint supper-meeting for all YWCA Board members and all Pilot members at which time the Pilot Club will officially present their gift: a wonderful barbecue pit to the YWCA. The YWCA state meeting will be held in Alexandria, La. on Tuesday, April 14th. Mrs. Charles Rosenberg, a National YWCA board member, Mrs. E. H. Green of Cleveland, Mississippi, Mrs. Milton Adler of New Orleans YWCA will be the leaders and key speakers for the sessions. Two international guests: Mrs. Myako Ishibashi of Tokoyo YWCA and Miss Mabel Gardner of the YWCA of Hyderabad, India, will be at the meeting. The afternoon sessions will be in the form of discussion groups on (1.) Y-Teen Program; (2.) Young Adult Work, which includes: Health Education, Residence, Y-ves, and B. & P. or Employed Girls groups; and (3.) Membership, members and their place in the YWCA. Delegates from Monroe Association will be: Mrs. Mulhern, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Hundley, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Cudd, Miss Sharp, and Miss Porter. Mrs. L. N. Copes was welcomed as a new member of the board.

Y-ves' Club

Nancy McGoldrick, Cay McWilliams, Gwen Nesthus, Lillian Smith, Ruby Trammell, Edna Bishop, Lou Levis, Julie Gimler, and LaRue Davis met at the Art Shop with Mr. Spatafora to discuss various hobbies in the field of art which members are interested in. Textile and figurine painting were discussed.

A class in flower arranging is scheduled for one of the club meetings.

B. & P. Club

Mary Riser gave the devotional at the regular meeting of the B. & P. Club on Thursday night at the Y. The group had supper together in the dining room which was very colorful and decorated in the Easter moitf and colors. Betty Lou Alpha and Rosemary Colligan served as hostesses for this meeting. Ella Pearl Sutton, program chairman, announced that Miss Frances Barnes will be the guest speaker on April 16th. Members present were: Jenibe Westbrook, Ella Pearl Sutton, Bobbye Beach, Christina Romano, Marion Simmons, Rosemary Colligan, Betty Lou Alpha, Lorraine Ragland, Phoebe Miller, Pat Patrick, Roberta Henry, Mary Riser, Eva Smith, and Bess Sharp.

"The True Meaning of Easter" was the theme of the talk which Oscar Cloyd, one of the outstanding young men of the senior class at OPHS and one who is planning as his life's work: being a minister, gave to the Y-Teens at their annual Easter worship service at the YWCA on Thursday afternoon. Ann Hebert played a piano solo: "My Jesus I Love Thee." Gloria Thompson and Eunice Ann Trew sang "Fairest Lord Jesus," and Donna Rhea Welch accompanied them at the piano. Mary Virginia Parker president of Inter-Club Council, served as leader for the service and led the group in reading scriptures for "Good Friday." The group sang: "I Will Sing of My Redeemer" and "He Lives." The service was closed with Y-Teen motto.

The Lenwil Y-Teen Clubs had their Easter Worship services on Wednesday at Lenwil School. Reverend Earl Monzingo was the guest speaker for the 7th grade club meeting. His talk was based on the theme: "The Basket and The Mind" and he used scriptures from Proverbs and Phillippians. Delores Jackson read the devotional. A quartet composed of Carolyn Howell, Maxine Johns, Wanda Fox, and Julia George sang: "Ring Sweet Easter Bells." Ruth Coates opened the meeting of the Blue Triangle Club with a devotional. A quartet composed of Jackie Joyner, Mildred Haley, Catherine Rawls, and Catherine Funderburk sang: "Mansions Over the Hilltop." Billy Blazier, who is studying to be a minister, gave the Easter Meditation. The meeting was closed with the Y-Teen motto.

YRG's

"The Meaning of Easter" was the devotional given by Miss Bess Sharp at the YRG's meeting on Monday. The Easter motif was carried out in the table decorations and dining room. Shirley Zumbro and Pearl Hopkins served as hostseses for the meeting. Members present were: Frances McClary, Nell Furr, Helen Crosby, Vauna Dean Newsom, Ernestine Hickingbottom, Marie Bienz, Melba Dumas, Pearl Hopkins, and Shirley Zumbro, Miss Sharp, and Mrs. Hundley.

JUNE WEDDING — Miss Dorothy Prewitt's engagement and approaching marriage to Bobby A. Lee is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Prewitt. Mr. Lee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lee of West Monroe. The wedding will be solemnized sometime in June.

Miss Sue Hunt Honored At Series Of Parties

Miss Sue Hunt, lovely fiancee of Mr. Eugene Hardin, is being continuously feted with parties, prior to her mid-April wedding.

Among the many courtesies honoring the bride-to-be was a luncheon last Saturday at the La Casa Tea Room by Mrs. Malcolm LeFevre, Mrs. Warren McGee and Miss Katherine Averette.

For this occasion the honoree was wearing a brown shantung dress with yellow dandelion hat and yellow corsage, a gift of the hostesses. Miss Hunt was also presented a gift of silver in her chosen pattern and an ice crusher.

An arrangement of calla lilies centered the luncheon table while on the mantle yellow anu white Dutch iris with bridal wreath was used flanked on either side by yellow and white love birds.

FARM PARTY

Guests were asked to wear farm clothes to the barbecue given by Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett at Synope plantation near Columbia Tuesday night.

Miss Hunt typified the farmerette in a denim skirt and stripped shirt which was complimented by an Easter egg corsage.

Colorful giant Easter eggs overflowed from a handsome silver candelabra centering the bride's table. Other arrangements carried out the Easter theme including a white bunny and basket filled with dyed eggs. Place cards for the barbecue were artificial baby chicks.

In addition to the bride-elect and her fiance, Mr. Hardin, the following took part in the plantation party: Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Mahaffery; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jordan; Mr. and Mrs. David Hunt; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mitchell; Dr. Katherine Foster; Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Kramer; Mrs. Betty Hastings; Mr. Ned Reynolds; Miss Jorena Reynolds; Miss Bootsie Buce; Mr. Fred Bennett, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hunt and the hostesses.

SHOWER GIVEN

Miss Hunt was also complimented with a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. Calvert Frantom last Monday with Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Ed Hislop, Mrs. A. Grayson Hicks and Mrs. James Hall, as hostesses.

French dogwood and white irises were placed at vantage points throughout the living room. The bride's table was centered with an attractive arrangement of white lilies.

For the occasion, Miss Hunt wore a becoming white linen model with a blue stole and corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Enjoying the party with the honoree, were her mother, Mrs. A. D. Hunt; Mrs. Raymond Potter; Mrs. Ernest Bradshaw; Mrs. Floyd McCormick; Mrs. J. E. Boughton; Mrs. C. B. Hardin; Mrs. W. E. Corn; Mrs. M. R. Coon; Mrs. W. C. Feazel; Mrs. W. D. Albritton; Mrs. H. R. Eady; Mrs. J. F. Jones, Jr.; Mrs. Gene Rainbolt; Mrs. R. C. Mahaffery; Mrs. Webb Goodlett; Mrs. Mollie McAfee; Mrs. Shirley Smith; Miss Ewina Albritton; Mrs. Gladys Camp; Mrs. Dan L. Nevils; Mrs. R. F. Coates; Mrs. B. H. Dyar; Mrs. Sue Boulware and the hostesses.

Mrs. McAdams Is Club Hostess

Mrs. C. D. McAdams was hostess to the Monroe Literary Club recently at which time W. L. "Jack" Howard spoke to members on "Civic Problems"

Mrs. C. E. Coe presided at the short business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. H. Baugh. Following the business meeting a general discussion was enjoyed by all.

Members present for the meeting were Mrs. D. A. Altick, Mrs. C. E. Coe, Mrs. A. B. Colmer, Mrs J. H. Drake, Mrs. Guy DuPriest, Mrs. Floyd Ferrell, Mrs. Jack Howard, Mrs. A. M. Kite, Mrs. C. T. Pifer, Mrs. C. H. Miller, and Mrs. J. W. Womack.

YWCA Activities

YWCA BOARD

On Thursday morning the YWCA Board met at the Y with Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, president, presiding. The meeting was opened with a devotional given by Reverend J. T. Horton. Reverend Horton read two portions of scripture: the story of the Good Samaritan and the story of Mary and Martha . . . the scriptures bringing out service and aiding those in need and then the need for renweing our spiritual needs by staying in the Master's presence. Mrs. E. P. Cudd, chairman for Y Week, stated that there would be a planning committee meeting on Monday to complete the plans for the "Open House" at the YWCA on Thursday, April 23rd, 7:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. Mrs. N. W. McHenry, membership chairman, stated that there have been eight new members to join the YWCA since the last board meeting in March. Miss Juanita Porter, building chairman, gave a report on the inspection of the building and the recommendations that had been made. One of the concerns of the Y was in regards to the type of parade that is held at Christmastime in the city, and a committee: Mrs. Cudd, Miss Porter, and Mrs. Montgomery was appointed to investigate and recommend certain things about the parade. The board voted to cooperate with other church groups and organizations in regard to problems which are related to welfare of the youth of our community. Reports on the program groups: the Y-ves and Y-Teens were given by Mrs. B. E. McWilliams and Mrs. T. H. Scott. Miss Sharp gave a report on the meeting of the executive and advisory boards of the YWCA. Plans are being made by Mrs. N. W. McHenry, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, Mrs. E. B. Ellison, and Miss Juanita Porter as the committee and the "Social" committee from the Pilot Club for a joint supper-meeting for all YWCA Board members and all Pilot members at which time the Pilot Club will officially present their gift: a wonderful barbecue pit to the YWCA. Ross, Mr. Phil Saragusa, Mrs. Helen Agnew, Mrs. Taunton Veazey, Mrs. John S. Brown and Miss Hermione Driskell.

Plans will be completed for this year's campaign. Renewal week will begin the week of April 13th. All present members will be given an opportunity to renew. The Campaign will continue with the Annual Kick Off Dinner which will be held at the Virginia Hotel Monday April 20th at 7:30 p.m.

We have every confidence of getting a capacity membership this year, a waiting list and the finest possible programs for the Twin Cities, stated Miss Mickel. She added, "we will be limited to the acceptance of only about 200 additional memberships after the renewal of present members is received.

The Twin City concert Association has brought such outstanding artists as Lily Pons, and the famed Boston Pops Orchestra. The Association will present James Melton, leading tenor with the Metroplitian Opera Company, and recognized internationally for his work on the stage, screen, radio television and concert at Neville High Auditorium Monday April 13th.

ENGAGEMENT TOLD — Mr. and Mrs. Odis A. Coody of Oak Grove announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Leodis, to James Richard Kidd, son of Mrs. M. E. Kidd and the late M. E. Kidd of Choudrant. The wedding will take place in May.

Out-Of-Town Guests Entertained Daily

Claiming paramount social interest in Monroe throughout the past week have been Mrs. Herbert Norwood and Mrs. Sidney Magee, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Hudson, who have been entertained with a series of inspiring parties.

On Thursday, Mrs. Clark Boardman and Mrs. Carl McHenry complimented Mrs. Norwood and Mrs. Magee, with a lovely luncheon in the Boardman home.

COFFEE HOUR

Mrs. Ross Lawrence of Chicago formerly Miss Elizabeth Carr of Monroe, shared honors with Mrs. Norwood and Mrs. Magee at a morning coffee hour Thursday when Mrs. King Stubbs and Mrs. Travis Oliver were hostesses.

The Stubbs home was attractively decorated with ivy and cut flowers. Centering the table was a colorful unique Easter egg tree and a fruit bowl arrangement which carried out the Easter theme.

Between forty and fifty friends called between the hours of 10:30 and 12 o'clock.

Mrs. Magee later dined with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biedenharn.

GOLF AND LUNCH

Friday morning, Mrs. Magee played a round of golf with Mrs. Clark Upp at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club and was later Mrs. Upp's guest at lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schubert honored Mrs. Magee at a cocktail party at their home on Pargoud between 4 and 6 o'clock Friday.

A luncheon and bridge party with Mrs. L. E. Ducote honored Mrs. Magee Saturday, before she departed for her home Sunday morning.

Mrs. Slade Brown Will Launch Concert Drive

Plans are underway for the launching of the annual Twin City Concert Membership Campaign, Miss Freeda Mickel, Membership director of the association announces. Mrs. L. Slade Brown will entertain division leaders, captains, and members of the board Thursday evening April 9th at 7:30 at her home on Lakeside drive. Division leaders who will attend with their captains are: Mrs. Z. C. Ambrose, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. Florence Allbritton, Mrs. H. L. Ross, Mr. Phil Saragusa, Mrs. Helen Agnew, Mrs. Taunton Veazey, Mrs. John S. Brown and Miss Hermione Driskell.

Plans will be completed for this year's campaign. Renewal week will begin the week of April 13th. All present members will be given an opportunity to renew. The Campaign will continue with the Annual Kick Off Dinner which will be held at the Virginia Hotel Monday April 20th at 7:30 p.m.

We have every confidence of getting a capacity membership this year, a waiting list and the finest possible programs for the Twin Cities stated Miss Mickel. She added, "we will be limited to the acceptance of only about 200 additional memberships after the renewal of present members is received.

The Twin City concert Association has brought such outstanding artists as Lily Pons, and the famed Boston Pops Orchestra. The Association will present James Melton, leading tenor with the Metroplitian Opera Company, and recognized internationally for his work on the stage, screen, radio television and concert at Neville High Auditorium Monday April 13th.

ENGAGEMENT TOLD — Mr. and Mrs. Odis A. Coody of Oak Grove announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Leodis, to James Richard Kidd, son of Mrs. M. E. Kidd and the late M. E. Kidd of Choudrant. The wedding will take place in May.

Out-Of-Town Guests Entertained Daily

Claiming paramount social interest in Monroe throughout the past week have been Mrs. Herbert Norwood and Mrs. Sidney Magee, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Hudson, who have been entertained with a series of inspiring parties.

On Thursday, Mrs. Clark Boardman and Mrs. Carl McHenry complimented Mrs. Norwood and Mrs. Magee, with a lovely luncheon in the Boardman home.

COFFEE HOUR

Mrs. Ross Lawrence of Chicago formerly Miss Elizabeth Carr of Monroe, shared honors with Mrs. Norwood and Mrs. Magee at a morning coffee hour Thursday when Mrs. King Stubbs and Mrs. Travis Oliver were hostesses.

The Stubbs home was attractively decorated with ivy and cut flowers. Centering the table was a colorful unique Easter egg tree and a fruit bowl arrangement which carried out the Easter theme.

Between forty and fifty friends called between the hours of 10:30 and 12 o'clock.

Mrs. Magee later dined with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biedenharn.

GOLF AND LUNCH

Friday morning, Mrs. Magee played a round of golf with Mrs. Clark Upp at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club and was later Mrs. Upp's guest at lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schubert honored Mrs. Magee at a cocktail party at their home on Pargoud between 4 and 6 o'clock Friday.

Roamin' In The Rural

The agent will be back meeting the clubs this month. (She has been holding sewing workshops for the past two months.) The clubs which she will meet this month are as follows: Lenwil, April 8th; Cheniere, April 9th; Woodlawn, April 10; Lamkin, April 14th; Watson, April 15th; Thrifty Homemaker, April 17th; Claiborne, April 22nd; Bosco, April 28th; two clubs have already met (Lakeview and Progressive.)

Our demonstration in April is "Preparing Foods For Freezer," — Everyone with a home freezer or a locker at freezer plant will be able to get new first-hand information. You are invited to attend the club nearest you. The food preservation which was scheduled in Year Book for April 7th and 8th has been postponed until May 1st.

Other work in April will be three simple sewing workshops; Colony April 14th, 16,20, and 21st; Lamkin April 14,17,23,24; Cadville, April 10th at 10:00 a.m. also the 27th at 1:00 p.m. and the 29th and 30th all day.

Life in the country— It has been said by authorities that the open country has many advantages for rearing a family. This was proven true as the Thrifty Homemakers' group had their simple sewing work shop at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Lee on Williams Road in West Monroe last Monday and Tuesday. The group enjoyed the big spacious home and the open country. Three mothers had their pre-school age children with them and worked without fear of them being in the street, or being hit by a car. The child hears less "dont" under these conditions and thus develops unrestrained.

Since rubbish is a fire hazard, keep all such material in covered, galvanized steel garbage cans until it is ready to be disposed of.

Delta Beta Sigma Sorority Members Entertain At Home

The Delta Beta Sigma Sorority members had the honor of entertaining the members of St. Joseph's Home on March 31 at 6:30 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Grey Ladies. The show was "The Saints," and the theme was a view into typical teenagers life in the familiar setting, the drug store. The program was as follows, "The Saints," the band Lela Reese and Albert Carolyn Futrell as Mr. Doolittle, high school principal; "Side by Side" sung by the group; a Charleston by Pat Parnell and Connie Pickering; group singing of "She's A D. B. S."; "Charmaine" played by the band; "Way Down Yonder in New Orleans" by Lynn Merriman and Dixie Johnson; "Take Me Out to the Ballgame" by Mary Pat Welch, Jan Demmary, Mickey Burford, Gayle Roark, Nancy Ledbetter and Janice Strong; "Popcorn Sack" by Dawson Ann Forman; "Don't Fence Me In" by Ann Flinn.

"Alright, Louie Drop That Gun" by Mary Pat Welch; "It's A Sin to Tell a Lie" by Lynn Merriman; "How Could You Believe Me" by Lynn Merriman and Ann Flinn; "Brokenhearted" by Lynn Merriman; "I Apologize" by Ann Flinn; "Managuo Nicaragua" by Connie Pickering; "Doodley Doo" by Shelley McDonald; "Dark Town Sturtter's Ball," "Till I Waltz Again With You," "Walkin' My Baby Back Home," and "Bunny Hop," played by the band; and football songs by Gaye Olcott and Connie Pickering.

Following the show refreshments were served by the Grey Ladies and members of the sorority.

Annual Meeting Of The Women Of Covenant Church

The annual meeting of the Women of the Covenant Presbyterian church was held in the Science room of Northeast College and was of unusual interest as it featured the reports of general officers and chairmen of committees. The program was directed by Mrs. Howard Rivers. As each officer gave her report, spoke of the stitches she had knitted and of those she had dropped during the year. The president in giving her report spoke of the rapid growth of the Women of the Covenant Church during this first year of organization, closing the report with the challenge to go forward into the new church year for greater service for the upbuilding of Christs Kingdom here on earth.

The installation of officers for the year was conducted by Rev. Wayne Gray. They are as follows; President, Mrs. D. Curtis Smith; First Vice-President, Mrs. O. Wharton Brown; Second Vice-Pres.; Mrs. H. D. Touchstone; Historian, Mrs. R. Y. Stewart; Recording Sec. Mrs. L. Milton King; Corresponding Sec., Mrs. Wayne Gray; Treasurer, Mrs. Agee Glud; The following Chairmen were appointed: World Missions, Mrs. Sid Walker, Church Extension, Mrs. Dewitt Milam; Spiritual Growth, Mrs. W. K. Olmstead; Annuities and Relief, Mrs. D. W. Griffith; Christian Education, Mrs. Howard Rivers; Stewardship, Miss Ruth Atkins; Special Causes, Mrs. Culburt Lee; Pastor's Aid Mrs. George Hemphill; Circle Chairmen; Mrs. Ernest Holloway, Mrs. R. W. Ensminger, Mrs. J. B. Young, Mrs. J. D. Hamilton, Mrs. W. T. Hollis, and Mrs. Frank V. Spivey. Counselors for the evening circles are Mrs. Howard Young and Mrs. Victor Davis. At the conclusion of the installation a social hour was enjoyed.

Auxiliary Of U.S.W.V. Meets

The March meeting of the United Spanish War Veterans Auxiliary was held in the home of Mrs. Minnie Mangham. The Chaplain, Mrs. Leita Mae Davis gave the opening prayer. Reports of the various committees were given. Of special interest was that of the Red Cross Committee. Mrs. Alma McKee president reported a donation given to purchase a history of the Spanish American War to be placed in the public library. Mrs. Mary Hood was elected as delegate to the State Convention to be held in New Iberia April 25 and 26. Mrs. Dell S. Robinson was nominated as alternate.

Plans were formulated for a party to celebrate the birthday of the Auxiliary. This party will also honor the Department President Mrs. Minnie Mangham, Mrs. Mabel Caviness, Department Secretary, Mrs. Alethia Manghom, Department Treasurer and Mrs. Stella Courtney and Mrs. Mamie Arnette past Department Presidents. Plans were made to remember sick and shut in members on Easter with cards and flowers. The meeting was closed and a delightful social hour followed.

Woman's Group Celebrates Founder's Day

The Woman's Auxiliary to the National Federation of Post Office Clerks celebrated Founder's Day at their March meeting held recently in the home of Mrs. Vernon Mears. The house was beautifully decorated with spring flowers. A lovely arrangement of purple iris and yellow daffodils graced the console table in the vestibule. Several arrangements of purple and white iris and daffodils were placed at vantage points throughout the living room and a shallow bowl of camellias was placed on the coffee table.

After a short business session, a special Founder's Day program was enjoyed by the group. A playlet was presented by Mrs. Leo Nash, Chairman, Mrs. Henry Hoffman, Mrs. Newton Horne and Mrs. Mears. Beautiful orchid corsages were presented by Mrs. Thomas Zeigler, president, to Mrs. Vaughan Gardner and Mrs. J. N. Davis, these ladies being the oldest members of the Monroe Auxiliary.

The guests were then invited into the dining room where refreshments were served. The table was covered with a beautiful Irish linen lace cloth. The centerpiece was a crystal basket holding an arrangement of purple and white iris, yellow daffodils and white calla lilies. Crystal candlesticks holding tall white tapers were placed at each end of the table. The spring motif was also carried out in the refreshments; the punch was spring green, the dainty sandwiches were green and white and the mints were various pastel colors. Mrs. Nash presided at the crystal punch bowl.

Those enjoying the affair were Mesdames George Fortenberry, Francis Hays, J. H. Edmonds, N. J. Herlevic, Raymond Sweet, Lehnon Fisher, J. N. Davis, Vaughan Gardner, Newton Horne, L. L. Nash, Thomas Zeagler, Henry Hoffman and the hostess."

Your Problems
By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: The mess I am in is so great that I don't even know how I can start to climb out. I am married and have been going out with a married man for two years. Neither his wife nor my husband knows about the affair but, as others do, I am afriad it won't be long. I know he loves me sincerely and though I did love him I know now that I love my husband and would never give him up for this other man. I have asked him repeatedly to help me break up before something serious happens, but he refuses and says not to worry.

Should I tell my husband about the whole thing even though I know he would leave me instantly and break my heart? How can I stop this dreadful thing? — No Name

If I live to be 100 (and I've got a good start) I will never understand how you expect these messy, behind-doors affairs to end. Why didn't you do your grand confessing when it was such a "wonderful" love, clear out and marry the man after he did the same? Now, when you smell the danger of detection in the air, you want to confess all and break your husband's heart. Your motive, too, isn't all repentance, my friend. You are up against an impasse because your lover refuses to call it quits and you think your husband will end it for you.

Let us leave your betrayed husband out of it; allow him to retain his wife, home and heart; why should he suffer? If you want to end your affair you can do it yourself and you know it. It is as simple as never seeing or speaking to the man again. You don't have to consider his feelings; you owe him nothing. And, he certainly can't afford to "snitch" on you as you have the same recourse of which he is well aware. Why don't you try it?

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married for three years but have lived together only one year. We have no children. I am 21. For the last year my husband has been living with another woman and they have a daughter a year old. I am in love with a very wonderful man who wants to marry me. I have the money for a divorce, but my husband refuses to grant it. Can you tell me what to do?—Anonymous.

Who does your husband think he is, the judge? He is in no position to "grant" or "not grant" anything. Don't consult your husband. Just see a lawyer and let him tell your husband the score. I don't think you'll have any further trouble with him!

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am another of those girls in "trouble." Will you please give me the name and address of that place where girls in trouble go? Please answer soon. —J. C.

Many years ago, when one of my boys was a little tot learning about heaven, his dad said, "That's where the good boys go." John answered, "Where do the bad boys go?" Now I have learned the answer. . .the bad boys go their merry ways and the girls-they-got-in-trouble go to their nearest Family Welfare Department.

To E. T. of Whitewood, S. D.: Since the wedding is in a church you and your daughter wear hats. The head usher escorts the bridegroom's mother in alone; father follows right behind and takes his seat next to mother. If there are no ushers, mother and father can walk in together. The children follow and sit in the pew behind you. The children participating sit together on chairs placed in front of the first pew and off to one side.

To others wishing wedding or any detailed information: Please send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a personal reply.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the News-Star.

Zealand Wool Exports Led All Others In 1952

WELLINGTON. —New Zealand's principal dollar exports during 1952 were wool and butter,, which brought in about 17 million and 1½ million pounds, respectively. Total revenue from wool dropped more than 50 million pounds from the 1951 figure, but meat shipments climbed about 10 million pounds in value.

The agent will be back meeting the clubs this month. (She has been holding sewing workshops for the past two months.) The clubs which she will meet this month are as follows: Lenwil, April 8th; Cheniere, April 9th; Woodlawn, April 10; Lamkin, April 14th; Watson, April 15th; Thrifty Homemaker, April 17th; Claiborne, April 22nd; Bosco, April 28th; two clubs have already met (Lakeview and Progressive.)

Our demonstration in April is "Preparing Foods For Freezer," — Everyone with a home freezer or a locker at freezer plant will be able to get new first-hand information. You are invited to attend the club nearest you. The food preservation which was scheduled in Year Book for April 7th and 8th has been postponed until May 1st.

Other work in April will be three simple sewing workshops; Colony April 14th, 16,20, and 21st; Lamkin April 14,17,23,24; Cadville, April 10th at 10:00 a.m. also the 27th at 1:00 p.m. and the 29th and 30th all day.

Life in the country— It has been said by authorities that the open country has many advantages for rearing a family. This was proven true as the Thrifty Homemakers' group had their simple sewing work shop at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Lee on Williams Road in West Monroe last Monday and Tuesday. The group enjoyed the big spacious home and the open country. Three mothers had their pre-school age children with them and worked without fear of them being in the street, or being hit by a car. The child hears less "dont" under these conditions and thus develops unrestrained.

Since rubbish is a fire hazard, keep all such material in covered, galvanized steel garbage cans until it is ready to be disposed of.

HILITES DANCE — Dancing to the music of Sleepy Spears, the School Hilites celebrated their first annual Spring formal on Friday night. The dance was held on the roof of the Frances Hotel.

Following the show refreshments were served by the Grey Ladies and members of the sorority.

Annual Meeting Of The Women Of Covenant Church

The annual meeting of the Women of the Covenant Presbyterian church was held in the Science room of Northeast College and was of unusual interest as it featured the reports of general officers and chairmen of committees. The program was directed by Mrs. Howard Rivers. As each officer gave her report, spoke of the stitches she had knitted and of those she had dropped during the year. The president in giving her report spoke of the rapid growth of the Women of the Covenant Church during this first year of organization, closing the report with the challenge to go forward into the new church year for greater service for the upbuilding of Christs Kingdom here on earth.

The installation of officers for the year was conducted by Rev. Wayne Gray. They are as follows; President, Mrs. D. Curtis Smith; First Vice-President, Mrs. O. Wharton Brown; Second Vice - Pres.; Mrs. H. D. Touchstone; Historian, Mrs. R. Y. Stewart; Recording Sec. Mrs. L. Milton King; Corresponding Sec., Mrs. Wayne Gray; Treasurer, Mrs. Agee Glud; The following Chairmen were appointed: World Missions, Mrs. Sid Walker, Church Extension, Mrs. Dewitt Milam; Spiritual Growth, Mrs. W. K. Olmstead; Annuities and Relief, Mrs. D. W. Griffith; Christian Education, Mrs. Howard Rivers; Stewardship, Miss Ruth Atkins; Special Causes, Mrs. Culburt Lee; Pastor's Aid Mrs. George Hemphill; Circle Chairmen; Mrs. Ernest Holloway, Mrs. R. W. Ensminger, Mrs. J. B. Young, Mrs. J. D. Hamilton, Mrs. W. T. Hollis, and Mrs. Frank V. Spivey. Counselors for the evening circles are Mrs. Howard Young and Mrs. Victor Davis. At the conclusion of the installation a social hour was enjoyed.

Auxiliary Of U.S.W.V. Meets

The March meeting of the United Spanish War Veterans Auxiliary was held in the home of Mrs. Minnie Mangham. The Chaplain, Mrs. Leita Mae Davis gave the opening prayer. Reports of the various committees were given. Of special interest was that of the Red Cross Committee. Mrs. Alma McKee president reported a donation given to purchase a history of the Spanish American War to be placed in the public library. Mrs. Mary Hood was elected as delegate to the State Convention to be held in New Iberia April 25 and 26. Mrs. Dell S. Robinson was nominated as alternate.

Plans were formulated for a party to celebrate the birthday of the Auxiliary. This party will also honor the Department President Mrs. Minnie Mangham, Mrs. Mabel Caviness, Department Secretary, Mrs. Alethia Manghom, Department Treasurer and Mrs. Stella Courtney and Mrs. Mamie Arnette past Department Presidents. Plans were made to remember sick and shut in members on Easter with cards and flowers. The meeting was closed and a delightful social hour followed.

Woman's Group Celebrates Founder's Day

The Woman's Auxiliary to the National Federation of Post Office Clerks celebrated Founder's Day at their March meeting held recently in the home of Mrs. Vernon Mears. The house was beautifully decorated with spring flowers. A lovely arrangement of purple iris and yellow daffodils graced the console table in the vestibule. Several arrangements of purple and white iris and daffodils were placed at vantage points throughout the living room and a shallow bowl of camellias was placed on the coffee table.

After a short business session, a special Founder's Day program was enjoyed by the group. A playlet was presented by Mrs. Leo Nash, Chairman, Mrs. Henry Hoffman, Mrs. Newton Horne and Mrs. Mears. Beautiful orchid corsages were presented by Mrs. Thomas Zeigler, president, to Mrs. Vaughan Gardner and Mrs. J. N. Davis, these ladies being the oldest members of the Monroe Auxiliary.

The guests were then invited into the dining room where refreshments were served. The table was covered with a beautiful Irish linen lace cloth. The centerpiece was a crystal basket holding an arrangement of purple and white iris, yellow daffodils and white calla lilies. Crystal candlesticks holding tall white tapers were placed at each end of the table. The spring motif was also carried out in the refreshments; the punch was spring green, the dainty sandwiches were green and white and the mints were various pastel colors. Mrs. Nash presided at the crystal punch bowl.

Those enjoying the affair were Mesdames George Fortenberry, Francis Hays, J. H. Edmonds, N. J. Herlevic, Raymond Sweet, Lehn.on Fisher, J. N. Davis, Vaughan Gardner, Newton Horne, L. L. Nash, Thomas Zeagler, Henry Hoffman and the hostess."

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: The mess I am in is so great that I don't even know how I can start to climb out. I am married and have been going out with a married man for two years. Neither his wife nor my husband knows about the affair but, as others do, I am afraid it won't be long. I know he loves me sincerely and though I did love him I know now that I love my husband and would never give him up for this other man. I have asked him repeatedly to help me break up before something serious happens, but he refuses and says not to worry.

Should I tell my husband about the whole thing even though I know he would leave me instantly and break my heart? How can I stop this dreadful thing? — No Name

If I live to be 100 (and I've got a good start) I will never understand how you expect these messy, behind - doors affairs to end. Why didn't you do your grand confessing when it was such a "wonderful" love, clear out and marry the man after he did the same? Now, when you smell the danger of detection in the air, you want to confess all and break your husband's heart. Your motive, too, isn't all repentance, my friend. You are up against an impasse because your lover refuses to call it quits and you think your husband will end it for you.

Let us leave your betrayed husband out of it; allow him to retain his wife, home and heart; why should he suffer? If you want to end your affair you can do it yourself and you know it. It is as simple as never seeing or speaking to the man again. You don't have to consider his feelings; you owe him nothing. And, he certainly can't afford to "snitch" on you as you have the same recourse of which he is well aware. Why don't you try it?

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married for three years but have lived together only one year. We have no children. I am 21. For the last year my husband has been living with another woman and they have a daughter a year old. I am in love with a very wonderful man who wants to marry me. I have the money for a divorce, but my husband refuses to grant it. Can you tell me what to do?—Anonymous.

Who does your husband think he is, the judge? He is in no position to "grant" or "not grant" anything. Don't consult your husband. Just see a lawyer and let him tell your husband the score. I don't think you'll have any further trouble with him!

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am another of those girls in "trouble." Will you please give me the name and address of that place where girls in trouble go? Please answer soon. —J. C.

Many years ago, when one of my boys was a little tot learning about heaven, his dad said, "That's where the good boys go." John answered, "Where do the bad boys go?" Now I have learned the answer. . .the bad boys go their merry ways and the girls - they-got - in - trouble go to their nearest Family Welfare Department.

To E. T. of Whitewood, S. D.: Since the wedding is in a church you and your daughter wear hats. The head usher escorts the bridegroom's mother in alone; father follows right behind and takes his seat next to mother. If there are no ushers, mother and father can walk in together. The children follow and sit in the pew behind you. The children participating sit together on chairs placed in front of the first pew and off to one side.

Zealand Wool Exports Led All Others In 1952

WELLINGTON. —New Zealand's principal dollar exports during 1952 were wool and butter,. which brought in about 17 million and 1½ million pounds, respectively. Total revenue from wool dropped more than 50 million pounds from the 1951 figure, but meat shipments climbed about 10 million pounds in value.

Barbara Ann Brooks Vows Pledged In Baptist Church

In a traditional green and white setting Sunday evening, March 29, at 6 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, Miss Barbara Ann Brooks became the bride of John Donald Hammock, in a double ring ceremony performed by Rev. G. Avery Lee, pastor. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard K. Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Hammock, all of Ruston.

Vows were exchanged under a wrought iron arch entwined with smilax, and placed before the altar banked with jade and emerald foliage and starred with bouquets of Easter lilies and white stock. Wrought iron standards, burning white tapers flanked each side of the baptistry, with myriads of lighted white tapers grouped along the chancel rail.

Preceding the ceremony Mr. Drew Shaw at the organ, rendered a program of prenuptial music and accompanied Mr. Marvin Solley who sang "Yours Is My Heart Alone," "Because" and the "Lord's Prayer."

The guests were seated by the ushers, John Langford of Baton Rouge, Jack Seale of DeRidder, William S. Carter, Gerald Van Hook, Jack Brooks and Henry Campbell, Jr.

The groom and his best man, his brother, Thomas W. Hammock Jr., of Logansport, awaited the bride and her attendants at the altar.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Henry Campbell, Jr., as matron of honor, and by her cousins, Miss Mary Jane Dillard of New Orleans and Mrs. G. W. James, Jr., Miss Louise Hammock, sister of the groom, Mrs. Louis Turbeville of Dallas, Mrs. A. D. Bourland and Mrs. William S. Carter. They were gowned in identical frocks of orchid net over orchid taffeta. Little taffeta shoulder boleros were worn over the strapless basques and very full skirts. They all carried cascade bouquets of pink delight roses, tied with the same color ribbon and poufs of maline. Bandeaus of tiny flowers were worn in their hair.

Little Miss Rebecca Hammock of Logansport, niece of the groom, was the dainty flower girl. Her dress was identical to those worn by the bridesmaids. She carried a quaint nosegay of early spring flowers.

Master Leonard Brooks Campbell, nephew of the bride, entered with the rings on a small white satin pillow.

The candles were lighted by Miss Penny Brooks and Miss Eleanor Brooks of Troy, N. Y. nieces of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her wedding gown of white brocaded satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, a round net yoke outlined with a soft fold of brocaded satin. The sleeves were long and tapered to lily points over her hands. The full skirt ended in a cathedral train. Her tiered finger tip veil of silk illusion, fell from a cap of lace, which was banded with narrow bands of white satin. She carried a bouquet centered with a single white orchid framed with delicate sprays of stephanotis and lilies of the valley tied with cascading streamers of satin ribbon. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls.

Mrs. Brooks, mother of the bride, was wearing a periwinkle blue chiffon over taffeta beaded with orchid and smoked pearl beads. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Hammock, the groom's mother, chose for the occasion a gown of orchid crepe and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

A wedding reception followed the ceremony in the home of the brides' parents on North Trenton Street. A pink, white and green motif was used in decoration. The brides' table was covered with a floor length white organdy over a satin cloth and was centered with a lovely arrangement of Easter lilies, white carnations and white tulips. Opposite the crystal punch bowl at one end of the table was the four - tiered wedding cake. Serving were, Mrs. W. H. Cook, Jr., Mrs. C. E. Barham, Mrs. Jack Brooks, and Mrs. W. T. Dillard. Assisting in other courtesies were Mrs. Gerald Van Hook, Mrs. K. O. Kilpatrick, Miss Elizabeth Golson of Monroe, Miss Cecile Ann Olliver and Mrs. H. C. Kilpatrick of Washington, D. C. Mrs. T. W. Hammock presided over the brides book.

Gritty cleaning powders wear the glaze off enamel, resulting in dull spots.

MRS. JOHN DONALD HAMMOCK — Before her wedding last Sunday was Miss Barbara Ann Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard K. Brooks. Mr. Hammock's parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Hammock, all of Ruston. The wedding was solemnized in the Baptist Church last Sunday.

Books For Every Taste At Ouachita Public Library

Among the new books received at the Ouachita Parish Public Library this week, are titles to appeal to almost every type of reader. Do you like historical novels? Then you will want to read "Torbeg" by Grace Campbell. This is a story set in Scotland in the year 1745. It is a story of life in the Highland glens. It is also a good love story and if you are of Scottish descent, you will certainly enjoy this story. Another novel with a historical background is "Stage of Fools" by Charles A. Brady. This is a fictional biography of Sir Thomas More. The dramatic quality, the almost pageant-like succession of scene on scene, the huge canvas of fifteenth and sixteenth century England which backs the activities of Sir Thomas More, give a panoramic effect to this rich narrative. Important personages stand out in high relief. The colored settings are unfaded and we get an unforgettable picture of life at the court of Henry VIII.

If you are one of the many people who find murder stories of great interest, there ar three for you in this week's group. "Akin to Murder" by Kathleen Moore Knight has a New England setting and is a story of family greed for money. "Murder Unlimited" by M. V. Heberden is a story of hit and run deaths all similiar and how Red, the detective solved them. Readers of Leslie Ford will be glad that Colonel Primrose is again on the scene in her latest story "Washington Whispers Murder."

There are many readers who especially enjoy reading stories with a modern setting. They will welcome three new titles. "Nine Stories" by J. D. Salinger is extremely modern in setting as well as type of writing. Mr. Salinger is the author of the popular "Catcher in the Rye" which appeared last year. "The Strangers" by William E. Wilson is an absorbing and challenging story built around the theme of the triangle, but with a very new approach. Garth Hale is the author of several novels dealing with the experiences of ministers of the gospel. His newest novel is called "The Everlasting Arms" and is the story of a minister who found that he had problems within his own family and of the methods he took to solve them.

Non-fiction is such an inclusive title that it embraces a wide variety of books. For those who like humor, there are three titles in this week's additions. "The Private Dining Room" is another book of humorous verses by Ogden Nash. "Snips and Snalis" by Louise Baker is a hillarious account of her life as teacher, house mother and town marshall in a boy's school. Mrs. Baker is the author of the very humorous "Out on a Limb" which appeared several years ago, and she has written an even funnier story this time. A Treasury of Golf Humor," edited by Dave Stanley contains stories which will appeal to every man or woman who plays golf."

In all of American history there has probably been no more controversial figure than that of Mary Todd, wife of Abraham Lincoln. Ruth Painter Randall has written a fascinating biography of her life, which she calls "Mary Lincoln, Biography of a Marriage." With imminent approach of the baseball season "The Lore and Legends of Baseball" by Mac Davis will be an extremely popular book. It contains all sorts of odd information about the great American game.

"Your Teeth And How to Keep Them" by Jerome J. Miller is an accurate and informative book and one that should be helpful to a great many people. "Insight into Astronomy" by Leo Mattersdorf is an excellent book dealing with the history of the heavens. "The Great Ideas of Plato," edited by Eugene Freeman is one that contains some of the most profound thoughts of the western world. Truly there is a book here for every taste. Your Library is waiting and eager to serve you.

Oak, maple, fir, pine and other wood floorings should be sealed for protection. Varnish, lacquer or shellac is suitable. This finish will not easily become ground off from dirt and foot - treads if regular wax care is given to it. The best type of wax to use on wood floors is the kind requiring polishing. Deteriorated wood floors, in particular, should be given polishing, rather than self - polishing, wax treatment.

The Truth About Hormones To Make Skin Look Young

As I write this article, I can look through the doorway and see a woman of 45 waiting in the outer office. The light is good. I see her clearly.

She looks 10 years younger today than she did a month ago. What brought about this amazing change? An estrogenic hormone cream.

Reams have been written about hormone creams. Will they make women of 75 look 16 again? Absolutely not! Will they make women of 60 feel like they are 20 again? Only in a way I shall explain later.

To know the truth about hormone creams, you need to learn just two simple facts 1, The beauty of a woman's skin starts breaking down as signs of menopause begin because the female organs fail to supply enough estrogenic hormones to feed the skin —less and less as you grow older. 2. Estrogenic hormones can be supplied to the skin by rubbing on a cream containing the hormones.

Here is a test reported in a scientific journal, one of many that showed similarly sensational results: Fifty women applied a hormone cream to one side of the face and neck, and to one hand. On the other side and the other hand, a similar cream containing no hormones was applied in the same way.

These are the reported results in simple words:

Skin lines (or wrinkles) quickly dimmed or disappeared from sight as creases and hollows filled out.

Blotches and "old-age freckles" faded on hands, face and neck.

Skin was softer, clearer, seemed to lose its chronic dryness, and take on revived freshness and vitality.

All these amazing things happened on the side where the hormone cream was used. Meanwhile no changes occurred on the other side. The same withered, lifeless complexion!

Still another scientist reports In effect, improvement in the skin of women past menopause was striking. These women looked like the years had been turned back toward their youthful "pre-change" appearance.

I have seen this myself I have seen the improvement so rapid that in just two days women looked younger. And what a lift to the spirits! I cannot truthfully say that women of 60 felt like they were 20 again. But I have seen the light come back in their eyes —their chins raised in proud confidence—the zest for living return—because—I presume—to look younger is to feel younger.

Now—to select a good estrogenic hormone cream, here is what you need to know: the strength of hormone creams must appear on the label. The recommended strength for the skin is 10,000 International Units per ounce. The cream base should be as rich in lanolin and vegetable oil as possible. You can tell a rich cream by its deep "coffee-cream" color, and by a sort of ropy consistency when you touch the surface with your fingertip, then raise your hand from the cream.

HORMELIN, a good buy on the hormone market. A product whose potency (10,000 I. U. per oz.) is absolutely guaranteed by the manufacturer. 3-ounce jar, $2.00. Excellent value.

They were gowned in identical frocks of orchid net over orchid taffeta. Little taffeta shoulder boleros were worn over the strapless basques and very full skirts. They all carried cascade bouquets of pink delight roses, tied with the same color ribbon and poufs of maline. Bandeaus of tiny flowers were worn in their hair.

Little Miss Rebecca Hammock of Logansport, niece of the groom, was the dainty flower girl. Her dress was identical to those worn by the bridesmaids. She carried a quaint nosegay of early spring flowers.

Master Leonard Brooks Campbell, nephew of the bride, entered with the rings on a small white satin pillow.

The candles were lighted by Miss Penny Brooks and Miss Eleanor Brooks of Troy, N. Y. nieces of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her wedding gown of white brocaded satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, a round net yoke outlined with a soft fold of brocaded satin. The sleeves were long and tapered to lily points over her hands. The full skirt ended in a cathedral train. Her tiered finger tip veil of silk illusion, fell from a cap of lace, which was banded with narrow bands of white satin. She carried a bouquet centered with a single white orchid framed with delicate sprays of stephanotis and lilies of the valley tied with cascading streamers of satin ribbon. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls.

Mrs. Brooks, mother of the bride, was wearing a periwinkle blue chiffon over taffeta beaded with orchid and smoked pearl beads. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Hammock, the groom's mother, chose for the occasion a gown of orchid crepe and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

A wedding reception followed the ceremony in the home of the brides' parents on North Trenton Street. A pink, white and green motif was used in decoration. The brides' table was covered with a floor length white organdy over a satin cloth and was centered with a lovely arrangement of Easter lilies, white carnations and white tulips. Opposite the crystal punch bowl at one end of the table was the four - tiered wedding cake. Serving were, Mrs. W. H. Cook, Jr., Mrs. C. E. Barham, Mrs. Jack Brooks, and Mrs. W. T. Dillard. Assisting in other courtesies were Mrs. Gerald Van Hook, Mrs. K. O. Kilpatrick, Miss Elizabeth Golson of Monroe, Miss Cecile Ann Oliver and Mrs. H. C. Kilpatrick of Washington, D. C. Mrs. T. W. Hammock presided over the brides book.

Gritty cleaning powders wear the glaze off enamel, resulting in dull spots.

MRS. JOHN DONALD HAMMOCK — Before her wedding last Sunday was Miss Barbara Ann Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard K. Brooks. Mr. Hammock's parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Hammock, all of Ruston. The wedding was solemnized in the Baptist Church last Sunday.

Books For Every Taste At Ouachita Public Library

Among the new books received at the Ouachita Parish Public Library this week, are titles to appeal to almost every type of reader. Do you like historical novels? Then you will want to read "Torbeg" by Grace Campbell. This is a story set in Scotland in the year 1745. It is a story of life in the Highland glens. It is also a good love story and if you are of Scottish descent, you will certainly enjoy this story. Another novel with a historical background is "Stage of Fools" by Charles A. Brady. This is a fictional biography of Sir Thomas More. The dramatic quality, the almost pageant-like succession of scene on scene, the huge canvas of fifteenth and sixteenth century England which backs the activities of Sir Thomas More, give a panoramic effect to this rich narrative. Important personages stand out in high relief. The colored settings are unfaded and we get an unforgettable picture of life at the court of Henry VIII.

If you are one of the many people who find murder stories of great interest, there ar- three for you in this week's group. "Akin to Murder" by Kathleen Moore Knight has a New England setting and is a story of family greed for money. "Murder Unlimited" by M. V. Heberden is a story of hit and run deaths all similiar and how Red, the detective solved them. Readers of Leslie Ford will be glad that Colonel Primrose is again on the scene in her latest story "Washington Whispers Murder."

There are many readers who especially enjoy reading stories with a modern setting. They will welcome three new titles. "Nine Stories" by J. D. Salinger is extremely modern in setting as well as type of writing. Mr. Salinger is the author of the popular "Catcher in the Rye" which appeared last year. "The Strangers" by William E. Wilson is an absorbing and challenging story built around the theme of the triangle, but with a very new approach. Garth Hale is the author of several novels dealing with the experiences of ministers of the gospel. His newest novel is called "The Everlasting Arms" and is the story of a minister who found that he had problems within his own family and of the methods he took to solve them.

Non-fiction is such an inclusive title that it embraces a wide variety of books. For those who like humor, there are three titles in this week's additions. "The Private Dining Room" is another book of humorous verses by Ogden Nash. "Snips and Snails" by Louise Baker is a hillarious account of her life as teacher, house mother and town marshall in a boy's school. Mrs. Baker is the author of the very humorous "Out on a Limb" which appeared several years ago, and she has written an even funnier story this time. A Treasury of Golf Humor," edited by Dave Stanley contains stories which will appeal to every man or woman who plays golf."

In all of American history there has probably been no more controversial figure than that of Mary Todd, wife of Abraham Lincoln. Ruth Painter Randall has written a fascinating biography of her life, which she calls "Mary Lincoln, Biography of a Marriage." With imminent approach of the baseball season "The Lore and Legends of Baseball" by Mac Davis will be an extremely popular book. It contains all sorts of odd information about the great American game.

"Your Teeth And How to Keep Them" by Jerome J. Miller is an accurate and informative book and one that should be helpful to a great many people. "Insight into Astronomy" by Leo Mattersdorf is an excellent book dealing with the history of the heavens. "The Great Ideas of Plato," edited by Eugene Freeman is one that contains some of the most profound thoughts of the western world. Truly there is a book here for every taste. Your Library is waiting and eager to serve you.

Rubber soap dishes, rubber drain board covers, rubber bowl scrapers and rubber gloves may all be cleaned with a baking soda solution. Use three tablespoons of the soda dissolved in a quart of warm water.

Oak, maple, fir, pine and other wood floorings should be sealed for protection. Varnish, lacquer or shellac is suitable. This finish will not easily become ground off from dirt and foot - treads if regular wax care is given to it. The best type of wax to use on wood floors is the kind requiring polishing. Deteriorated wood floors, in particular, should be given polishing, rather than self - polishing, wax treatment.

The Truth About Hormones To Make Skin Look Young

As I write this article, I can look through the doorway and see a woman of 45 waiting in the outer office. The light is good. I see her clearly.

She looks 10 years younger today than she did a month ago. What brought about this amazing change? An estrogenic hormone cream.

Reams have been written about hormone creams. Will they make women of 75 look 16 again? Absolutely not! Will they make women of 60 feel like they are 20 again? Only in a way I shall explain later.

To know the truth about hormone creams, you need to learn just two simple facts 1. The beauty of a woman's skin starts breaking down as signs of menopause begin because the female organs fail to supply enough estrogenic hormones to feed the skin —less and less as you grow older. 2. Estrogenic hormones can be supplied to the skin by rubbing on a cream containing the hormones.

Here is a test reported in a scientific journal, one of many that showed similarly sensational results: Fifty women applied a hormone cream to one side of the face and neck, and to one hand. On the other side and the other hand, a similar cream containing no hormones was applied in the same way.

These are the reported results in simple words:

Skin lines (or wrinkles) quickly dimmed or disappeared from sight as creases and hollows filled out.

Blotches and "old-age freckles" faded on hands, face and neck.

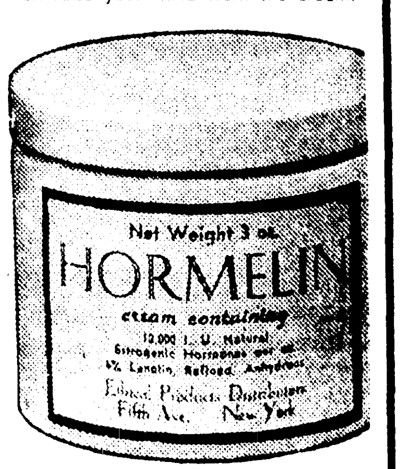
Skin was softer, clearer, seemed to lose its chronic dryness, and take on revived freshness and vitality.

All these amazing things happened on the side where the hormone cream was used. Meanwhile no changes occurred on the other side. The same withered, lifeless complexion!

Still another scientist reports in effect, improvement in the skin of women past menopause was striking. These women looked like the years had been turned back toward their youthful "pre-change" appearance.

I have seen this myself I have seen the improvement so rapid that in just two days women looked younger. And what a lift to the spirits! I cannot truthfully say that women of 60 felt like they were 20 again. But I have seen the light come back in their eyes —their chins raised in proud confidence—the zest for living return—because—I presume—to look younger is to feel younger.

Now—to select a good estrogenic hormone cream, here is what you need to know: the strength of hormone creams must appear on the label. The recommended strength for the skin is 10,000 International Units per ounce. The cream base should be as rich in lanolin and vegetable oil as possible. You can tell a rich cream by its deep "coffee-cream" color, and by a sort of ropy consistency when you touch the surface with your fingertip, then raise your hand from the cream.



HORMELIN, a good buy on the hormone market. A product whose potency (10,000 I. U. per oz.) is absolutely guaranteed by the manufacturer. 3-ounce jar, $2.00. Excellent value.

PUEBLA 'ANGELIC' CITY

PUEBLA, Mexico. — Puebla was founded April 16, 1531, when the land was divided in 40 lots. They were distributed as soon as they were measured. It was not until 1539 that Charles V of Spain issued a decree calling the city Puebla Angelica, because its founding was believed inspired by angels.

When milk bottles are emptied, rinse out with cold water to remove traces of milk. Then rinse with very hot water. If bottle contained sour milk or buttermilk and is to be used again in the home, soak with a cold water and borax solution.

The Skillet Club

By UNCLE FRANK KOHLER

Lamb Cardinal makes a highly elegant way to use up that left-over lamb. It is a fine chafing dish item, to be made right at the table, although it may be served from a copper - sheathed stainless steel skillet at the table. We do it in our trusty old iron skillet.

In addition to thin slices of cold cooked lamb, you will require:

¼ cup tarragon vinegar, ¼ cup currant jelly, ½ cup tomato catsup, 1 tablesppon butter, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire.

Cook until jelly is melted and all is blended together, then add ¼ teaspoon MSG, and salt and pepper to taste, then the thin slices of lamb, and cook about 20 minutes over low heat in the sauce. A tablespoon of marsala added just before serving makes this dish top-notch.

Fluffy mashed potatoes belong here, together with peas parisienne We make the latter with frozen peas, using one package for four. Use the following:

2 strips crisp bacon, crumbled, 1-3 cup onion, finely chopped, 1-3 cup celery, finely chopped, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon dried sweet basil. ¼ cup water (for pressure cooker), salt and pepper to taste.

We do these in a pressure cooker. Melt the butter in the cooker, taute the onion until tender but not brown, then stir in the celery and cook a little more. Thaw the peas before adding them, and stir them in along with the bits of bacon, basil, salt and pepper, and add the water. Stir all together.

Bring to pressure, cook 30 seconds, and reduce pressure immediately. If you don't use a pressure cooker, cook frozen peas in accordance with instructions on package, drain, and add remaining ingredients, eliminating the ¼ cup water. Mix well. Canned peas may be used, too. Heat, then drain and proceed as above.

The same procedure may be followed with fresh peas. Boil them in salted water with one teaspoon sugar until just tender, then drain and mix in remaining items.

We like a salad of tossed greens, carefully dried and chilled in the bowl. Over them pour one tablespoon wine tarragon vinegar, four tablespoons olive oil, a dash of garlic salt, salt and coarse-cracked pepper and toss all together.

Apple crunch, sent us by Mrs. Al Peters, Skilleteer of Hayward, Wis., concludes this repast well. Peel, core and slice enough tart green apples to give you a two-inch layer in a well - buttered baking dish. Mix 1-¼ cups of sugar with ½ teaspoon cinnamon and sprinkle generously over the apple, then sprinkle on ¼ cup lemon juice. For the curst, combine;

1 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup sifted flour, ½ cup butter.

Put these ingredients all together in a bowl, and mix well, using the fingers, until the mixture crumbles. then spread the mixture evenly over the apples and bake in a slow oven, 275 degrees, for one hour. You may serve this hot or cold, as is or with cream, whipped cream, or a brandy hard sauce.

Other fruit may be used in place of the apples. Such items as peaches, berries, or apricots go well in this recipe, too.

Send your favorite recipe and a stamped, addressed envelope to Morning World and become a life member of The Skillet Club, and we'll send you a membership card to prove it.

DOROTHY DIX

Heartless Stepfather

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: My first husband was killed in service, and after five years of widowhood I remarried. That was seven years ago and my girls were small. Both are in high school now. In the beginning, my husband was a fine father, but he has changed. He doesn't like the children; they have no love or respect for him, and he gripes over every cent he spends on them. I had a bank account when I married him, but that is gone now. I truly love him, even now, but my children will always come first. He wants me to send them away, but that I'll never do.

HILDA ANN

DEVOTION TO CHILDREN

ANSWER: You say the children come first with you, but every sentence in your letter belies the fact. Several times you repeated the statement, "I love the guy and can't live without him!" No matter how much he shows his open dislike of your youngsters, you persist in your avowals of devotion. Obviously, therefore, you intend continuing to cater to him. That's been your fault from the beginning. You turned over what money you had, have handed him the small income you receive, completely ignoring the fact that it actually is for the support of the girls, and not the entertainment of their stepfather. If this be devotion to your children, heaven deliver the youngsters from your maternal solicitude. What you should do is clear enough; but it is equally clear that you have no intention of doing it.

DEAR MISS DIX: At 53 my husband still thinks he's a Romeo. We've been married 30 years, have four children and five grandchildren. His job involves a good deal of traveling, and on the last trip he came home and announced that he'd like a divorce since he had fallen in love with someone else. I refused, and he said all he would have to do is wait seven years and the divorce would be automatic. Is this true?

ANSWER: Your husband's knowledge of divorce laws is about as confused as his conception of marital love and fidelity. You are quite right to refuse his plea for a divorce; he'll recover from the infatuation in due time and will return home, a wiser man.

DEAR MISS DIX: My boy friend has asked me to go steady, but I know my mother won't approve. I'm 17 and he's 19.

PATSY

ANSWER: Your mother probably believes that now, as in the past, "going steady" is tantamount to an engagement. Since two dates constitute steady dating today, practically every teenager is in the process of going steady. It's an unwise procedure, but apparently it is firmly entrenched until a new dating system develops. However, don't keep the fact a secret from Mom under any circumstances. Talk the matter over with her. A frank presentation of both sides of the problem will clear matters for both of you.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am friends with two young men, Ned and Charles, who share an apartment. I am especially fond of Ned, but Charles is the one who likes me particularly, with the result that he does everything he can to turn Ned against me. They are always together, and Charles seems to be the dominant personality of the two. Should I speak to either one about the situation?

WORRIED

ANSWER: I think you are wasting time and attention on both of the boys. Even if you could convince Ned that Charles is telling untruths about you (a fact, by the way that you can't possibly be sure of), you would probably never completely wean him away from Charles' domination. Any triangle involving a deep friendship, such as theirs, produces complications that are better avoided. Find a boy who is not so easily influenced.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a high-school sophomore, with a speech defect. As a consequence, I don't have much social life, and I think even my family is ashamed of me. The trouble is stammering.

S. S.

ANSWER: It's a shame that you have gone so long without treatment or correction of your trouble. Stammering can be corrected and often completely overcome, with the proper teaching. Consult a speech clinic in your vicinity, and if you can't find one in your telephone book, contact, either personally or by mail, the nearest eye, ear and throat hospital.

DOROTHY DIX will reply to all readers who ask her help. Write for free leaflet D-16, "THE IDEAL WIFE". In all cases be sure to enclose an addressed, stamped envelope, and send request to her, c/o this newspaper.

PUEBLA 'ANGELIC' CITY

PUEBLA, Mexico. — Puebla was founded April 16, 1531, when the land was divided in 40 lots. They were distributed as soon as they were measured. It was not until 1539 that Charles V of Spain issued a decree calling the city Puebla Angelica, because its founding was believed inspired by angels.

When milk bottles are emptied, rinse out with cold water to remove traces of milk. Then rinse with very hot water. If bottle contained sour milk or buttermilk and is to be used again in the home, soak with a cold water and borax solution.

The Skillet Club

By UNCLE FRANK KOHLER

Lamb Cardinal makes a highly elegant way to use up that leftover lamb. It is a fine chafing dish item, to be made right at the table, although it may be served from a copper - sheathed stainless steel skillet at the table. We do it in our trusty old iron skillet.

In addition to thin slices of cold cooked lamb, you will require:

¼ cup tarragon vinegar, ¼ cup currant jelly, ½ cup tomato catsup, 1 tablesppon butter, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire.

Cook until jelly is melted and all is blended together, then add ¼ teaspoon MSG, and salt and pepper to taste, then the thin slices of lamb, and cook about 20 minutes over low heat in the sauce. A tablespoon of marsala added just before serving makes this dish topnotch.

Fluffy mashed potatoes belong here, together with peas parisienne We make the latter with frozen peas, using one package for four. Use the following:

2 strips crisp bacon, crumbled, 1-3 cup onion, finely chopped, 1-3 cup celery, finely chopped, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon dried sweet basil. ¼ cup water (for pressure cooker), salt and pepper to taste.

We do these in a pressure cooker. Melt the butter in the cooker, taute the onion until tender but not brown, then stir in the celery and cook a little more. Thaw the peas before adding them, and stir them in along with the bits of bacon, basil, salt and pepper, and add the water. Stir all together.

Bring to pressure, cook 30 seconds, and reduce pressure immediately. If you don't use a pressure cooker, cook frozen peas in accordance with instructions on pack age, drain, and add remaining ingredients, eliminating the ¼ cup water. Mix well. Canned peas may be used, too. Heat, then drain and proceed as above.

The same procedure may be followed with fresh peas. Boil them in salted water with one teaspoon sugar until just tender, then drain and mix in remaining items.

We like a salad of tossed greens, carefully dried and chilled in the bowl. Over them pour one tablespoon wine tarragon vinegar, four tablespoons olive oil, a dash of garlic salt, salt and coarse-cracked pepper and toss all together.

Apple crunch, sent us by Mrs. Al Peters, Skilleteer of Hayward, Wis., concludes this repast well. Peel, core and slice enough tart green apples to give you a two-inch layer in a well - buttered baking dish. Mix 1-¼ cups of sugar with ½ teaspoon cinnamon and sprinkle generously over the apple, then sprinkle on ¼ cup lemon juice. For the curst, combine; 1 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup sifted flour, ½ cup butter.

Put these ingredients all together in a bowl, and mix well, using the fingers, until the mixture crumbles. then spread the mixture evenly over the apples and bake in a slow oven, 275 degrees, for one hour. You may serve this hot or cold, as is or with cream, whipped cream, or a brandy hard sauce.

Other fruit may be used in place of the apples. Such items as peaches, berries, or apricots go well in this recipe, too.

Send your favorite recipe and a stamped, addressed envelope to Morning World and become a life member of The Skillet Club, and we'll send you a membership card to prove it.

Crisp crumbled bacon, chopped chutney and cream cheese make a savory canape spread. Add a little cream to the cheese to soften it when you are mixing it with the bacon and chutney.

Heartless Stepfather

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: My first husband was killed in service, and after five years of widowhood I remarried. That was seven years ago and my girls were small. Both are in high school now. In the beginning, my husband was a fine father, but he has changed. He doesn't like the children; they have no love or respect for him, and he gripes over every cent he spends on them. I had a bank account when I married him, but that is gone now. I truly love him, even now, but my children will always come first. He wants me to send them away, but that I'll never do.

HILDA ANN

DEVOTION TO CHILDREN

ANSWER: You say the children come first with you, but every sentence in your letter belies the fact. Several times you repeated the statement, "I love the guy and can't live without him!" No matter how much he shows his open dislike of your youngsters, you persist in your avowals of devotion. Obviously, therefore, you intend continuing to cater to him. That's been your fault from the beginning. You turned over what money you had, have handed him the small income you receive, completely ignoring the fact that it actually is for the support of the girls, and not the entertainment of their stepfather. If this be devotion to your children, heaven deliver the youngsters from your maternal solicitude. What you should do is clear enough; but it is equally clear that you have no intention of doing it.

DEAR MISS DIX: At 53 my husband still thinks he's a Romeo. We've been married 30 years, have four children and five grandchildren. His job involves a good deal of traveling, and on the last trip he came home and announced that he'd like a divorce since he had fallen in love with someone else. I refused, and he said all he would have to do is wait seven years and the divorce would be automatic. Is this true?

ANSWER: Your husband's knowledge of divorce laws is about as confused as his conception of marital love and fidelity. You are quite right to refuse his plea for a divorce; he'll recover from the infatuation in due time and will return home, a wiser man.

DEAR MISS DIX: My boy friend has asked me to go steady, but I know my mother won't approve. I'm 17 and he's 19.

PATSY

ANSWER: Your mother probably believes that now, as in the past, "going steady" is tantamount to an engagement. Since two dates constitute steady dating today, practically every teenager is in the process of going steady. It's an unwise procedure, but apparently it is firmly entrenched until a new dating system develops. However, don't keep the fact a secret from Mom under any circumstances. Talk the matter over with her. A frank presentation of both sides of the problem will clear matters for both of you.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am friends with two young men, Ned and Charles, who share an apartment. I am especially fond of Ned, but Charles is the one who likes me particularly, with the result that he does everything he can to turn Ned against me. They are always together, and Charles seems to be the dominant personality of the two. Should I speak to either one about the situation?

WORRIED

ANSWER: I think you are wasting time and attention on both of the boys. Even if you could convince Ned that Charles is telling untruths about you (a fact, by the way that you can't possibly be sure of), you would probably never completely wean him away from Charles' domination. Any triangle involving a deep friendship, such as theirs, produces complications that are better avoided. Find a boy who is not so easily influenced.

DEAR MISS DIX; I am a high-school sophomore, with a speech defect. As a consequence, I don't have much social life, and I think even my family is ashamed of me. The trouble is stammering.

S. S.

ANSWER: It's a shame that you have gone so long without treatment or correction of your trouble. Stammering can be corrected and often completely overcome, with the proper teaching. Consult a speech clinic in your vicinity, and if you can't find one in your telephone book, contact, either personally or by mail, the nearest eye, ear and throat hospital.

DOROTHY DIX will reply to all readers who ask her help. Write for free leaflet D-16, "THE IDEAL WIFE". In all cases be sure to enclose an addressed, stamped envelope, and send request to her, c/o this newspaper.

School Hilites Celebrate Annual Spring Formal

Dancing to the music of Sleepy Spears and his orchestra and carrying out the theme of the popular song, "Harbor Lights," approximately 300 members of The School Hilites organization celebrated their first annual spring formal Friday night, March 27. The dance was held on the roof of the Frances Hotel from 8 to 12 p. m.

The nautical theme prevailed throughout the decorations. In front of the band stand was a silhouette of a speed boat racing on a sea of blue. A beacon shone out upon the dancers from a cleverly constructed lighthouse in one corner of the ballroom floor. On the wall hung life preservers carrying the banner U. S. S. Hilites. The decorations were complete with pier posts and an anchor at the side of the band stand.

At the dance the guests of honor were the candidates from the fourteen participating high schools who are competing in the Hilites first Ideal Girlfriend-Boyfriend contest. During the evening these candidates were featured in a Grand March led by Eltsner Frazer and Mike Cage, Neville High School.

The Ideal Girlfriend and Boyfriend candidates attending the dance and the schools they represent were:

Anna Camp and Lloyd Crocker, Calhoun High; James Lanier and Catherine Dunham, Crowville High; Iola Farrar and Martin Dean Martin, Farmerville High; Sylvia Vickers and John Mack Calhoun, Gilbert High; Patty Hood and Danny Blake, Jonesboro-Hodge High; Bennie Holdiness and Don Chapman, Mangham High; Melba Ruth Allen and James Green, Marion High; Elstner Frazer and Mike Cage, Neville High; Sally Ann Hayes and Bill Blazier, Ouachita Parish High; Sara Ella Walters and J. Cloyd Walker, Rayville High; Rosalind Eberts and Vincent Marsala, St. Matthews High; Aquilla Jones and Patricia Jowers, St. Paschal's High; Bessie Pearl Watson and P. V. Watson, Winnsboro High; Wanda Bellows and Juan Watkins, Delhi High.

JAMES MELTON

James Melton To Be Presented Here By Concerts, Inc.

James Melton, popular tenor of opera, concert, radio, television, recordings and screen, is the top artist who has been booked by Twin-City Concerts, Inc., to close what has been a brilliant season in concert entertainment for Monroyans.

Melton who has been called America's favorite tenor" will appear here on Monday evening April 13, at Neville auditorium, according to Slade Brown, president of Twin-City Concerts, Inc.

From the very beginning of network musical shows, the voice of Melton has been heard regularly over the airwaves. Early sponsors, such as Seiberling Rubber Co., Palmolive, and "Roxy's Gang," proved that good music was universally loved and wanted by the country at large.

Officers and directors of the recently reorganized Twin-City Concerts are especially proud to present James Mason as the closing concert of the '52-'53 season. Directly following his appearance here at Neville auditorium on April 13, the group will launch their '53-54 membership drive, beginning with the week of April 20th. This season's officers include Slade Brown as president, Mamie McNeil, secretary and Freeda Mickel, campaign chairman.

Postmasters To Hold Sessions In Alexandria

The state convention of the Louisiana Branch of the National League of District Postmasters will be held in Hotel Bentley in Alexandria, April 13, 14, it is announced by Rex B. Hawthorne Mira, La., chairman of the publicity committee.

One of the speakers will be Boyce House, nationally well-known humorist of Fort Worth, Tex., who will address the convention Monday night.

Among the postal officials to address the convention with enlightening talks on postal operations and service, will be James R. Martin, regional director of the bureau of accounts, Dallas; W. M. McMilan, inspector, Fort Worth; Byron B. Bordelon, general superintendent of postal transportation service, New Orleans; Postmaster Fairley, New Orleans; Mrs. Brandao, foreman payroll section, New Orleans.

George Toney, Atlanta, La., is president of the Louisiana branch of the National League of District Postmasters and Mrs. Laverna Ramsey of Pleasant Hill is state secretary.

Dry your glassware right after you rinse it; use a dry absorbent towel of a type that leaves no lint. The longer glassware is allowed to dry in the air, the more chance there is of water-spotting. After cut glass has been wiped, it should be placed on a soft dry towel to absorb any moisture that the towel has not wiped away.

Make sure that the electrical appliances in your kitchen are disconnected when you are not using them. Repair all electric cords and plugs when they are frayed.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Usually the wife, but it depends largely on which one petitions for divorce. In two-thirds to four-fifths of cases, the wife receives custody of the children because she more often sues for divorce. Yet, when the husband petitions for the divorce, he is usually given custody of the children. This indicates that the Court considers him the better parent. Contrary to popular opinion, alimony is granted in only one out of four divorces.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes. "Normalizing" means making the other fellow feel normal — just his real, every-day honest-to-goodness self. You should not try to make him feel either inferior or superior, but equal or, as the Irishman said, "equally better." Some people always make others feel ill at ease, as if they were talking down to or up to them. Our booklet, "How To Be Popular," has ten easy rules for normalizing other people. Sent at cost, 15 cents (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Psychologists Philip Kreidt and Marguerite Gadel say that daughters of college professors, high school students ambitious to go to college, and girls who can figure math problems with ease may look good but are likely to abandon their jobs soon for something "more important." Girls whose background makes them eager to succeed at clerical jobs and who do well on high speed tests of clerical ability are the best bets.

How You, Too, Can Be Popular

Want people to like you? Then follow the simple methods outlined in the 28-page booklet, HOW YOU, TOO, CAN BE POPULAR. Contains tests and 14 easily applied rules. For your copy, send 15 cents (coin only), plus self-addressed, stamped envelope (give name o city and state) to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, care of this newspaper.

Always wash down the stove after it has cooled. A wet cloth on a hot surface may hurt your hands and crack the enamel.

One Location For Drilling Is Made

One new location and three wells plugged and abandoned were reported in the weekly field report of oil and gas wells drilled and completed in the Monroe district during the past week. The report is issued by the local office of the department of conservation, minerals division.

No producers were listed.

The single new location, located in Section 13-14-4E of a wild cat field in Caldwell Parish, was the D. E. Vasser Co. - Vasser-Leiderman-Howard No. 1, 330'S-330'W of the NE corner.

Wells plugged and abandoned were:

Catahoula Parish (wild cat field) -H. L. Hunt Co. - International Paper Co. No. 1, plugged on March 29 in Sec. 27-10-6E and the Justiss Mears Oil Co. & Barnett Serio Co. - Oron Sayes No. 1, abandoned on March 31 in Sec. 6-3-5E.

LaSalle Parish (wild cat field)-Carter Oil Co.-La. Central Lbr. Co. (core hold) No. 1, plugged and abandoned on March 30 in Sec. 32-10-2E.

School Hilites Celebrate Annual Spring Formal

Dancing to the music of Sleepy Spears and his orchestra and carrying out the theme of the popular song, "Harbor Lights," approximately 300 members of The School Hilites organization celebrated their first annual spring formal Friday night, March 27. The dance was held on the roof of the Frances Hotel from 8 to 12 p. m.

The nautical theme prevailed throughout the decorations. In front of the band stand was a silhouette of a speed boat racing on a sea of blue. A beacon shone out upon the dancers from a cleverly constructed lighthouse in one corner of the ballroom floor. On the wall hung life preservers carrying the banner U. S. S. Hilites. The decorations were complete with pier posts and an anchor at the side of the band stand.

At the dance the guests of honor were the candidates from the fourteen participating high schools who are competing in the Hilites first Ideal Girlfriend-Boyfriend contest. During the evening these candidates were featured in a Grand March led by Eltsner Frazer and Mike Cage, Neville High School.

The Ideal Girlfriend and Boyfriend candidates attending the dance and the schools they represent were:

JAMES MELTON

James Melton To Be Presented Here By Concerts, Inc.

James Melton, popular tenor of opera, concert, radio, television, recordings and screen, is the top artist who has been booked by Twin-City Concerts, Inc., to close what has been a brilliant season in concert entertainment for Monroyans.

Melton who has been called America's favorite tenor" will appear here on Monday evening April 13, at Neville auditorium, according to Slade Brown, president of Twin-City Concerts, Inc.

From the very beginning of network musical saows, the voice of Melton has been heard regularly over the airwaves. Early sponsors, such as Seiberling Rubber Co., Palmolive, and "Roxy's Gang," proved that good music was universally loved and wanted by the country at large.

Officers and directors of the recently reorganized Twin-City Concerts are especially proud to present James Mason as the closing concert of the '52-'53 season. Directly following his appearance here at Neville auditorium on April 13, the group will launch their '53-54 membership drive, beginning with the week of April 20th. This season's officers include Slade Brown as president, Mamie McNeil, secretary and Freeda Mickel, campaign chairman.

Postmasters To Hold Sessions In Alexandria

The state convention of the Louisiana Branch of the National League of District Postmasters will be held in Hotel Bentley in Alexandria, April 13, 14, it is announced by Rex B. Hawthorne Mira, La., chairman of the publicity committee.

One of the speakers will be Boyce House, nationally well-known humorist of Fort Worth, Tex., who will address the convention Monday night.

Among the postal officials to address the convention with enlightening talks on postal operations and service, will be James R. Martin, regional director of the bureau of accounts, Dallas; W. M. McMilan, inspector, Fort Worth; Byron B. Bordelon, general superintendent of postal transportation service, New Orleans; Postmaster Fairley, New Orleans; Mrs. Brandao, foreman payroll section, New Orleans.

Postmaster Toney of Alexandria will assist with the convention.

Good Samaritan Home Sheltered Many Needy

By H. H. BRINSMADE

The dismantling, the past week, of the Home of the Good Samaritan, out the Winnsboro Road, has aroused an interesting story of this institution which for nearly or quite a half century sheltered within its walls girls who had made a mistake in life, and children who as orphans were cast adrift in the world.

Rev. and Mrs. L. H. Swayze, impelled by an inner urge, visioned a rescue home and one for orphans such as the Home of the Good Samaritan was to become. Almost empty pockets failed to lessen the urge. They had raised successfully six of their own children now out in the world. Why should they not now turn attention to the destitute, the unclaimed?

The couple managed to secure a two - story, spacious frame building on the Winnsboro road that had a small acreage in the rear for garden and dairy. Guided by Divine Inspiration, they named the place "The Home of the Good Samaritan." It was agreed that no one should ever be turned away if willing and eager to atone for past misdeeds. This policy, adopted in 1904, was carried out all the time the Swayzes were operators of the place.

Information furnished by M. D. Swayze of Monroe, son of the late Rev. and Mrs. L. H. Swayze, stressed the fact that he cherishes above all the marvelous record for Christian service that was established unostentatiously by his parents.

The house they acquired was made livable with substantial but inexpensive furniture in that early time. A garden was planted and cows were obtained and pastured on the property. These cows and the garden helped in lowering living costs, with milk and some vegetables sold in town.

A little pulpit was placed in one room named the chapel, where preaching, Sunday school and daily worship formed an important part of the daily routine.

From the outset, 15 to 20 girls and orphan children were delighted to become for the time being members of the "second family" of the Swayzes. Rev. Swayze's efforts to provide a home for the homeless received financial support from some business men of the city, as well as from churches and church members. The city of Monroe also quite willingly donated a small sum monthly to this worthy cause.

At the outset of course, there were some critics who scoffed at the efforts of Rev. and Mrs. Swayze as acts of a misguided couple who, with little or no money of their own, had been swept off their feet with the desire of aiding women and orphans in distress. They predicted early failure. But failure did not come, for it seemed that there was an Eternally Conscious Guide who saw the experiment through to success.

How many wayward girls were cared for, and their lives rescued from damnation, and how many boys and girls left orphans at the death of parents to shift for themselves received timely aid, will be revealed in the world to come.

From its inception, the Home continued in its work until 1923, when its pastoral leader, overworked with the care, financing and directing such a large family, suffered one day from an attack of heart failure. His death occurred several days later. The whole community who knew of his work and achievements, mourned sincerely at his passing. Before the place could get readjusted, Mrs. Swayze, ever the unselfish, devoted wife, also died suddenly.

Those who knew the couple well, declared that she must have succumbed from a broken heart occasioned by the death of her husband.

But the constructive work of the Home did not stop. It was continued by a retired Methodist minister, Rev. R. J. Downes, who, with a capable housekeeper, took up the battle for the properly ordered lives of humanity committee to his charge. He was possessed of the dynamic character of a consecrated Christian, who was eager to take up the task where the Swayzes had left off.

For many years, up to a year ago, when Reverend Downes succumbed from a long continued illness, the Home was in operation. Now it is being dismantled, and the lumber, after withstanding the storm and stress of a half century, is still rated as superior to much of the modern lumber of the present time.

The Swayzes and Rev. Downes have performed an unusual and by no means pleasant task. They diverted money to the aid of others not for their own profit. When history records Monroe in years to come, by all means the Swayzes and Rev. Downes should be accorded a place of honor. No one will ever know until Judgment day the extent of the vast service they rendered.

Surely it can be said of them: "They did what they could."

Cuthbert Is Bank Cashier At Rayville

RAYVILLE, April 4 (Special) — James J. Cuthbert Jr., assumed the position of cashier of the First National Bank of Rayville on April 1, according to an announcement made by W. D. Cotton, president of the bank.

Mr. Cuthbert succeeds O. G. Lynch, Jr., who resigned in order to accept a position with the newly organized Bossier National Bank, of Bossier City. Mr. Cuthbert has served as an assistant cashier since his election some weeks ago, and will assume the duties of cashier upon Mr. Lynch's departure.

The bank executive is a native of Shreveport. He is a graduate of Byrd High, in Shreveport, and holds a B. S. degree from the Louisiana State University School of Commerce, which he received in 1940. While at the university he was a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity. He was called into active service by the army in February, 1941, and served four and one - half years in military duty. He was discharged with the rank of major in field artillery.

Following his army service, he accepted a position with the First National Bank of Delhi as assistant cashier, which postion he held for more than seven years. Mr. Cuthbert's father, J. J. Cuthbert, Sr., now living in Shreveport, is a native of Delhi, and is a veteran conductor with the Illinois Central railway passenger service.

As cashier, Mr. Cuthbert will be the conducts of the bank's affairs. the conductsof the bank's affairs. Mr. Cuthbert is a member of the Delhi Methodist Church, the American Legion, the Delhi Masonic Lodge, and is a past patron of the Lee Emmett Thomas chapter of the Order of Eastern Star. He has been active in all civic and community affairs, which is reflected by the fact that he is now serving on the executive board of the Ouachita Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and as first vice - president of the Delhi Lions Club.

Mr. Cuthbert is married to the former Rachael Abbitt, of Shreveport. They have two sons, J. J. Cuthbert, III, and Robert W. Cuthbert. The Cuthberts expect to take up their residence in Rayville when housing facilities are available.

Nursing Class Opens Monday

Good Samaritan Home Sheltered Many Needy

By H. H. BRINSMADE

The dismantling, the past week, of the Home of the Good Samaritan, out the Winnsboro Road, has aroused an interesting story of this institution which for nearly or quite a half century sheltered within its walls girls who had made a mistake in life, and children who as orphans were cast adrift in the world.

Rev. and Mrs. L. H. Swayze, impelled by an inner urge, visioned a rescue home and one for orphans such as the Home of the Good Samaritan was to become. Almost empty pockets failed to lessen the urge. They had raised successfully six of their own children now out in the world. Why should they not now turn attention to the destitute, the unclaimed?

The couple managed to secure a two - story, spacious frame building on the Winnsboro road that had a small acreage in the rear for garden and dairy. Guided by Divine Inspiration, they named the place "The Home of the Good Samaritan." It was agreed that no one should ever be turned away if willing and eager to atone for past misdeeds. This policy, adopted in 1904, was carried out all the time the Swayzes were operators of the place.

Information furnished by M. D. Swayze of Monroe, son of the late Rev. and Mrs. L. H. Swayze, stressed the fact that he cherishes above all the marvelous record for Christian service that was established unostentatiously by his parents.

The house they acquired was made livable with substantial but inexpensive furniture in that early time. A garden was planted and cows were obtained and pastured on the property. These cows and the garden helped in lowering living costs, with milk and some vegetables sold in town.

A little pulpit was placed in one room named the chapel, where preaching, Sunday school and daily worship formed an important part of the daily routine.

From the outset, 15 to 20 girls and orphan children were delighted to become for the time being members of the "second family" of the Swayzes. Rev. Swayze's efforts to provide a home for the homeless received financial support from some business men of the city, as well as from churches and church members. The city of Monroe also quite willingly donated a small sum monthly to this worthy cause.

At the outset of course, there were some critics who scoffed at the efforts of Rev. and Mrs. Swayze as acts of a misguided couple who, with little or no money of their own, had been swept off their feet with the desire of aiding women and orphans in distress. They predicted early failure. But failure did not come, for it seemed that there was an Eternally Conscious Guide who saw the experiment through to success.

How many wayward girls were cared for, and their lives rescued from damnation, and how many boys and girls left orphans at the death of parents to shift for themselves received timely aid, will be revealed in the world to come.

From its inception, the Home continued in its work until 1923, when its pastoral leader, overworked with the care, financing and directing such a large family, suffered one day from an attack of heart failure. His death occurred several days later. The whole community who knew of his work and achievements, mourned sincerely at his passing. Before the place could get readjusted, Mrs. Swayze, ever the unselfish, devoted wife, also died suddenly.

Those who knew the couple well, declared that she must have succumbed from a broken heart occasioned by the death of her husband.

But the constructive work of the Home did not stop. It was continued by a retired Methodist minister, Rev. R. J. Downes, who, with a capable housekeeper, took up the battle for the properly ordered lives of humanity committee to his charge. He was possessed of the dynamic character of a consecrated Christian, who was eager to take up the task where the Swayzes had left off.

For many years, up to a year ago, when Reverend Downes succumbed from a long continued illness, the Home was in operation. Now it is being dismantled, and the lumber, after withstanding the storm and stress of a half century, is still rated as superior to much of the modern lumber of the present time.

The Swayzes and Rev. Downes have performed an unusual and by no means pleasant task. They diverted money to the aid of others not for their own profit. When history records Monroe in years to come, by all means the Swayzes and Rev. Downes should be accorded a place of honor. No one will ever know until Judgment day the extent of the vast service they rendered.

Surely it can be said of them: "They did what they could."

Cuthbert Is Bank Cashier At Rayville

RAYVILLE, April 4 (Special) — James J. Cuthbert Jr., assumed the position of cashier of the First National Bank of Rayville on April 1, according to an announcement made by W. D. Cotton, president of the bank.

Mr. Cuthbert succeeds O. G. Lynch, Jr., who resigned in order to accept a position with the newly organized Bossier National Bank, of Bossier City. Mr. Cuthbert has served as an assistant cashier since his election some weeks ago, and will assume the duties of cashier upon Mr. Lynch's departure.

The bank executive is a native of Shreveport. He is a graduate of Byrd High, in Shreveport, and holds a B. S. degree from the Louisiana State University School of Commerce, which he received in 1940. While at the university he was a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity. He was called into active service by the army in February, 1941, and served four and one - half years in military duty. He was discharged with the rank of major in field artillery.

Following his army service, he accepted a position with the First National Bank of Delhi as assistant cashier, which postion he held for more than seven years. Mr. Cuthbert's father, J. J. Cuthbert, Sr., now living in Shreveport, is a native of Delhi, and is a veteran conductor with the Illinois Central railway passenger service.

As cashier, Mr. Cuthbert will be the conducts of the bank's affairs. the conductsof the bank's affairs. Mr. Cuthbert is a member of the Delhi Methodist Church, the American Legion, the Delhi Masonic Lodge, and is a past patron of the Lee Emmett Thomas chapter of the Order of Eastern Star. He has been active in all civic and community affairs, which is reflected by the fact that he is now serving on the executive board of the Ouachita Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and as first vice - president of the Delhi Lions Club.

Mr. Cuthbert is married to the former Rachael Abbitt, of Shreveport. They have two sons, J. J. Cuthbert, III, and Robert W. Cuthbert. The Cuthberts expect to take up their residence in Rayville when housing facilities are available.

Go to Church Easter Sunday

There Are No Dead, Is Assurance Of Easter

By E. K. MEANS

Tradition records that long centuries ago a body of celestial visitors came to this earth upon a mission of mercy, and departing, inadvertently left a little child behind. The king entering the palace garden was startled to find a strange child lying upon a marble bench asleep. For a long time he questioned the little stranger, but could not make himself understood. When the evening shadows fell and the king despaired of finding any common terms of speech, he took the child by the hand and brought him to the old priest in the temple.

As the child entered the temple, a slave came in through another door carrying a harp. When the child saw the instrument, he ran to it as to an old friend. He pressed the harp to his breast and caressed its carvings; then lifting his face to the purple glory of the sunset where clouds lingered like incense above an unseen altar of God, he swept his hands over the stringe. Sweet sounds filled the temple and as the child fingered the harp, tears ran down his face and an ineffable longing was in his youthful eyes. It was spirit signaling to spirit across the far spaces, a sad and troubled soul, lonesome, a stranger in a strange land, calling to those who had gone before.

The king and the priest went softly out, leaving the little stranger with the harp. When another morning came the king and the priest went again to the temple. The harp remained but the child was gone. Those who had gone before had heard his call and had come, for they are ever near us when we need them most.

Joe Jefferson, the actor, owned a large plantation in the southern part of Louisiana. In the course of years, he made many friends among the simple Cajun people and was especially fond of Pierre Landry and his wife. One day Jefferson took a picture of the old man. The wife was much interested, never having seen the operation before and wanted to see the photograph at once. Jefferson told her she would have to wait and she did have to wait for a year. The picture was so good that the actor had it enlarged, had an artist to tint it natural colors, and had it set in a beautiful ornamental frame.

One year passed before the great actor returned to his plantation, and he came back without knowing that old Pierre Landry had died. As he approached the house he did not notice that there was a mound in a corner of the yard covered with red roses. As he drew near to the Landry home the widow signaled and welcomed him with a handful of flowers. As she came up to the automobile he placed the picture in her hands. She looked at it. She dropped the flowers, fell upon her knees, and with the tears streaming down her face, she sobbed:

"O my darling, my darling, you have come back to me."

Upon this Easter day immortal souls on earth are signaling across the far spaces to the immortal souls of the sky. Spirit is calling to spirit through all the heights of Heaven. Down the long corridors of memory from the beautiful temples of faith and hope our loved ones come back to us again. "For ever near us, though unseen, the dear immortal spirits tread, and all the boundless universe is life—there are no dead."

'Calvary' Will Be Rendered By Baptist Choirs

The music department of the First Baptist Church in Monroe will present the six graded choirs in concert Sunday evening. This department now has a total of 210 enrolled.

The Melody choir, Carol choir and Men's chorus will be presented at the beginning of the service. "Calvary," an Easter cantata, by Henry Wessel will be sung by the combined crusaders, Vesper, and Chancel choirs after the offertory.

Henry Wessel wrote into "Calvary" the seven sayings of Jesus from the cross. These will be song by Dale Martha. Others who have special parts in the cantata are Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. J. F. Brothers, Mrs. Cortlandt McCoy, Carolyn Futral, Beth West and Wilbur W. Bullock Jr., Mrs. B. D. Albritton will serve at the organ.

The crucifixion, resurrection and words of the Master are conveyed in music as follows:

"Father Forgive Them for They Know Not What They Do," will be by the bass solo and chorus.

"Today Thou Shalt Be with Me in Paradise," also by bass solo and chorus.

"Woman, Behold Thy Son," by soprano, bass duet, and chorus.

"My God, Why Hast Thou Forsaken Me?", bass solo and chorus

"I Thirst," soprano, alto and bass trio.

"Father, Into Thy Hands I Commend My Spirit," bass solo and chorus.

"It Is Finished," alto and bass solos.

"As It Began to Dawn," soprano solo.

"Where Were You When They Crucified My Lord?" Negro spiritual, Men's chorus.

"Consider the Lilies," soprano, alto and tenor trio.

"Christ, the Lord Is Risen Today," chorus.

Israel Immigration Dipped Sharply In 1952

HAIFA, Israel — Immigration into Israel during 1952 totaled only 23,270 persons, a drop of more than 150,000 from the 174,000 persons admitted to the country in 1951. Since 1948 immigration has totaled 708,000 About 60 per cent of the 1951 immigrants came from Iran and North Africa.

Bethel Baptists Extend Call To Reverend Walters

Rev. Olan D. Walters has accepted the call of Bethel Baptist Church in West Monroe to become its Pastor. Rev. Walters comes to Bethel from the First Baptist Church of Willianna, La. where he led that church in the building of one of the most beautiful auditoriums in that area.

Rev. Walters is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and he attended Louisiana College in Pineville. He is the son of Mrs. and Mrs. D. D. Walters of Fairbanks. Mrs. Olan D. Walters is the former Tommie Jean Ware of Columbia. They have a young daughter, Debra Jean.

Bethel Baptist Church is located about ten blocks west of the Brown Paper Mill. This church, organized in 1950 already has nearly 200 members and is located in a rapidly growing community.

EASTER—GOD'S GREAT AMEN!

Easter, the fact of the resurrection, is God's great "Amen" to all that Jesus taught and did and this is the day on which we do commemorate in a special way that most significant of all facts since creation, that Christ our Lord is risen today. May all the joys and assurance of the day be yours!

We are a friendly church with a Christian message and invite you to worship and serve with us.

Church School—9:30

Go to Church Easter Sunday

There Are No Dead, Is Assurance Of Easter

By E. K. MEANS

Tradition records that long centuries ago a body of celestial visitors came to this earth upon a mission of mercy, and departing, inadvertently left a little child behind. The king entering the palace garden was startled to find a strange child lying upon a marble bench asleep. For a long time he questioned the little stranger, but could not make himself understood. When the evening shadows fell and the king despaired of finding any common terms of speech, he took the child by the hand and brought him to the old priest in the temple.

As the child entered the temple, a slave came in through another door carrying a harp. When the child saw the instrument, he ran to it as to an old friend. He pressed the harp to his breast and caressed its carvings; then lifting his face to the purple glory of the sunset where clouds lingered like incense above an unseen altar of God, he swept his hands over the stringe. Sweet sounds filled the temple and as the child fingered the harp, tears ran down his face and an ineffable longing was in his youthful eyes. It was spirit signaling to spirit across the far spaces, a sad and troubled soul, lonesome, a stranger in a strange land, calling to those who had gone before.

The king and the priest went softly out, leaving the little stranger with the harp. When another morning came the king and the priest went again to the temple. The harp remained but the child was gone. Those who had gone before had heard his call and had come, for they are ever near us when we need them most.

Joe Jefferson, the actor, owned a large plantation in the southern part of Louisiana. In the course of years, he made many friends among the simple Cajun people and was especially fond of Pierre Landry and his wife. One day Jefferson took a picture of the old man. The wife was much interested, never having seen the operation before and wanted to see the photograph at once. Jefferson told her she would have to wait and she did have to wait for a year. The picture was so good that the actor had it enlarged, had an artist to tint it natural colors, and had it set in a beautiful ornamental frame.

One year passed before the great actor returned to his plantation, and he came back without knowing that old Pierre Landry had died. As he approached the house he did not notice that there was a mound in a corner of the yard covered with red roses. As he drew near to the Landry home the widow signaled and welcomed him with a handful of flowers. As she came up to the automobile he placed the picture in her hands. She looked at it. She dropped the flowers, fell upon her knees, and with the tears streaming down her face, she sobbed:

"O my darling, my darling, you have come back to me."

Upon this Easter day immortal souls on earth are signaling across the far spaces to the immortal souls of the sky. Spirit is calling to spirit through all the heights of Heaven. Down the long corridors of memory from the beautiful temples of faith and hope our loved ones come back to us again. "For ever near us, though unseen, the dear immortal spirits tread, and all the boundless universe is life—there are no dead."

Garden News

Large Collection Of Iris Blooming In Gates' Garden

Native-Louisiana Hybrids, Spuria Iris And Named Daylilies Shown By Mrs. W. R. Gates

A crescent shape bed, which contains the American Iris Society's chosen hundred best iris, is the pride of the Gates' garden. Among the iris contained in this bed is Mrs. Gates' gorgeous pink irises which are, Cherie, Pink Cameo, Fantasy and Peach Meringue. New red irises planted in the garden are Technicolor, Black Belle, Venetian Red, Red Majesty, Sunset Blaze, Orielo, Juliet, Mary Vernon and Display.

New among the collection of iris in the Gates' garden are the new world famous New Zealand Iris, Summit, a deep yellow and snow white, and the Mystic Melody, a deep yellow and cream. Also included in the new plants is the Elmohr, a giant mulberry - violet, the largest of all irises.

Other iris to be seen in this lovely flower garden will be "Blue Rhythm" which won the president's cup and the Dykes medal in 1950, and "New Snow" and "Lady Boscawen" two gorgeous new white irises.

"Pink Cameo," "Confetti" and "Chivalry" are also blooming, as well as a large bed of tall Louisiana hybrids which include "Bayou Sunset," "Hallie Selassie," and "Cajun."

Mrs. Gates has grown irises for friends as "Iris" and named by her hobby, pioneered the culture of tall bearded irises in the Twin City area and has been interested in collecting, hybridizing and acclimating irises of various types.

Mrs. Gates has grown irises for over 30 years and while the tall bearded varieties have held the spotlight, many other species are included in her garden. Over 100 seedlings will bloom this year, and vary from 3 to 5 inches in height. These were hybridized in April 1951.

Cultivating and hybridizing iris is a hobby that fascinates people from every walk of life. The American Iris Soviety has a membership of over 5,000 and any number of these will drive hundreds of miles to see a new color break in a friend's iris seedlings.

Today Americans are garden conscious as never before in history. Millions of old and new homeowners, who once depended on a few annuals for garden color, now seek the far superior beauty and more nearly care free qualities of perennials. For sheer aristocratic ethereal beauty, as well as easy cultural requirements, Iris surely stand near the head of the list. You don't have to take them up over winter and they don't have to be replanted in a few years, but they develop into gorgeous clumps that will make your garden the showplace of your neighborhood.

Almost everything you buy begins to depreciate in value the day you purchase it but not so with iris. A single rhizome will become a generous clump in two years time.

Following the iris season here last spring, Mrs. Gates visited iris gardens up the east coast and attended the Hemerocallis National Convention in Boston, Mass. The American Iris Society will convene in Boston June 3-6 of this year.

Mrs. Gates is an accredited judge of the American Iris Society and Louisiana Iris Society. She is also a member of the Welcome Garden Club and the Monroe Garden Club.

The peak of the blooming is expected April 10 through April 25th. Last year iris enthusiasts from 10 states registered during Easter week. Flower lovers are welcome to visit the Gates' garden which has over three hundred varieties of iris and are all properly identified.

TRANSFORMATION—Mrs. W. N. Reynolds, with paint and well chosen planting, has quickly turned an old house into one with charm and beauty. The pink and white azaleas planted across the front seem to have been growing there for years.

Rose Plants Need Early Spring Work

This is the time of the year rose lovers get in their best licks.

Now is the time to survey the rose garden and make preparations for the planting of more roses.

You can begin clearing away some of the surplus material that was used as a winter cover Do not remove all of the excess soil that you had banked around your bushes, but leave about three to four inches to be removed in early April.

While the plants are dormant, give them and the ground around them a good soaking of lime sulphur solution. Get it at your seed store and follow directions as printed on the container.

Plan now to purchase necessary tools and spray materials, also commercial fertilizers. Buy now and you will have them on hand when you need them. If available get some cow manure or chicken manure and work well into the soil, preferably a few weeks in advance of planting time. It must be well rotted, otherwise the roots may suffer injury.

The analysis of well - rotted cow manure is approximately .32 nitrogen, 0.15 phoshoric acid and 0.48 potash. Cow manure is not a complete or balanced fertilizer and should not be expected to do all the work for your roses.

Additional use of rose foods or commercial fertilizers is recommended. The best available information gives us this analysis on well - dried chicken manure: .233 nitrogen, 0.86 phosphoric acid and 1.08 potash.

Check the climbers and cut out all dead wood or badly bruised canes. Paint the cut ends with pine tar, beeswax or any other solution that may be had at your dealers.

Now about making some rose labels so that when you show off your fine blooms in June you will not be apologizing for not knowing the blooms by their first names. Cheapest of all is the common wooden label with copper wire used for fastening. Write the name with a pencil then dip the labels in clear varnish.

After clearing away the winter covering check over your hybrid teas, polyanthas and floribundas. If any canes are broken, cut them below the break and at this time cut away some of the weak shoots and surplus wood.

We suggest two prunings. The second and final one should be given in early May when the plant is in leaf, thus disclosing the better flowering canes which should be retained.

Southern Gardener

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Don't throw away the quantities of fast multiplying perennials and bulbs which accumulate in your garden until you are sure that you have good sized masses in your garden picture. Many gardens you will visit this spring are hodge podges of little dabs of this and that plant and color without enough of any one thing to make a good mass effect. Without some larger masses, no landscape can catch your attention and hold it for long. Some of our oldest garden plants are the toughest and best ones, and we should not spurn them in favor of the very newest kinds. These old things can carry on the work of keeping the garden picture going until we know more about the new ones. Meantime, the new kinds will increase and have time to prove their worth. We can see what color schemes can be made with them, too, how long their bloom lasts and what peculiarities they may have.

One of the most useful plants for gardens is the common lemon lily (Hemerocallis flava). It is such a useful perennial and such a good shade of light yellow that not many gardeners are apt to throw any of it away. It blooms about two weeks with the tall bearded iris to create that first blue and yellow effect we all love so much. The common old orange day-lily, however, is so plentiful that it is always being thrown out of gardens.

If you have banks to be covered or weedy spots in the distance you ought to think twice before sending daylilies to the garbage dump. Have you ever seen these flowers in bloom in solid masses on a steep bank where every single flower can be seen? Orange daylilies bloom just at time when late spring flowers are giving way to summer flowers or rather when we all wish we had something in bloom for the summer flowers to give way to! Larkspur is apt to be on the way out or already gone when orange daylilies bloom. Before their season is over, vitex, that superb early summer shrub with long blue spikes of flowers is apt to come into flower. Vitex bushes get to be very large in a few seasons, so one must provide plenty of room for them. But this combination of orange daylilies and vitex belongs way out at the edge of your property, anyway, and would never do for a small garden unless you cut the vitex back every year to keep it small.

The orange and blue combination will bloom along together for some two to three weeks before the daylilies top, but the vitex will go on for a week or so more. Where they are cut back yearly like butterfly bushes, they will bloom still longer.

The older varieties of tall bearded irises make splendid masses in gardens and should not be thrown away in favor of the large, floppy flowered new ones we are getting these days. Your columnist considers anybody lucky who still has Gold Imperial, Cecile Minturn, Princess Viktoria Louise, Princess Beatrice, Albert Victor and, especially Blue Jay because you can scarcely find these in catalogues any more. They will out-bloom the larger newer ones and will stand up in the garden under pelting rains or send out innumerable new flowers from their abundance of buds over a period of sometimes as long as four weeks! When they are properly managed, these old small flowered irises can provide a fine display in great masses or in large groups amongst other plants.

In front of shrubs, they show off especially well. If you do not like to look at their foliage when they are out of bloom, then locate masses of them off somewhere in the distance but where they can be seen from the garden through an opening or down a garden walk or vista with a good background of shrubs.

The same treatment can be given to shasta daisies, fall asters and surplus chrysanthemums. In fact, you will get so interested in creating pictures outside the garden where you have room for larger masses that you will be apt to neglect the garden itself if you are not careful.

After you learn how to manage this mass business, you will find yourself introducing it into the small flower garden even and improving your garden pictures. You will be more and more demanding of plants in the garden. How tough are they? How long do they bloom? How good a color mass do they provide? How well do the flowers stand up to sunshine — to rain—even to hail storms? These are the questions which mature gardeners are always putting to new flowers.

The best places to study the use of massed perennials with shrubs are the large public gardens and the gardens of old estates where seasoned gardeners have had to work out the many problems we are talking about here. Visit the oldest gardens you know which are being kept going by your oldest and most progressive gardening friends and see how they keep the show going without having to resort to the tricks we sometimes hear about of ordering two thousand blooming plants just before the garden tour is about to open.

Miss Lawrence's book which we mention so frequently in the column is a good one to use to begin with. It has blooming dates for her locality in tables in the back and the different chapters will give you information on what plants may be successfully planted together for good color schemes The book is A Southern Garden by Elizabeth Lawrence, for sale by The University of North Carolina Press, Chapel Hill, N. C. There is a new book by Norman Taylor, Color in the Garden, published by D. Van Nostrand Company which is useful to gardeners who are working on this problem. This is a book which tries to teach ond how to manage color in a landscape. Ask your book store for these two books.

The Home Shift With Mildred Swift

Next to Christmas, Easter is probably the year's biggest and most widely-celebrated holiday in the western world. And, like Christmas it's a time when all of us are a little more aware of the Christmas ideals than we might be on other days. I hope you're having a happy day with your family at church and at home.

Your Easter Afternoon Drive

Drive by 1007 Trenton, West Monroe and see an almost over night transformation, the hand work of Mrs. W. N. Reynolds. You will believe in the Fairy Godmother who waves her wand and—presto—everything is changed. Note in the picture the house is gray with white shutters. The pink and white azaleas just seem to have been blooming there for years. Mrs. Reynolds is a careful planter — therefore she gets perfect results.

At 2616 South Grand, Monroe (the Fensky Terzia garden) there's a fringe tree (grancy graybeard) and a pink dogwood blooming side by side. My! It's a pretty sight. Ironical too that the fringe tree is one of our commonest native plants, easy to transplant while the pink dogwood is a graft and one of our hardest trees to grow.

The Bernard Marcus home, 1404 Emerson, Monroe, has been lovely. The azaleas blooms are gone but as Virginia Hargrove expressed it, "It's a house whose planting is perfectly balanced. There's never a time that it isn't beautiful."

Note the pyrocanthas on Jackson Street across from the Barksdale Faulk School, also those along the sea wall on South Grand. We buy this shrub for the berries but I do believe the flowers are prettier than the berries. This is a fast growing shrub that makes a beautiful screen planting. They're cheap, too. You can buy the fifty cent bucket plants. We're indebted to the city of Monroe and Mr. Joe Ellis for the beauty on these streets. Mr. Joe knows his shrubs. I don't know where he learned how to handle women so well, but he really cooperates with all of us and listens to a lot of our "yapping."

The John B. Oaklands built the most attractive fence around their back yard. If you're interested in fences be sure to go by there. It's a lovely background for flowering shrubs and trees and an excellent screening.

Be sure to drive by Mrs. Johnnie S. Elbert's, 106 Roselawn and see her tulips in bloom. This bulb is expensive because, for good results you have to buy fresh bulbs every year. However — when you see a picture such as Miss Johnnie's, you'll decide they're worth the expense.

Dates n' Doins

If you live in the Twin Cities and you're interested in making kid, doeskin, cape skin, suede, lambskin or pigskin gloves, come to the Agricultural Building either of these days, Tuesday, April 7 or Thursday, April 9 at 9:30. Just bring the children along, as you'll only be here about 30 minutes. You'll cut your pattern and order your material. It takes about 30 days for the order to be filled. Bring a pencil, your scissors and your pocket book. Average cost of a pair of gloves is two dollars.

Mr. Joyce and specialist will give a demonstration on grafting at the Stubbs farm, Highway 80, Wednesday, April 8 at 2:00 p.m. The same demonstration will be repeated at the Agriculture Building Wednesday night at 7:30.

Will Give Time

It's unusual to have somebody call and offer their time to help somebody else. That's just what Mrs. Hollingsworth, 314 North 5th Street, Monroe, has done. She will show you how to cut up and remodel your fur coat and how to make ribbon hats. Mrs. Hollingsworth is a shut-in due to ill health, is a former milliner and professional dress maker. Her instruction will be valuable and you can depend on it.

Garden Ramblins'

You can get rid of that sticky burr grass that has taken over your yard and has made the children so unhappy. So many of you have called in for a spray to use. My! Oh my! I'm almost afraid to tell you this. I know "us" women when it comes to fertilizers and sprays. We have a heavy hand. Let me remind you, first, of the man who thought if he tripled the amount of a certain prescribed medicine he'd get well quicker. Well — he's not here any more. Neither will your shrubs be here any more unless you follow instructions. There's absolutely no danger if you'll do the job right. You'll use 2-4-D bought under a commercial name. Mix it in exact proportions stated on the package. Apply when the air is still. Don't use a spray as this scatters the poison. Use a sprinkling can. If you don't have one get a large bucket and put a few small holes in the bottom and sprinkle the bur grass. Wait two weeks — you may have to repeat the application. Mr. Joyce and L. S. U. specialist have used this poison and found that it will not kill your grass. Use the same mixture for grass that grows between brick in your walks and patios.

Send Your Recipes

Girls, you have only this week to send in your favorite recipes for the News-Star—World recipe section. This is a good opportunity for you to exchange your cooking knowledge with your neighbors. Also, you stand a good chance of winning valuable prizes.

Its sine off time. See you next Sunday in this same column.

Mildred Swift.

GARDEN NEEDS

Divide your violets and reset them. Remember they like a cool place and plenty of humus. A good all purpose rose dust will get the chewing and sucking insects. Dust now.

Leave the tops on your bulbs until they're completely dead. These tops manufacture food for next year's blooms. Don't worry about the yellow leaves on your American Holly. They'll all drop as the new ones put out. Prune spring flowering shrubs as they cease blooming. If you haven't fertilized camellias and azaleas do so at once using 5-10-5, one handful for each foot of growth.

When putting out bedding plants such as sweet alyssum, petunias etc., if you'll give them a drink of food, they'll get off to a good start. This drink is made by dissolving 1 tablespoon of 5-10-5 in 2 quarts of water and pouring about a half cupful around each plant.

Flowers to plant this month: Ageratum, sweet alyssum, Balsam, gaillardia, verbena, calliopsis, Chinese forget-me-not, Clarkia, late cosmos, Klondike cosmos, portulaca, love-in-a - mist, candy tuft, African marigold, early cosmos, French marigold, nasturtium, periwinkle, feverfew, Torenia, zinnia, moon flower.

Large Collection Of Iris Blooming In Gates' Garden

Native Louisiana Hybrids, Spuria Iris And Named Daylilies Shown By Mrs. W. R. Gates

One of the largest collections of tall bearded iris in Louisiana, now in bloom, can be seen in the gardens of Mrs. W. R. Gates at 404 Linderman in West Monroe. This garden contains a large group of native Louisiana hybrids, as well as several varieties of Spuria irises and over one hundred varieties of named day-lilies.

A crescent shape bed, which contains the American Iris Society's chosen hundred best iris, is the pride of the Gates' garden. Among the iris contained in this bed is Mrs. Gates' gorgeous pink irises which are, Cherie, Pink Cameo, Fantasy and Peach Meringue. New red irises planted in the garden are Technicolor, Black Belle, Venetian Red, Red Majesty, Sunset Blaze, Orielo, Juliet, Mary Vernon and Display.

New among the collection of iris in the Gates' garden are the new world famous New Zealand Iris, Summit, a deep yellow and snow white, and the Mystic Melody, a deep yellow and cream. Also included in the new plants is the Elmohr, a giant mulberry - violet, the largest of all irises.

Other iris to be seen in this lovely flower garden will be "Blue Rhythm" which won the president's cup and the Dykes medal in 1950, and "New Snow" and "Lady Boscawen" two gorgeous new white irises.

"Pink Cameo," "Confetti" and "Chivalry" are also blooming, as well as a large bed of tall Louisiana hybrids which include "Bayou Sunset," "Hallie Selassie," and "Cajun."

The Home Shift With Mildred Swift

Next to Christmas, Easter is probably the year's biggest and most widely celebrated holiday in the western world. And, like Christmas it's a time when all of us are a little more aware of the Christmas ideals than we might be on other days. I hope you're having a happy day with your family at church and at home.

Your Easter Afternoon Drive

Drive by 1007 Trenton, West Monroe and see an almost over night transformation, the hand work of Mrs. W. N. Reynolds. You will believe in the Fairy Godmother who waves her wand and—presto—everything is changed. Note in the picture the house is gray with white shutters. The pink and white azaleas just seem to have been blooming there for years. Mrs. Reynolds is a careful planter — therefore she gets perfect results.

At 2616 South Grand, Monroe (the Fensky Terzia garden) there's a fringe tree (grancy graybeard) and a pink dogwood blooming side by side. My! It's a pretty sight. Ironical too that the fringe tree is one of our commonest native plants, easy to transplant while the pink dogwood is a graft and one of our hardest trees to grow.

The Bernard Marcus home, 1404 Emerson, Monroe, has been lovely. The azaleas blooms are gone but as Virginia Hargrove expressed it, "It's a house whose planting is perfectly balanced. There's never a time that it isn't beautiful."

Note the pyrocanthas on Jackson Street across from the Barksdale Faulk School, also those along the sea wall on South Grand. We buy this shrub for the berries but I do believe the flowers are prettier than the berries. This is a fast growing shrub that makes a beautiful screen planting. They're cheap, too. You can buy the fifty cent bucket plants. We're indebted to the city of Monroe and Mr. Joe Ellis for the beauty on these streets. Mr. Joe knows his shrubs. I don't know where he learned how to handle women so well, but he really cooperates with all of us and listens to a lot of our "yapping."

The John B. Oaklands built the most attractive fence around their back yard. If you're interested in fences be sure to go by there. It's a lovely background for flowering shrubs and trees and an excellent screening.

Be sure to drive by Mrs. Johnnie S. Elbert's, 106 Roselawn and see her tulips in bloom. This bulb is expensive because, for good results you have to buy fresh bulbs every year. However — when you see a picture such as Miss Johnnie's, you'll decide they're worth the expense.

Dates n' Doins

If you live in the Twin Cities and you're interested in making kid, doeskin, cape skin, suede, lambskin or pigskin gloves, come to the Agricultural Building either of these days, Tuesday, April 7 or Thursday, April 9 at 9:30. Just bring the children along, as you'll only be here about 30 minutes. You'll cut your pattern and order your material. It takes about 30 days for the order to be filled. Bring a pencil, your scissors and your pocket book. Average cost of a pair of gloves is two dollars.

Mr. Joyce and specialist will give a demonstration on grafting at the Stubbs farm, Highway 80, Wednesday, April 8 at 2:00 p.m. The same demonstration will be repeated at the Agriculture Building Wednesday night at 7:30.

Will Give Time

It's unusual to have somebody call and offer their time to help somebody else. That's just what Mrs. Hollingsworth, 314 North 5th Street, Monroe, has done. She will show you how to cut up and remodel your fur coat and how to make ribbon hats. Mrs. Hollingsworth is a shut-in due to ill health, is a former milliner and professional dress maker. Her instruction will be valuable and you can depend on it.

Garden Ramblins'

You can get rid of that sticky burr grass that has taken over your yard and has made the children so unhappy. So many of you have called in for a spray to use. My! Oh my! I'm almost afraid to tell you this. I know "us" women when it comes to fertilizers and sprays. We have a heavy hand. Let me remind you, first, of the man who thought if he tripled the amount of a certain prescribed medicine he'd get well quicker. Well — he's not here any more. Neither will your shrubs be here any more unless you follow instructions. There's absolutely no danger if you'll do the job right. You'll use 2-4-D bought under a commercial name. Mix it in exact proportions stated on the package. Apply when the air is still. Don't use a spray as this scatters the poison. Use a sprinkling can. If you don't have one get a large bucket and put a few small holes in the bottom and sprinkle the bur grass. Wait two weeks — you may have to repeat the application. Mr. Joyce and L. S. U. specialist have used this poison and found that it will not kill your grass. Use the same mixture for grass that grows between brick in your walks and patios.

Send Your Recipes

Girls, you have only this week to send in your favorite recipes for the News-Star—World recipe section. This is a good opportunity for you to exchange your cooking knowledge with your neighbors. Also, you stand a good chance of winning valuable prizes.

Its sine off time. See you next Sunday in this same column.

Mildred Swift.

GARDEN NEEDS

Divide your violets and reset them. Remember they like a cool place and plenty of humus. A good all purpose rose dust will get the chewing and sucking insects. Dust now.

Leave the tops on your bulbs until they're completely dead. These tops manufacture food for next year's blooms. Don't worry about the yellow leaves on your American Holly. They'll all drop as the new ones put out. Prune spring flowering shrubs as they cease blooming. If you haven't fertilized camellias and azaleas do so at once using 5-10-5, one handful for each foot of growth.

When putting out bedding plants such as sweet alyssum, petunias etc., if you'll give them a drink of food, they'll get off to a good start. This drink is made by dissolving 1 tablespoon of 5-10-5 in 2 quarts of water and pouring about a half cupful around each plant.

Flowers to plant this month: Ageratum, sweet alyssum, Balsam, gaillardia, verbena, calliopsis, Chinese forget-me-not, Clarkia, late cosmos, Klondike cosmos, portulaca, love-in-a - mist, candy tuft, African marigold, early cosmos, French marigold, nasturtium, periwinkle, feverfew, Torenia, zinnia, moon flower.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

"Out of the Frying Pan," Little Theatre's fifth and final production of the '52-'53 season and possibly the last in the present Playhouse, has been modestly dubbed a comedy in three acts. It was first produced with notable success at the Windsor Theatre in New York City by William Deering and Alexander Kirkland. Since its first copyright in 1940, it has been consistantly on the list of consideration by theatre groups.

It has a broad and whacky comedy that takes naturally to the stage and its story revolves around some would-be stage people who find themselves in what could most politely be called an unusual situation in their endeavor to hit the big-time.

A delineation of the 12 characters to be cast this Tuesday and Wednesday evening when Director Stocker Fontelieu holds try-outs, goes something like this. . . Needed one young man about 23. A large, lazy and completely good-natured young man. His voice is slow, and he has a dry, flat way of saying things. Then there is another very capable young man of only 22, who mother-hens the rest. The handsomest of the trio is 24, tall, deeply sincere and inclined to be discouraged at moments. Kate is the cynic of the crowd, probably has been trying to get a "break" longer than most, tall, dark and 21. Another feminine aspirant is young, dark and attractive, also about 21, and then there is the petite blonde, young, attractive, always a liggle vague and you could call the cheerful "Dumb Dora" type. There is also a bewildered and uncomplaining landlady who is also a bit stage struck; a girl friend from Boston who is petulant, suspicious and woe-begone; others rounding out the cast of 12 include a middle aged man who is dignified, fastidious, and borders on sphinks-like expression and along with him another of his age group who is a snobbish Bostonian turned politician. Two cops add their bit to the comedy "Out of the Frying Pan," one is the intellectual type of policeman, the other is the dumb but honest type.

The New York World-Telegram called "Out of the Frying Pan," ". . . a gay bit of nonsense that makes an agreeable evening in the theatre." So, who am I to argue with them after reading the delightful script. All Little Theatre needs is the actors to fill the bill. . . . And casting, dear readers will be held Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, April 7 and 8, at the Little Theatre Playhouse, Selman Field, 8 p.m. sharp.

Random Notes . . . Ann Hinton, who served with the backstage crew of "Bell, Book and Candle" and was originally cast to appear in "The Man" for Monroe Little Theatre has won a scholarship to Tulane University where she will study advance work in social welfare. . . . Attractive Betty Stewart, invested with much theatre glory for her feminine lead in "Bell, Book and Candle," has moved back to New Orleans. We understand from intimates that there will be wedding bells soon, and the groom to-be saw her for the first time in Little Theatre's arena staging for "Bell, Book and Candle."

Just about everybody is talking about TV these days, just consider the statement by Lealis Hale, husband of one of Little Theatre's hard working board members, "There are more TV sets in Chicago than the city has bath tubs." Knowing Lealis, he probably has his statement button-holed to facts. However, we can't refrain from telling this on Dr. Klam, we understand his new TV set works just fine if you'd only arrive just twenty minutes earlier.

Boy, the picture was coming in just fine, just before you arrived. . . .Some of the fellows down town now have TV sets to show off and you guessed it, their story is the same, "Gosh! You should have been here just a little earlier, the picture was coming in fine then." . . . From what I've heard these last few days, a lot of Monroyans are anticipating some tele-vised theatre Monroe. To say the least it is a hob subject and one to look forward to.

The Jaycee Jaynes will hold talent party called the Jaycee Jaynes Jamboree at the American Legion Home on the night of April 11. They will be casting about for their "Torrid '20's" show which will be staged cabaret style atop the Frances Hotel on April 24 and 25.

Little Theatre Monroe is already plotting a visit to the newly organized Ruston Little Theatre's showing of "Bell, Book and Candle," which is scheduled for an April engagement on the 16-18. This will be their second production.

Red Cross Offers Repatriation Aid For War Prisoners

The American National Red Cross has offered its full resources of personnel and supplies to assist in repatriation of sick and wounded prisoners of war in Korea when the exchange of prisoners proposed March 27 by the Communists is effected.

James T. Nicholson, Red Cross executive vice president, cabled H. L. Janeway, American Red Cross Far East director in Tokyo, to assist Gen. Mark W. Clark in any manner whatsoever consistent with the traditional role of the Red Cross.

The Red Cross has maintained large supplies of prisoner-of-war food parcels, clothing, medicines, and other comfort articles in Korea for immediate distribution to released prisoners. The first of these supplies were shipped to the Far East as early as 1950.

Exactly a year ago today, on March 28, 1952, the Red Cross completed training of a special team of workers to assist in repatriation of prisoners of war. Some American Red Cross members of this team are now stationed in Japan and Korea. Others in the United States are prepared to leave for Korea immediately.

Under the plan formulated last year and accepted by both UN and Communist negotiators, the team was to consist of representatives of Red Cross societies of both United Nations command and Communist countries involved in the war in Korea.

On December 13, 1952, the executive committee of the League of Red Cross Societies at Geneva adopted a resolution calling on both sides in the Korean War to take immediate action to accomplish the humanitarian provisions of the Geneva Convention by repatriating sick and wounded prisoners of war in accordance with appropriate articles of the convention.

Citing this resolution, Gen. Clark proposed an exchange of sick and wounded prisoners in a letter on February 22, 1953, to the commanders of the North Korean and Chinese Communist armies.

Here's a good idea for small-fry luncheon fare: Turn creamed meat or fish into a small casserole and top with a diced cooked vegetable, then a one-inch layer of mashed potatoes. Bake in a hot oven until heated through and potatoes are flecked golden-brown.

HERE'S HULITAR'S PATTERN FOR THE "BODY BEAUTIFUL"

PATTERN M221

by Philip Hulitar

Never, but never does Hulitar design "background" dresses. You couldn't possibly stay in the background in Pattern M221. Simple though it is, every line is molded to do the most for your figure. That's the Hulitar genius — the great flair for allure and excitement of this fabulously successful American designer. With a carefree hand, he draws a dashing, high-flying collar on a slender sheath buttoned to the waist. He subtly elongates the waistline by setting a pocket low on your hip, and curving it 'round to the back. The total effect? If you're short, you look taller in this dramatic line. If you'd like to take inches off, the beautifully balanced skirt does the trick. Choose a gleaming shantung, crisp faille, or fine linen for this, sew every stitch with loving care for it's an expensive, exclusive Hulitar Original.

Pattern M221 is available in Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 16 requires 3⅛ yards 39-inch fabric.

Send fifty cents (in coins) for Pattern M221 to Morning World, Pattern Department, P. O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N. Y. Please print plainly your name, address with zone, style number and size.

Fantastic Atomic Engine Tests Scheduled In N. Y.

(Editor's note: This is one of several stories by Elton C. Fay Associated Press military affairs reporter, on one o fthe first visits by a newsman to the cross-country chain of laboratories and plants building the atomic-powered submarine.)

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP) — Sometime during the next few months the midships section of a submarine containing a complete atomic propulsion system will slide into a fantastic steel sphere.

The great steel ball will house the "submarine intermediate reactor" during its test. There are other things about the project that are just as startling:

1. A metal becomes a free-flowing liquid.

2. A powerful pump has no moving parts.

3. Electronic watchdogs, alert for danger, are poised to shut off the atomic engine in a split-second if things go wrong.

Working at two sites near here are the Atomic Energy Commission the Navy, the General Electric Company, the Chicago Bridge and Iron Company, General Dynamics Corp., and other contracors and sub-contractors. They are assembling the nuclear engine and the elaborate test and safety system that goes with it.

It is the first full-scale, powerful atomic reactor to be built close to two cities and several large villages. This accounts for the steel sphere—250 feet in diameter—a device intended to confine any contaminated gases which might be generated in an accident.

The atomic reactor is one of two types which will serve as patterns for sea-going versions to be installed in two submarines.

It is called an "intermediate" reactor because ofthe intermediate speed of neutrons produced in its fission process—faster than the neutrons of a thermal reactor being built for the other submarine, slower than the ultra-fast neutrons released in certain laboratory experiments.

At least in theory the intermediate reactor here may have some advantages:

1. Higher energy neutrons are not as readily absorbed by conventional metals used in the structure of the reactor or steam generating unit.

2. The liquid metal and unique no-moving-parts pump may save space and weight.

Because the neutron energy of the intermediate reactor is reasonably high, more or less conventional metals can be used in the structure.

The reactor is being fabricated at the Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory, on the outskirts of this city.

Shipping With No Wastage Is Theme In April

The importance of prevention of the enormous needless waste caused by improper packing, marking, handling and stowing of shipments of freight, to the nation's economy and rearmament program, will be discussed in the majority of villages, towns and cities of the nation during the month of April.

The National Association of shippers Advisory boards, through the thirteen regional boards, having an industrial membership in excess of 25,000, will conduct an enthusiastic and determined campaign to reduce to a minimum the great and needless waste amounting to millions of dollars.

The campaign will be conducted by the board's national management committee, with H. E. Chapman, traffic manager of S. H. Kresge Company of Detroit, Mich. as the chairman. Louis A. Schwartz, general manager, New Orleans traffic and transportation bureau, New Orleans, is district manager, with jurisdiction over the southwest, southeast and trans-Missouri - Kansas boards. Richard A. Hollen, traffic manager, Brown Container Co., Inc., and Brown Paper Industries, Inc., is chairman of the local committee and is soliciting the support of industries, transportation companies and individuals, in making April and the succeeding months, free of needless waste from loss and damage to commodites in transit.

He states, the concept of good shipping points sharply to the necessity for attention to it on the part of all business men and the general public which suffers under the multi-million dollar destruction of the products of industry and which, in the end, pays the loss and damage bill, a strain on the economy of the country.

Mr. Hollen further states that meeting places and dates will be announced later and that all industries, transportation companies and the public, are invited to have representatives present to discuss freely the many problems of shipping, and to contribute their knowledge of ways and means of correcting a bad situation. He states the loss and damage bill of the railroads alone was approximately $107,000,000 during 1952, none of which can be recovered. "It is too late now to worry over the 1952 loss, however, it should stand out prominently in our minds to remind each of us to do something about the 1953 loss and damage bill."

Work Refusal Halts Loading Of Ammo Ship

LEONARDO, N. J., April 3 (AP)—Loading of two ships with ammunition for Europe was stopped at the Earle Naval Ammunition Depot today when stevedores of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL) refused to work.

The dockworkers said they were protesting the Navy's use of "short gangs" — loading crews of 17 men instead of the normal 23. A Navy spokesman said the reduced gangs had been instituted this week as an experimental economy move. He said the stevedores had first agreed to work in short gangs then had quit work Thursday, returned Thursday afternoon, and again refused to work today.

Joseph L. Ryan, president of the ILA, said the union at first went along with the experiment "just to be sociable.." He said that representatives of Local 1588 in Bayonne should have consulted Local 1247's business agent, Anthony "Tony Cheese" Marchitto.

Ryan said both locals were now agreed that the "short gang" work should stop. He predicted "the whole thing will be cleaned up by tomorrow morning."

The Navy said loading on two ships, the Laredo Victory and the Simmons Victory, was two days behind now.

A Navy spokesman said the loading of the two ships required gangs of only 17 men and that a full crew would leave five or six men doing nothing. He said the Navy's contract with the John W. McGrath Corp. of New York set a pay scale of $50 a day for loaders working on explosives.

He said the Navy, in the interests of economy, had at first planned an experiment to load the two ships with its own civil service employes but had asked the ILA if it wanted to provide the short gangs. The spokesman said the ILA at first was not interested, but this week agreed to provide the loaders.

Richard A. Hollen, traffic manager, Brown Container Co., Inc., and Brown Paper Industries, Inc., is chairman of the local committee and is soliciting the support of industries, transportation companies and individuals, in making April and the succeeding months, free of needless waste from loss and damage to commodites in transit.

He states, the concept of good shipping points sharply to the necessity for attention to it on the part of all business men and the general public which suffers under the multi-million dollar destruction of the products of industry and which, in the end, pays the loss and damage bill, a strain on the economy of the country.

Mr. Hollen further states that meeting places and dates will be announced later and that all industries, transportation companies and the public, are invited to have representatives present to discuss freely the many problems of shipping, and to contribute their knowledge of ways and means of correcting a bad situation. He states the loss and damage bill of the railroads alone was approximately $107,000,000 during 1952, none of which can be recovered. "It is too late now to worry over the 1952 loss, however, it should stand out prominently in our minds to remind each of us to do something about the 1953 loss and damage bill."

Work Refusal Halts Loading Of Ammo Ship

LEONARDO, N. J., April 3 (AP)— Loading of two ships with ammunition for Europe was stopped at the Earle Naval Ammunition Depot today when stevedores of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL) refused to work.

The dockworkers said they were protesting the Navy's use of "short gangs" — loading crews of 17 men instead of the normal 23. A Navy spokesman said the reduced gangs had been instituted this week as an experimental economy move. He said the stevedores had first agreed to work in short gangs then had quit work Thursday, returned Thursday afternoon, and again refused to work today.

Joseph L. Ryan, president of the ILA, said the union at first went along with the experiment "just to be sociable.." He said that representatives of Local 1588 in Bayonne should have consulted Local 1247's business agent, Anthony "Tony Cheese" Marchitto.

Ryan said both locals were now agreed that the "short gang" work should stop. He predicted "the whole thing will be cleaned up by tomorrow morning."

The Navy said loading on two ships, the Laredo Victory and the Simmons Victory, was two days behind now.

A Navy spokesman said the loading of the two ships required gangs of only 17 men and that a full crew would leave five or six men doing nothing. He said the Navy's contract with the John W. McGrath Corp. of New York set a pay scale of $50 a day for loaders working on explosives.

He said the Navy, in the interests of economy, had at first planned an experiment to load the two ships with its own civil service employes but had asked the ILA if it wanted to provide the short gangs. The spokesman said the ILA at first was not interested, but this week agreed to provide the loaders.

BURCH TRUE BLUE
TRU-DROP POWER LIFT
TWO-ROW PLANTER
* Edge drop planting — proved best in the field.
* Each planter unit floats independently—plants same depth in high and low spots.
* Positive separate chain drive mounted outside each planter unit—easy to get at.
* Exclusive BURCH Automatic Disc Markers lifted by "lifetime" steel cables—saves time lost on turns.
* "Clear-Vue" Seed Gauge shows you at all times amount of seed in each hopper—how each unit is planting.
* Fertilizer can be applied 3 ways—below seed, direct or side dressed.
* BUSHEL-SIZE seed hoppers and 100-lb. capacity fertilizer hoppers tilt easily for quick cleaning.
* Rows readily adjusted from 32 to 42 inches.
* Extra-heavy steel frame—rugged and highly shock-resistant.
* Gears stay in proper mesh at all times.
* Famous BURCH "Hi-Speed" White Iron Bearings—lighten draft and last indefinitely.

BURCH TRUE BLUE
TRU-DROP POWER LIFT
TWO-ROW PLANTER

- Edge drop planting — proved best in the field.
- Each planter unit floats independently—plants same depth in high and low spots.
- Positive separate chain drive mounted outside each planter unit—easy to get at.
- Exclusive BURCH Automatic Disc Markers lifted by "lifetime" steel cables—saves time lost on turns.
- "Clear-Vue" Seed Gauge shows you at all times amount of seed in each hopper—how each unit is planting.
- Fertilizer can be applied 3 ways—below seed, direct or side dressed.
- BUSHEL-SIZE seed hoppers and 100-lb. capacity fertilizer hoppers tilt easily for quick cleaning.
- Rows readily adjusted from 32 to 42 inches.
- Extra-heavy steel frame—rugged and highly shock-resistant.
- Gears stay in proper mesh at all times.
- Famous BURCH "Hi-Speed" White Iron Bearings—lighten draft and last indefinitely.

OWNERSHIP—SECURITY

IT'S
BRICK veneer — It's built on a lifetime concrete slab foundation with hardwood floors — It has a beautiful paneled kitchen complete with dishwasher and disposal — It's on the northside. Three bedrooms — two baths and priced at only $17,550.

JUST
PICTURE yourself living in one of the choicest locations on the northside (at the end of 2nd st. on Rochelle) surrounded by fine neighbors — with this large 7 room house to call your own. Has living room, dining room, breakfast room and kitchen with three bedrooms and double garage. All this for $9500.

A
FRIEND of ours was transferred, so his home was left without anyone to take care of it. It needs a nice family that has a good sense of responsibility to move into it and keep it as clean and neat as the people who built it. It's just two years old. . .Has large living room, dining room and kitchen with two bedrooms and office — attached garage on a terrific lot 105x180 with all kinds of shrubs and flowers. You can take advantage of their transfer, and move in for $14,000.

HOUSE
VACANT — waiting to become a home for some fine family who will appreciate its fine attributes. Brand new — In Marie Place — Has living room, dining room, wonderful kitchen, two large bedrooms with lots of closet space, central heat, hardwood floors, and carport with large storage space. Total price $13,750 —with a down payment of $2750.

TIL
YOU see what's happening to Essex Street in Marie Place, you won't believe it. It's going to be paved, sewerage and water being installed and all paid for. Then it's going to be lined with all brick homes. There's one available now. A three bedroom - two all tile baths - living room with dining area and thoughtfully arranged kitchen with carport and storage. It's going to be sold to someone for only $14,500 with the low down payment of $2900.

YOU
MAY be of the school who likes the older home. If so, check this carefully. At 2510 Hawthorne Street, just off Park Avenue is a 6 room home with living room, dining room, kitchen, breakfast room and 2 good - sized bedrooms. Has fireplace, awnings, curtains, drapes and Venetian blinds, hardwood floors and attic fan, with two car garage. Can buy for $12,075, with FHA financing available.

GET
THE car out and get ready to drive out to 421 Howard Street, just off Loop Road, to see this honey of a home. Has three large bedrooms, living room, dining room and kitchen with a closed back porch, and a screened porch all the way across front. Beautiful lot with large shade trees 75x150. Priced to move quickly — $9500.

THE
MO. payments are $45 — (the down payment $1928 — the loan is a 25-year-GI at 4 per cent interest. The home is a three bedroom home with living room, kitchen with dinette. Home is three years old and in excellent condition. Located at 313 Georgia Street on southside. Total price is $8938.

DEED
TO this duplex will give you the opportunity to let the rent from one side make the payments for yours. Each side has four rooms, two bedrooms. Has hardwood floors, Venetian blinds, wall heaters in each room, new hot water heaters, and a double garage. Has been completely renovated inside and out. Priced for only $9825. Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

It's here again, right along with budding trees and flowers and chirping birds — Nine Day Reducing Diet Time!

There is something about spring, when nature is redecorating herself, which makes us want to look lovelier and we CAN do it, in just nine short days!

Each year about this time I bring you my Nine Day Reducing Diet which will give you a loss of from 5 to 10 pounds in that length of time. For tens of thousands of Why Grow Old? readers this has become a yearly institution. This year it will be in special demand, because there is no denying it, current fashions are skimpier and silhouettes will have to be slimmer.

This is a high protein — vitamin rich diet and carries the approval of a distinguished physician. Your health will improve along with your figure. As a matter of fact, many women are more scientifically nourished when on this diet than when indulging in the one they are accustomed to.

Whether you have a lot of weight to lose or only a few pounds, my Nine Day Diet will give you a flying start. Psychologists tell us the way to get a long hard job done without fatigue or frustration is to divide it into small parts and forget the rest while you concentrate on the section you are working on.

A short effective diet employs this psychology. Any woman can stick to a diet for nine days, whereas it is discouraging to start out on a long term program, not knowing what you can accomplish in what length of time. While you are reconditioning for spring and summer you would be wise to select two or three exercises for any out-of-proportion figure measurement.

If you would like to have my Nine Day Reducing Diet Booklet to keep in your pocketbook or in the kitchen drawer send 10 cents and a self-addressed stamped, envelope with your request. This booklet has substitute lists of foods and a height and weight chart. Address Josephine Lowman in care of Morning World.

Tomorrow: "Want to Take Off Pounds? Start Nine-Day Diet Today."

Christian Science To Be Discussed

John S. Sammons of Chicago will deliver a public lecture on Christian Science in the church edifice of First Church of Christ, Scientist, 224 Auburn Ave., Monroe, next Tuesday, April 7 at 8:00 p.m.

Open to the public without charge, the lecture will be sponsored by members of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Monroe. Mr. Sammons will speak on the subject, "Christian Science: The Science That Meets the Human Need." He is a member of the Christian Science board of lectureship.

Formerly vice-president and general manager of an engineering manufacturing firm, Mr. Sammons resigned from this work in 1931 to devote his time exclusively to the public practice of Christian Science healing. He began his study of Christian Science in 1911.

During World War II, Mr. Sammons served as a Christian Science wartime minister at military posts in Wyoming and California. He served in the air corps during World War I.

Bonita Pastor Will Conduct Youth Revival

Rev. Walter A. Bennett, Jr., pastor of the First Baptist Church of Bonita, La. and a senior this year attending Ouachita Parish High School, will be the evangelist in a revival that begins Sunday at Edgewood Baptist Church.

Rev. Bennett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bennett, 703 Drago, West Monroe.

The youth of the church will take an active part in the revival this week. Services are to be at 7:30 each evening continuing through next Sunday.

A campaign will be conducted throughout the week to get prospects to sign real size paste board bananas in saying that they will be "One of the bunch" next Sunday, the final Sunday of the revival, in Sunday School. Music for the revival will be under the direction of B. C. Harper, church music director. Special music will be offered each night of the revival.

When sandpapering surfaces, use a block of wood wrapped in sandpaper to make work easier for hands and wrists. Hold steel wool in rubber gloves or crushed paper.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

It's here again, right along with budding trees and flowers and chirping birds — Nine Day Reducing Diet Time!

There is something about spring, when nature is redecorating herself, which makes us want to look lovelier and we CAN do it, in just nine short days!

Each year about this time I bring you my Nine Day Reducing Diet which will give you a loss of from 5 to 10 pounds in that length of time. For tens of thousands of Why Grow Old? readers this has become a yearly institution. This year it will be in special demand, because there is no denying it, current fashions are skimpier and silhouettes will have to be slimmer.

This is a high protein — vitamin rich diet and carries the approval of a distinguished physician. Your health will improve along with your figure. As a matter of fact, many women are more scientifically nourished when on this diet than when indulging in the one they are accustomed to.

Whether you have a lot of weight to lose or only a few pounds, my Nine Day Diet will give you a flying start. Psychologists tell us the way to get a long hard job done without fatigue or frustration is to divide it into small parts and forget the rest while you concentrate on the section you are working on.

A short effective diet employs this psychology. Any woman can stick to a diet for nine days, whereas it is discouraging to start out on a long term program, not knowing what you can accomplish in what length of time. While you are reconditioning for spring and summer you would be wise to select two or three exercises for any out-of-proportion figure measurement.

If you would like to have my Nine Day Reducing Diet Booklet to keep in your pocketbook or in the kitchen drawer send 10 cents and a self-addressed stamped, envelope with your request. This booklet has substitute lists of foods and a height and weight chart. Address Josephine Lowman in care of Morning World.

Tomorrow: "Want to Take Off Pounds? Start Nine-Day Diet Today."

Nothing whitens like Fab! You'll actually find that Fab washes most of your clothes whiter without a bleach—whiter than any soap, whiter than any washing product known with a bleach in the wash water.

If you add a bleach to Fab for your few stained, extra-soiled clothes, they'll come whiter, too — far whiter than with any other product and a bleach. For new Fab's exclusive whitening action is not affected by bleach.

What's more — Fab outcleans any soap! Washes out dirt; leaves no dulling soap scum. And Fab gives you the sweetest-smelling wash in the world!

SAVE WORK! SAVE HANDS!

Fab immediately loosens dirt and keeps it floating in the wash water. No soaking is needed! No dulling soap scum to rinse out — even in hardest water. And Fab is wonderfully mild to hands!

CUT DISHWASHING TIME IN HALF!

Fab soaks dishes, glasses, pots and pans shiny clean! If a bit of food clings, the dishcloth whisks it off. Just a quick rinse and dishes drain sparkling clean. No hard scouring, no wiping — with Fab!
